PAMPHLETS ARE MAILED VOTERS

Fifteen Different Booklets Go to Republicans, Three to Democrats

The mailing out of the pamphlets containing the statements of candidates for election and nomination at the primary election May 16 was completed Wednesday by Secretary of State Sam A. Kozar.

These pamphlets are printed as authorized by the corrupt practices act. They are mailed only to the registered Republican and Democratic voters of the state whose names have been furnished to the secretary of state by the county clerks of the several counties. They contain only the names and statements of those candidates for election or nomination for the various offices who have submitted statements and portrait cuts for publication therein and paid the prescribed fee therefor. The total fees for statements in the pamphlet amount to $5,105.

There were 18 different pamphlets required to be printed, on account of the filings from the various districts, as each pamphlet contains only the statements of candidates for those offices on which the elector in the particular county is called upon to vote. A total of 233,023 pamphlets were mailed to registered Republicans in the various counties and 91,485 pamphlets to the registered Democrats of the counties of the state. The statements filed by republican candidates required the printing of 15 separate pamphlets, and of the democratic candidates three different pamphlets.

Under the law the mailing of these pamphlets must be completed by the secretary of state not less than eight days before the election, and this year the work has been accomplished, the same as heretofore, within the time prescribed by statute.

"The fees received for space in the pamphlet do not nearly cover the cost of printing and mailing, and at no election have the receipts from the fees been sufficient to cover this expense," said Mr. Kozar. "If we include as an offset the fees paid for filing declarations of candidacy—which this year amounted to $8,210, this added to the amount received for space in the pamphlet would substantially cover the expense of printing and mailing the pamphlets."

CULINARY UNION TERMS STATED

Owners of Dining Places in Salem Not Strongly Opposed to Plan

While restaurant and eating house managers are meeting the organization of local culinary workers with some opposition, they are gradually coming over to the plan, according to F. W. Bond, international organizer of culinary workers, who has been in Salem for several weeks.

"Conditions in the past here in Salem were such that organized labor protested and sent to Cincinnati for an organizer, which resulted in the organization of the Waitresses and Culinary Workers' union local No. 452," Mr. Bond said. "The scale to be put into effect is still lower than that at Portland, but it provides at least a living wage."

Specific instances cited by Mr. Bond include extra help for lunches and dinners receiving 50 cents for an hour's work, out of which they had to pay for laundry. They also received a meal. Restaurant workers received from $6 to $18 a week for their services, working seven days a week. Several girls received but $10 a week for the seven days, he said. Fear of losing their jobs prevented them from taking the matter up with the state labor commissioner.

Under the rules and regulations provided in the new contract that the local union is seeking to put in force, no employee will work more than six days a week or eight hours a day. Restaurant workers will receive a minimum of $15 a week for day work and $18 a week for work on the night shift. Luncheons shall be served for $1 and include a meal.

The by-laws also protect the employer, including fines and expulsion from the union for repetition of various offenses. No member of the union may leave his place unless 24 hours' notice is given; no member shall accept any job and then fail to report; no solicitations shall be made for union members during regular serving time. The contract also provides a regular scale of payment for relief workers and extra help.

NEW GOVERNMENT IS TEAL'S IDEA

Portland Man Urges Pierce to Appoint Consolidation Committee

Joseph N. Teal of Portland urges Governor Pierce, in a letter received yesterday, to appoint a committee to submit to the next legislature a plan for a reorganization of the state government. He believes several members of the committee should be members of the legislature, and he would have them prepare and publish their report prior to the convening of the session.

Mr. Teal's idea is about the same as that now in vogue in the states of Illinois and Washington, and much the same as that studied some years ago during the Withycombe administration under the direction of Professor Matthews of the University of Illinois who published a booklet on the proposed change for Oregon. This was submitted to the legislature by the consolidation commission, but never received consideration. Mr. Teal expresses the opinion that both state and city government has become unwieldy with boards and commissions.

"Assuming, as I know I safely can," he writes, "that you favor an administrative reorganization which will have for its purpose honesty, efficiency and economy in state government, I take the liberty of making a suggestion having this end in view. The subject is not a highly technical one. Our present government has been more or less of an uncontrolled growth. Like Topsy, it has just grown. The public, however, has to some extent become accustomed to it. Therefore any changes proposed should be considered and discussed publicly, with an opportunity for all interested to make suggestions and support their views with argument, written or oral. In order to do this any proposed law should be formulated and published prior to the meeting of the legislature. In my opinion results would be best secured if you would appoint a non-political committee composed of those interested in the subject and familiar with present methods and with an understanding of what is desired, to prepare a low covering the subject matter under consideration. It would be well to have one or more of the committee members of the coming legislature. The committee should be provided with funds, which I believe could be secured, to pay a trained secretary. Existing state agencies could give material aid in the preparation of information ascertained through their respective offices. This committee should enter on its work at once with the definite object in view of securing administrative reform in the immediate future."

"So much has already been done on this work there can be no doubt that an efficient, interested and sympathetic committee could have prepared ready for submission at the next session of the legislature a law which has had and borne close examination and criticism of the public and one that should receive the support of all good citizens."

Most of the fake stock is bought by people who think a few more laws are necessary.

Theory of Evolution Scouted By Evangelist

Erection of the Lions' signboard in the Salem auto camp grounds on Wednesday night at 6 o'clock was decided upon at the Friday meeting of the organization. Allan Kafoury was appointed chairman, to name his own committee, to work out final details, including a supper to be served workers by the wives of members.

Mrs. Demarest, evangelist, was the principal speaker at the Friday luncheon. "Man is not a product of evolution and differs from the animals in that he lives for others," she said. "Man can only be happy in the element of love, which is a characteristic of man." Her message was one of "others."

John U. Smith Appointed On State Fish Commission

Governor Pierce yesterday appointed John U. Smith of Astoria as a member of the state fish commission to succeed Christian Schmidt, the appointment to be effective June 1. Smith has not yet accepted the appointment.

Thomas G. Greene of Portland was appointed a member of the tax supervising and conservation commission for Multnomah county to succeed the late F. W. Mulkey.

Stephen G. Smith of Portland was reappointed a member of the board of inspectors of child labor.

NEW CORPORATIONS

The following articles of incorporation were filed here yesterday:

Rhododendron Truck & Fuel company, Portland; incorporators, C. W. Dunning, J. H. Blackwell, O. F. Kettleberg; capital, $1,000.

Simmons & Lou, Inc., Portland; incorporators, Norman J. Simmons, F. A. Leu, Allison Moulton; capital, $5,000; meat dealers.

Bissell Auto Repair Company, Inc., Portland; incorporators, Harry M. Bissell, Beatrice L. Bissell, M. R. Bissell; capital, $2,000.

A permit to operate in Oregon was issued to the United States Radiator corporation, a New York concern capitalized at $9,000,000.

R. G. Sangster of Portland is attorney-in-fact for Oregon.

DEMOCRATS WILL WRITE IN NAMES

Central Committee Gets Party Members to Consent to Nominations

After looking about over the county the Democratic central committee has found enough Democrats who are willing to have their names written in on the ballot at the primary election May 16 to make a complete ticket in the general election.

The names will not appear on the printed ballots and will have to be written in. The list follows:

Nellie G. Baldwin, county recorder, Salem; W. W. Elder, county commissioner, Stayton; H. L. Crawford, county commissioner, Turner; Joe Baumgartner, county treasurer, Salem; J. W. Sadler, representative, Aurora; R. T. Guiss, representative, Woodburn; Edward Dunnigan, Sr., representative, R. F. D. Salem; S. H. Van Trump, representative, Salem; J. W. Ebner, representative, Mount Angel; H. S. Poisel, representative, Salem; Dr. G. E. Prince, representative, Salem; John Van Zante, attorney general, Portland.

Home Grown Strawberries Are Placed on Market

Home grown strawberries were placed on the market Friday by J. M. Panek of the Auburn district a full week earlier than last year. Mr. Panek, who was first on the market with the local fruit last year, placed his product on the market May 16. This record was bettered by just one week this season. He received $6.60 a crate for the fruit yesterday.

Oregons and Marshalls made up the order placed by Mr. Panek. There will be a good crop this year, but the highest price, of course, are received by the men who are able to market their fruits first.

California berries appeared some time ago, but with the embargo placed on all products, local men turned to Louisiana for the fruit.

Dwight Findley Will Go On Pilgrimage to Japan

Dwight Findley of Salem, student at Willamette university, will be the only Oregon student among a party of 18 going on a Pilgrimage of Friendship to Japan, which sails from San Francisco June 27, returning to United States September 5. The party will be composed of 18 students from universities and colleges of the Pacific coast. Mr. Findley will be the only delegate from the state of Oregon. During their stay in Japan they will visit many points of interest; among these will be universities and other schools in Japan, summer conferences of college students, city Y. M. C. A.'s and many points of scenic interest. The pilgrimage will attract much interest in Japan, especially since the recent legislation against Japanese immigration. The purpose of the pilgrimage is to promote a more friendly spirit between the Island and the United States, and especially the Pacific coast.
