Wednesday night of last week Mr. Jones was waited upon by a committee from the Klan, who routed him out of bed and informed him that their organization had decided that he should withdraw from the race in favor of Hunt, whose candidacy the Giffordites had decided to sponsor. On the committee which delivered the ultimatum were Karl Pease, exalted cyclops of the Klan, Carl T. Pope, candidate for the republican nomination for district attorney, Albert Follrich and John Smith, Aumsville rancher who has been an active worker and office holder in the Gifford Klan of late months.

Jones has announced that the Giffordites can do as they please, but he proposes to remain in the race.

Reports received from various parts of the county where the Klan envoys have been working reveal that the Ku Klux endorsement was given to Hunt in consideration of the pledge from Hunt supporters that they would line up behind Pope's candidacy for district attorney, and Pope's campaign is being conducted along the line of such a trade.

KNOW THE TRUTH

Fair Treatment Is All We Ask.
False Statement (From Capital Journal May 5.)
Denial (From Capital Journal May 10.)
To the editor—I have observed in the press recently a number of articles relating to my candidacy for the office of county judge in the republican primaries on May 16, 1924.

Ordinarily there is no occasion for a candidate to pay attention to every rumor that goes about during a campaign whether on the lips of men or in the public print, but there appears to be so much of a certain character that I believe a statement is due from me at this time, and therefore crave a small amount of your space.

Prior to my filing for county judge a number of mutual friends of myself and County Commissioner J. T. Hunt had conferences with both myself and Mr. Hunt relative to the judgeship, and urged that but one of us run for the office, as it was believed that our following would be somewhat the same in any contest. It was reported to me that Mr. Hunt had decided not to run for the office should his old neighbor and friend, Judge W. H. Downing, aspire for the position on the democratic ticket. Judge Downing later announced his candidacy and judging Mr. Hunt had been eliminated, I regularly filed my announcement of candidacy. Since making said announcement no person has asked me to withdraw from the race, and my candidacy has steadily grown in strength and I am very grateful indeed for the many words of encouragement and support I am receiving from my friends over the county. If I am elected to this office I will be the tool of no faction or clique but serve the people of the county fearlessly and efficiently and it is on this ground that I am seeking the office, and will not be dominated by any person or set of persons.

Some of the persons to whom the articles refer did in fact see me prior to my filing for the office, but none of them have asked me to withdraw from the race after I filed and assuredly no persons or body of persons came to my home and asked me to withdraw at such an unseemly hour of the night as the papers indicate. What was said to me by persons prior to filing my candidacy was on the street and the various offices and places of business about town. Possibly some of the persons who talked with me were members of the Ku Klux Klan, for I understand there are a number of such about the city and I am not familiar with all of the lodge and other connections of the people of the city of Salem, and believe that much of the rumor one hears is ill founded, as some of this press report surely is.

Truly yours,
J. F. JONES,
Salem, Ore., May 9.

Lane Morley who is asking for the republican nomination for county assessor, has lived in Oregon for 20 years. He has made good in business and is a heavy taxpayer. Hubby Is Task-Master; Woman Seeking Divorce
Several hard years with John Olson, with the breaking point coming when he insisted in making her put in several cords of wood while she was ill, proved sufficient for Greta I. Olson, according to a complaint filed in the county clerk's office Saturday. The couple was married in Polk county on November 29, 1912, and have two minor children.

Not only did her spouse possess a violent temper, she alleges, but he often used vile language toward her and treated her in a most inhuman manner. He is eight years her senior, she says.

About three years after their marriage he began to pay attention to a young woman, but a reconciliation was effected. In 1923 he again paid attention to the same young lady. During the last five years of their married life he forced her to do a man's work outside the house, working in the field. Once he threatened to kill her and often he was intoxicated, she charges. She finally left him October 20, 1923, and since then has made her home with her parents.

As he is capable of earning at least $75 a month, she asks that she receive a cash payment of $250, with $50 a month for the support of their children. She also asks one-half interest in property that he owns.
