JAP EXCLUSION SET FOR JULY 1 BY CONFERENCE

Senate and House Agree on Compromise Date for Immigration Bill to Become Effective

DATE UNSATISFACTORY TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Coolidge and Hughes Desire Extension of Time to Negotiate With Japan

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The provisions of the immigration bill for Japanese exclusion was agreed upon by senate and house conferees tonight to be effective July 1, next, when other provisions of the bill become operative, and was met immediately with indications at the White House that the arrangement was unsatisfactory to President Coolidge.

In reaching this agreement, the conferees adopted the effective date stipulated in the bill as passed by the house and receded from the senate position calling for operation of the Asiatic exclusion section as soon as the bill became law. It was evident, however, that in deferring the date, they did not go as far as had been wished by the chief executive. Although just how long a delay had been desired by both the president and secretary of state in order that, through diplomatic exchanges, less offense might be given to Japan, has never been authoritatively disclosed.

Whether the arrangement as now agreed upon by the conferees would constitute sufficient cause for a veto of the immigration bill was not disclosed at the White House, but it was said that the president did not consider the two months remaining before July 1 at all sufficient time in which to negotiate with Japan.

The conferees at their meeting today disposed of all other disputed points so that the bill will be submitted tomorrow to the house and then to the senate. Whether the report of the conferees will be adopted in the face of indicated legislative disagreement was not apparent although prior to the White House position became known a favorable vote was regarded as certain.

In completing their agreement, the conferees decided upon the senate-quota basis of 2 per cent of the census of 1890 until July 1, 1927, when the so-called "national origin method" will be employed, the total admittance, however, being restricted to 150,000 annually from that date.

Provisions of the house bill relating to "non-quota" immigrants were adopted substantially without change. Under them, wives, unmarried children under 18 years of American citizens, professors and ministers, students in accredited schools and returning aliens would be considered outside the quota if they obtained certificates. During debate in the senate it was charged that these exceptions would have the effect of doubling the total annual immigration estimated at about 160,000 under the bill.

Persons born in independent countries of the western hemisphere including Canada would be admissible also upon presentation of certificate without reference to any quota.

USE OF WHIP OUT OF DATE SAYS EXPERT

"Educated" Parents Should Use Other Methods Thinks Educational Director

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 6.—Modern parenthood has no place for that once popular standby—"spare the rod and spoil the child"—members of the congress of mothers and parent-teacher associations were told here tonight. Miss Alma L. Binsel, educational director of the federation for child study, New York City, gave this information in her talk on "education for parenthood" at the association's annual convention.

"Whipping," she said, "is not tolerated in any school system that is up to date, yet it is still in use in many homes otherwise strictly modern. Teachers have been required to learn other means of leading children towards more desirable conduct."

CULINARY UNION INSTALLED HERE

All Eating Places in Salem Except One Represented in Membership

The Salem local of the newly organized culinary workers' union was installed last night. The union embraces waiters, dish washers, cooks and cooks' helpers. It is reported that representation was present from every eating place in Salem with one exception, and 61 members are enrolled in the union. W. E. Mayson of Portland, secretary of local No. 310, officiated as head installing officer. F. W. Bond, international organizer with headquarters in Cincinnati, was present.

MRS. BISHOP TO BE DINNER GUEST

Candidate for Delegate to Republican Convention Will Be Feted

The republican women of Salem are sponsoring a dinner for Mrs. C. P. Bishop at the Marion hotel at 6 o'clock this evening. It should be a privilege for the republicans of the city to respond to this boost for Mrs. Bishop. She is a candidate for delegate at large to the republican national convention and her candidacy is to the interest of cleaner government. Her election will help raise the standard of politics.

MRS. FANNY K. BISHOP

Aside from this, Mrs. Bishop is a distinguished resident of Salem, a woman of outstanding character and ability, who will command respect for her party everywhere. The sale of tickets will be with a committee of women, but anyone who desires to make a reservation can do so by calling Mrs. Kells, 1169 J or Mrs. Gillette, 1571 J. The banquet will begin promptly at 6 o'clock and will be over in time for all who desire to attend the Demarest tabernacle meeting.

4000 LISTEN TO SERMON BY MRS. DEMAREST

Address at Tabernacle Last Night Especially Directed to Young People of Salem and Environs

SCORES RESPOND WHEN EXHORTATION IS MADE

Hundreds Decide for Christ at Conclusion of Meeting

Almost 4000 young people of Salem and vicinity heard "The Glory of Youth" at the tabernacle last night, when Mrs. Victoria Booth-Clibborn Demarest gave her sermon to young people.

The evening was opened with singing. How they can sing, those young people of Salem! Much of the regular choir, and the regular congregation, is made up of older people. They sing wonderfully, but they do not have the spirit of the younger voices. Last night made one think of the singing soldiers who marched with Sherman, with "John Brown's Body" and "The Girl I Left Behind Me" and "Star Spangled Banner" on their lips and victory in their hearts and freedom in their hands. Sherman's army was almost as young as the congregation that filled the tabernacle last night, and they must have sung with the same verve and dash and untired voice.

After the preliminary exercises, which included a song by Mrs. Demarest, "Keep Your Eyes on God," composed by her brother William, or Willie as the people of Salem have come to know him, and a repetition of the "Devil Song," which she gave at the high school last Friday, Mrs. Demarest set forth on her great address. She chose for text, Luke 7, 52: "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

"What a wonderful thing for the son of the living God, to stay there in the village where he was born, until he was 30 years of age, conscious of his mission and agonizing to be out and at his supreme work, but staying quietly there to make ox yokes, chairs, tables, beds, for the people around him, and supporting his mother and her children. But he was ever young; he never grew old. He left the earth in the prime of his strength and in the gladness of goodness and joy."

"It is not years, but sin, that brings the look and the fact of age," said the speaker. "Little children in sin come to have the hard, sophisticated look, the bitter eyes, the sensual atmosphere of wrongdoing. The ambition of youth is to acquire age, with its wisdom and its sophistication; Jesus Christ taught all men to prize most the spirit and the purity of youth."

Purity, sincerity, strength and joy were named as the best fruits of youth. The speaker told of her own family of 10 brothers and sisters, left at home while their mother went out on her evangelistic tours. On her return the children would have a perfect riot about who should see mother and get the first kiss. They would troop off down the street like 10 mad Indians to meet Mother. One day Willie lagged behind, and Victoria screamed at him to "hurry! Willy, hurry!" But Willie dragged his heels on the pavement and his chin dragged almost as low for he had disobeyed mother's commands, and he was ashamed to look her in the face. "The look of sin is the mark of wrong. When we lose the childish purity, it is something that never comes back."

"One may lose the purity of childhood and never get back, but there is a purity in forgiveness that may be as wonderful and as fine."

The speaker told of a group of soldiers back in the dark ages

MOVE TO FORCE SENATE ACTION ON WORLD COURT

Democrats Introduce Resolution "To Carry Out Recommendations of Hughes"

WASHINGTON, May 6.—A move to force at this session the issue of American participation in the world court was made today from the democratic side of the senate. Senator Swanson, Virginia, the ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee, introduced a resolution proposing that the senate advise and consent to such participation and announced he would exert himself to have the matter promptly acted upon both by the foreign relations committee and the senate.

The measure was offered after a general conference of democratic leaders, but it was stated by some of those attending that the subject had not been discussed at the meeting. Senator Swanson said he had introduced his resolution "to carry out the recommendations of President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes," and added that he had drawn it carefully so that those purposes would be accomplished.

TUESDAY IN WASHINGTON

The house patents committee heard more composers complain of radio broadcasting. Edward L. Doheny, Jr., was called before the federal jury investigating oil charges.

A house committee began investigating the bureau of engraving bond duplication charges.

Senate Republican leaders agreed to seek a compromise on the surtax rates in the revenue bill.

C. W. Middlekauff, assistant United States attorney at Chicago, testified before the Daugherty committee.

Speaker Gillett ruled the Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board must wait two weeks for action.

President Coolidge let it be known that he regards as very undesirable certain amendments made to the tax bill by the senate.

Charges of serious deterioration of the navy, it was said, at the White House are regarded as generally unfounded by President Coolidge.

Democratic leaders decided there was too much legislation undisposed of to determine whether they would agree to adjourn for the political conventions.

PALM BEACH TO ADORN VETERANS

Members of Legion Vote to Wear Stylish Suits to Rose Festival

Palm Beach suits will be worn by members of Capital Post No. 9 at the state convention in Portland during the Rose festival, June 11 to 14, provided at least 75 members of the organization will buy the suits, it was decided last night. Members of the drum and bugle corps will be equipped. Wholesale prices, at a low figure, were offered by Cooley & Huntington. The post will also purchase the official dark blue overseas cap, peculiar to the legion.

Delegates to the state convention will be nominated and elected at the next meeting of the post, on May 19.

An invitation from the GAR to attend church services in a body at the First Baptist church, 11 o'clock Sunday morning, May 25, was received. The annual visit to the schools by the GAR, on Wednesday, May 28, will also find Legionnaires present. Both invitations were accepted, and Brasler

BODY IDENTITY STILL REMAINS VERY DOUBTFUL

D'Autremont's Identification of Young Man As Son, Hugh, Called Into Question By Others

MYSTERY STILL HANGS OVER RIVER VICTIM

Search for Bodies of Twin Brothers, Indicted Train Bandits, in Progress

MEDFORD, Ore., May 6.—The mystery of the finding of the body of an unidentified young man in the Rogue river last Sunday was increased today when Paul D'Autremont of Eugene identified the body as that of his son, Hugh, who with his twin brothers, Ray and Roy, have been indicted for the robbery and blowing up of Southern Pacific train No. 13 in the Siskiyou mountain tunnel last October, when four of the train crew were killed.

J. Bousson of Medford also identified the body as that of a young man he had seen fishing near the Bybee bridge three weeks ago last Sunday.

J. W. Everest, a special agent of the Santa Fe railroad here on official business identified the body as that of a man known as McDowell, who had worked six weeks in the railway shops of the Santa Fe at San Bernardino, Cal.

Search of Rogue river near Bybee bridge where the body was found will be made for the bodies of the twin brothers, on the supposition that they have met the same fate. The father says that last Christmas, a tramp came to Eugene and left this cryptic message: "Told old man D'Autremont two of his boys will be found under the bridge with their hands tied, and their bodies weighed down, the third boy was blown up in the car."

Mr. D'Autremont says he did not know what bridge and disregarded the tale entirely until he read in the papers last night of the finding of the body in Rogue river. The parent since the day of the holdup has steadfastly insisted that his sons were dead, and slain by the real bandits, to cover up their tracks and throw off suspicion.

Dan O'Connell, chief special agent of the Southern Pacific will arrive today to take charge of the investigation.

CONVICTS CAUGHT, PUT IN SOLITARY

Trusties Who Violated Pledges Dressed in Stripes, and Hair Is Clipped

Six months in solitary confinement, red and black striped convict suits and a head shave twice a month is the welcome home received by the three trusty convicts who recently took French leave from the penitentiary. The trio had also signed the "trusty pledge" recently inaugurated by Warden A. M. Dalrymple.

"I am not hard boiled but I do demand that the convicts live up to rules and regulations of the institution," Warden Dalrymple said yesterday. "Then men know that if they violate their pledge they will receive punishment in the 'bull pen.' There are no exceptions. In addition they forfeit whatever credits they might have earned, in addition to those they could earn in the future. They will be held to their sentence."

All three convicts would have come before the parole board in another month or two, Warden Dalrymple said. They were short terms and prior to their escape had good records.

FORD REFUSES TO MEET CALL OF COMMITTEE

Motor Manufacturer Asserts No Explanation of Muscle Shoals Offer Needed

DETROIT, Mich., May 6.—In a letter to Senator George W. Norris, chairman of the agriculture committee, Henry Ford today refused to appear personally before the committee in connection with his Muscle Shoals offer. The letter was mailed from Ford's offices in Dearborn, Mich.

The letter was in reply to a request from Senator Norris that the motor manufacturer appear personally to explain his offer. Ford asserted that all of the facts are already in the committee's possession; that they have been inquired into, and that there is no necessity for further explanation. Mr. Ford's letter also says that "the recent effort of Chairman Norris of the senate committee on agriculture to reflect on the integrity of the president of the United States in connection with our offer for Muscle Shoals," strengthened his decision not to appear.

SHERIFF ARRESTS ALLEGED FORGER

Burkhart Apprehends Man Who Victimized Merchants With Checks

Again Deputy Sheriff Sam Burkhart demonstrated his ability as a detective when he arrested C. W. Mann about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning on a charge of forgery. Mann, according to the sheriff's office, has passed hundreds of dollars worth of forged paper since December. He is about 40 years old and will be arraigned in justice court some time today. Among merchants victimized by the "paper hanger" were Perry's drug store, the George Waters' cigar store, the Eppley grocery, the Edwards' meat market, Spake's drug store, Nelson & Hunt drug store and other establishments.

Mann was arrested through his association with a Salem woman, who knew nothing of his activities, it is believed. The persons in question were kept under surveillance for days. Positive information regarding the general appearance of Mann was not definite, as he would spend a day or two in Salem, cash a check or two, and then disappear for a short time.

When arrested he had just come from Eugene, he told the officials. It is not known here whether he extended his operations to other towns in the valley, but a check is being made. Mann used the name of Thomas B. Kay frequently.

WINNER OF STATE ORATORICAL MEET

BEENOIT McCROSKEY

Seventeen-year-old Salem high school student who won the state oratorical contest and a prize of $250 cash and the right to represent Oregon at the Pacific coast contest in Los Angeles May 14. McCroskey is also a member of the Salem high school debate team which holds the championship of western Oregon and will compete for state honors.

PRESIDENT LEADING HIRAM BY BIG VOTE IN LATTER'S STATE

Senator Johnson Defeated in California and Overwhelmed in Indiana; Last Reports From Hoosier State Give Coolidge 73,855, Johnson 12,742—McAdoo Victor in Two States.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Thirty-six hundred and thirty-two complete precincts in California out of 6,974, representing fifty of the fifty-eight counties in the state, and returns from an additional 734 partial precincts in Los Angeles county, give: Johnson 188,260; Coolidge 196,458; McAdoo 66,754. No preference 11,328.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—President Coolidge's campaign headquarters here at midnight predicted that delegates to the republican national convention pledged to support Mr. Coolidge for the residential nomination would carry the state by 30,000 votes.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Voters of California in today's presidential primary registered their preferences for Calvin Coolidge and William C. McAdoo as the republican and democratic presidential nominees respectively returns from over the state last night indicated. In giving a majority to Coolidge, California's republicans will be rejecting Senator Hiram W. Johnson, a active son.

McAdoo delegates defeated a ticket running under the head of no preference but which was admittedly anti-McAdoo. At midnight complete returns from 31445 precincts out of the state's total of 6794 gave Senator Johnson. The returns gave: Coolidge, 177,316; Johnson, 169,544. While President Coolidge's lead over Senator Johnson appeared reasonably safe, the lead of the McAdoo delegates over the no-preference ticket was vastly greater in proportion to the number of democratic votes cast, and it was conceded that his lead of more than five to one was too great to be offset by later returns.

The returns at midnight gave: McAdoo, 57,531. No-preference ticket, 10,516. The returns for both democrats and republicans were from fifty of California's 58 counties.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 6.—(By The Associated Press.)—President Coolidge increased his lead on Hiram Johnson for the republican presidential preference as additional returns from the Indiana

WANTED REPRESENTATIVE

Mr. Steisel, the Pacific Coast representative for the Cadmus Products Co. of Bayonne, N. J. was in the city yesterday to secure a representative for Salem and Marion county to sell the Master Bake Pot.

Advertised in Statesman

Mr. Steisel put an advertisement in the Statesman, telling all the people that he wanted a representative for Salem and Marion county and that he would be at the Marion Hotel yesterday.

Gets Results

Early yesterday Mr. D. B. Tibbet, 311 Richmond Avenue, answered the advertisements and received the appointment. Mr. Steisel claims to have had many applications for the position and was very well satisfied with the response from his ad. "Your paper must cover the field very thoroughly, I began to get replies early in the morning and by 10 o'clock I had picked my man," said Mr. Steisel to a representative of the Statesman before leaving the city yesterday afternoon. This is just one of many reports we receive daily of the results obtained through Statesman advertising.
