SALEM CYCLISTS
GLEAM HONORS

Most Events at Cottage Grove Hill Climb Taken By Local Youths

Salem motorcycle riders walked away with the honors at the big hill climbing contest at Cottage Grove Sunday in a field of 15 contestants. Cody Evans of Salem went over the top six times out of seven attempts at the hill and took two first places, incidentally making the fastest trip of all riders, when he topped the crest in 13.3-5 seconds. On an unofficial try Cody lowered this nearly one second. All of the machines which won places were stock Harley-Davidsons, which took eight out of nine events, it was announced by Harry W. Scott, local Harley-Davidson representative.

In the event for novices, George Seater of Salem took third place, losing to Portland riders. In the 61 open, Cody placed first and took first in the eight-inch event, in 17 seconds. Cody was the only rider to go over the top. The course was for nearly 100 yards and up a 75 per cent grade.

Nearly 30 riders made the trip from Salem, while motorcycle enthusiasts from Portland to southern Oregon were present. More than 250 motorcycles and over 400 automobiles were driven to the scene of the climb. The crowd was estimated around 2500.

FIRE WARDENS GATHER
HERE FOR CONFERENCE

added that conditions were such at the present time in regard to taxation that it was impossible for the private operation to go ahead with the reforestation problem, as he had no assurance whatever of the ultimate success of the attempt.

Owing to the failure of a quorum to be present there was no meeting of the state board of forestry in the afternoon, as had been called by the state forester.

Humidity Theory Heard

The meeting convened again at 3:30 and George C. Joy, chief fire warden of the Washington Forest fire association, gave an exceedingly interesting talk on fire weather. He gave an excellent idea of the relationship of relative humidity to forest fires insofar as investigations up to the present time have shown. He explained the fact that when humidity was down, in other words when the moisture content of the air was low, the danger of fire was correspondingly high and increased with the wind and temperature. He stated that efforts were being made to get the federal government to station weather men at Seattle and secure their cooperation in a study of relative humidity as it affects fires or creates hazardous fire conditions.

In a discussion following the address of Mr. Joy the importance of interesting the timber men of the state was brought up. Results were shown to have already been accomplished, as several of the owners have installed instruments in their camps to register the relative humidity. These will serve to give them an idea of what fire conditions will be during the day.

L. N. Gooding, head of the blister rust work in the state, outlined his work and gave a history of the spread of the disease. As yet the disease has not reached Oregon, but he says it will be impossible to keep it out and that it will unquestionably be found here within the next few years.

Following the meeting at the state house an excellent banquet was served at the Gray Belle at 6:30. Interspersed with the several courses were a number of songs by a quartet composed of A. H. Gille, A. B. Hansen, H. B. Galskyer and Richard Robertson. Several Scotch songs by James Smart were the hit of the evening. W. V. Fuller and R. H. Chapler entertained with several dialect stories and songs. The banquet closed with talks by Governor Pierce and State Treasurer Myers.

District wardens present were: Harvey O. Brown, Roseburg; L. O. Case, Ukiah; W. L. Scott, Baker; C. V. Oglesby, Eugene; M. J. Skinner, W. E. Mendenhall, Sheridan; L. H. Russell, La Grande; H. C. Kyle, Jewell; J. W. Ferguson, Molalla; J. A. Walsh, Marshfield; C. A. Hoxie, Grants Pass; E. L. White, Port Orford; J. M. Grant, Dallas; L. M. Martin, Toledo; Joner Trump, Promise; L. D. Haren, Lebanon; N. S. Rogers, Medford; A. A. Sergetson, Forest Grove; F. L. Southwick, Roseburg.

Law enforcement men attending were: A. L. McCarty, Nehalem; Cecil Kyle, Vernonia.

From the local forest office were: F. A. Elliott, L. F. Cronmiller; P. A. King, and A. H. Gille.

Others present were: George C. Joy, chief fire warden, Washington Forest Fire association, Seattle; C. C. Scott, Portland; W. V. Fuller, Dallas, both association secretaries; E. H. McDaniels, Munger, and T. M. Talbot of United States forest service, Portland; George W. Peavy, OAC, Corvallis; N. G. Jacobson and R. H. Chaplin, both of Western Forestry and Conservation commission, Portland; George T. Gerlinger, state board of forestry, Portland; L. M. Gooding, in charge of blister rust control, Corvallis; Charles Unicum, Willamina; A. C. Morris, Miami, B. C.; N. H. Cruch, Roseburg; M. J. Cy, Sweet Home; E. E. Reeves, Central Point.

1200 ENLIST IN
CHRISTIAN CAUSE

wrong, a harmful ambition planted in a single breast. It's all been good and worth an incalculable sum of money, as an investment in better living. A circus would have taken $25,000 to $40,000 from Salem in a single day, and there would have been memories of pickpockets, grafters, bums extorting prices for everything sold to harass the public mind for a year to come. This union evangelistic campaign has united the thousands of supporters of the city churches in a fine bond of common interest for the universal good. It has cost only a little more than a dollar per member for the churches that carried on the work—and it certainly looks like a rare bargain!

The Demarests leave at 11:16 today over the Southern Pacific for San Francisco, where they will visit for a few days with an old friend of Mrs. Demarest. From there they will return to their home in Chicago, to rest for a few days before starting on their next evangelistic series at LaFollette, Tenn. This will be their 11th big series in Tennessee.

"It looks as if we were fated to stay in that country," said Mr. Demarest, Sunday night; "but I'd like to have another call to come out to this wonderful west." They do have such a call to attend the big camp meeting at Cottage Grove this summer. Both were delighted with their first visit to the west. They expressed their joy at their personal reception as well as at the climate and the scenic and other beauties of this section.

Rev. C. G. Wren of the Demarest party will remain in Salem for this week to close up any business connected with the series that has not yet been cared for. As general manager of the series, and particularly as head of the young peoples' organizations, he carried on the work with conspicuous ability, so that he has made a host of warm friends in Salem who will regret to see him leave.

Sunday night Mr. Demarest expressed his particular regards to the many who have been responsible for the success of the meetings. The various chairmen have been untiring in their work. Rev. Ward Willis Long as president of the ministerial association, Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick as executive chairman, C. A. Kells as head of the building committee, Walter Winslow in charge of the finance committee, A. A. Siewer in charge of the building operations, Mrs. Page as head of the entertainment committee, Mr. and Mrs. Manella in charge of the choir, and others who have worked faithfully and effectively on the committees. The building of the tabernacle, with $3000 worth of contributed labor, was a rare triumph in which hundreds of men had a fine share. The choir singing has been notably effective. Under the capable direction of Agnew Demarest, it was perhaps the greatest singing of the kind in the history of the Willamette valley. The orchestra has made a great hit, a number of excellent musicians having given their services to make it effective.

Mr. Demarest, a soloist of distinction, has had a severe cold during most of his stay here, and has sung very little, which was a distinct loss to the congregations, for he sings with the spirit of evangelism and not with the jazz spirit that cuts the throat of music and humstrings the soul of harmony. But as a director he has more than made good with the great choir that has obeyed his directions so admirably.

"She has put all men on a common level—the rich, the poor, the great, the humble; there is no snobbery in his religion," is what one working man said—and it was a splendid tribute; for it is what the world wanted, a religion where there is no caste, no reserved seats, no special honors even for those who can afford to pay for them.

The Salem Ministerial association will look carefully after the 1200 who have come to seek a better life, and every one who has expressed any church preference will be taken up by the church of his choice. No announcement has been made of the comparative number who have asked for particular church affiliations. The splendid spirit of Christian sportsmanship manifested by all the 19 affiliated churches would make impossible any boasting of individual church gains.

RALPH BAILEY A WINNER
UNIVERSITY OF OREGON,
Eugene, May 19.—Ralph Bailey of Salem, a junior in the school of law at the University of Oregon, will soon receive a debate shield, awarded by the Associated Students at Oregon to a varsity debater with three years of service.

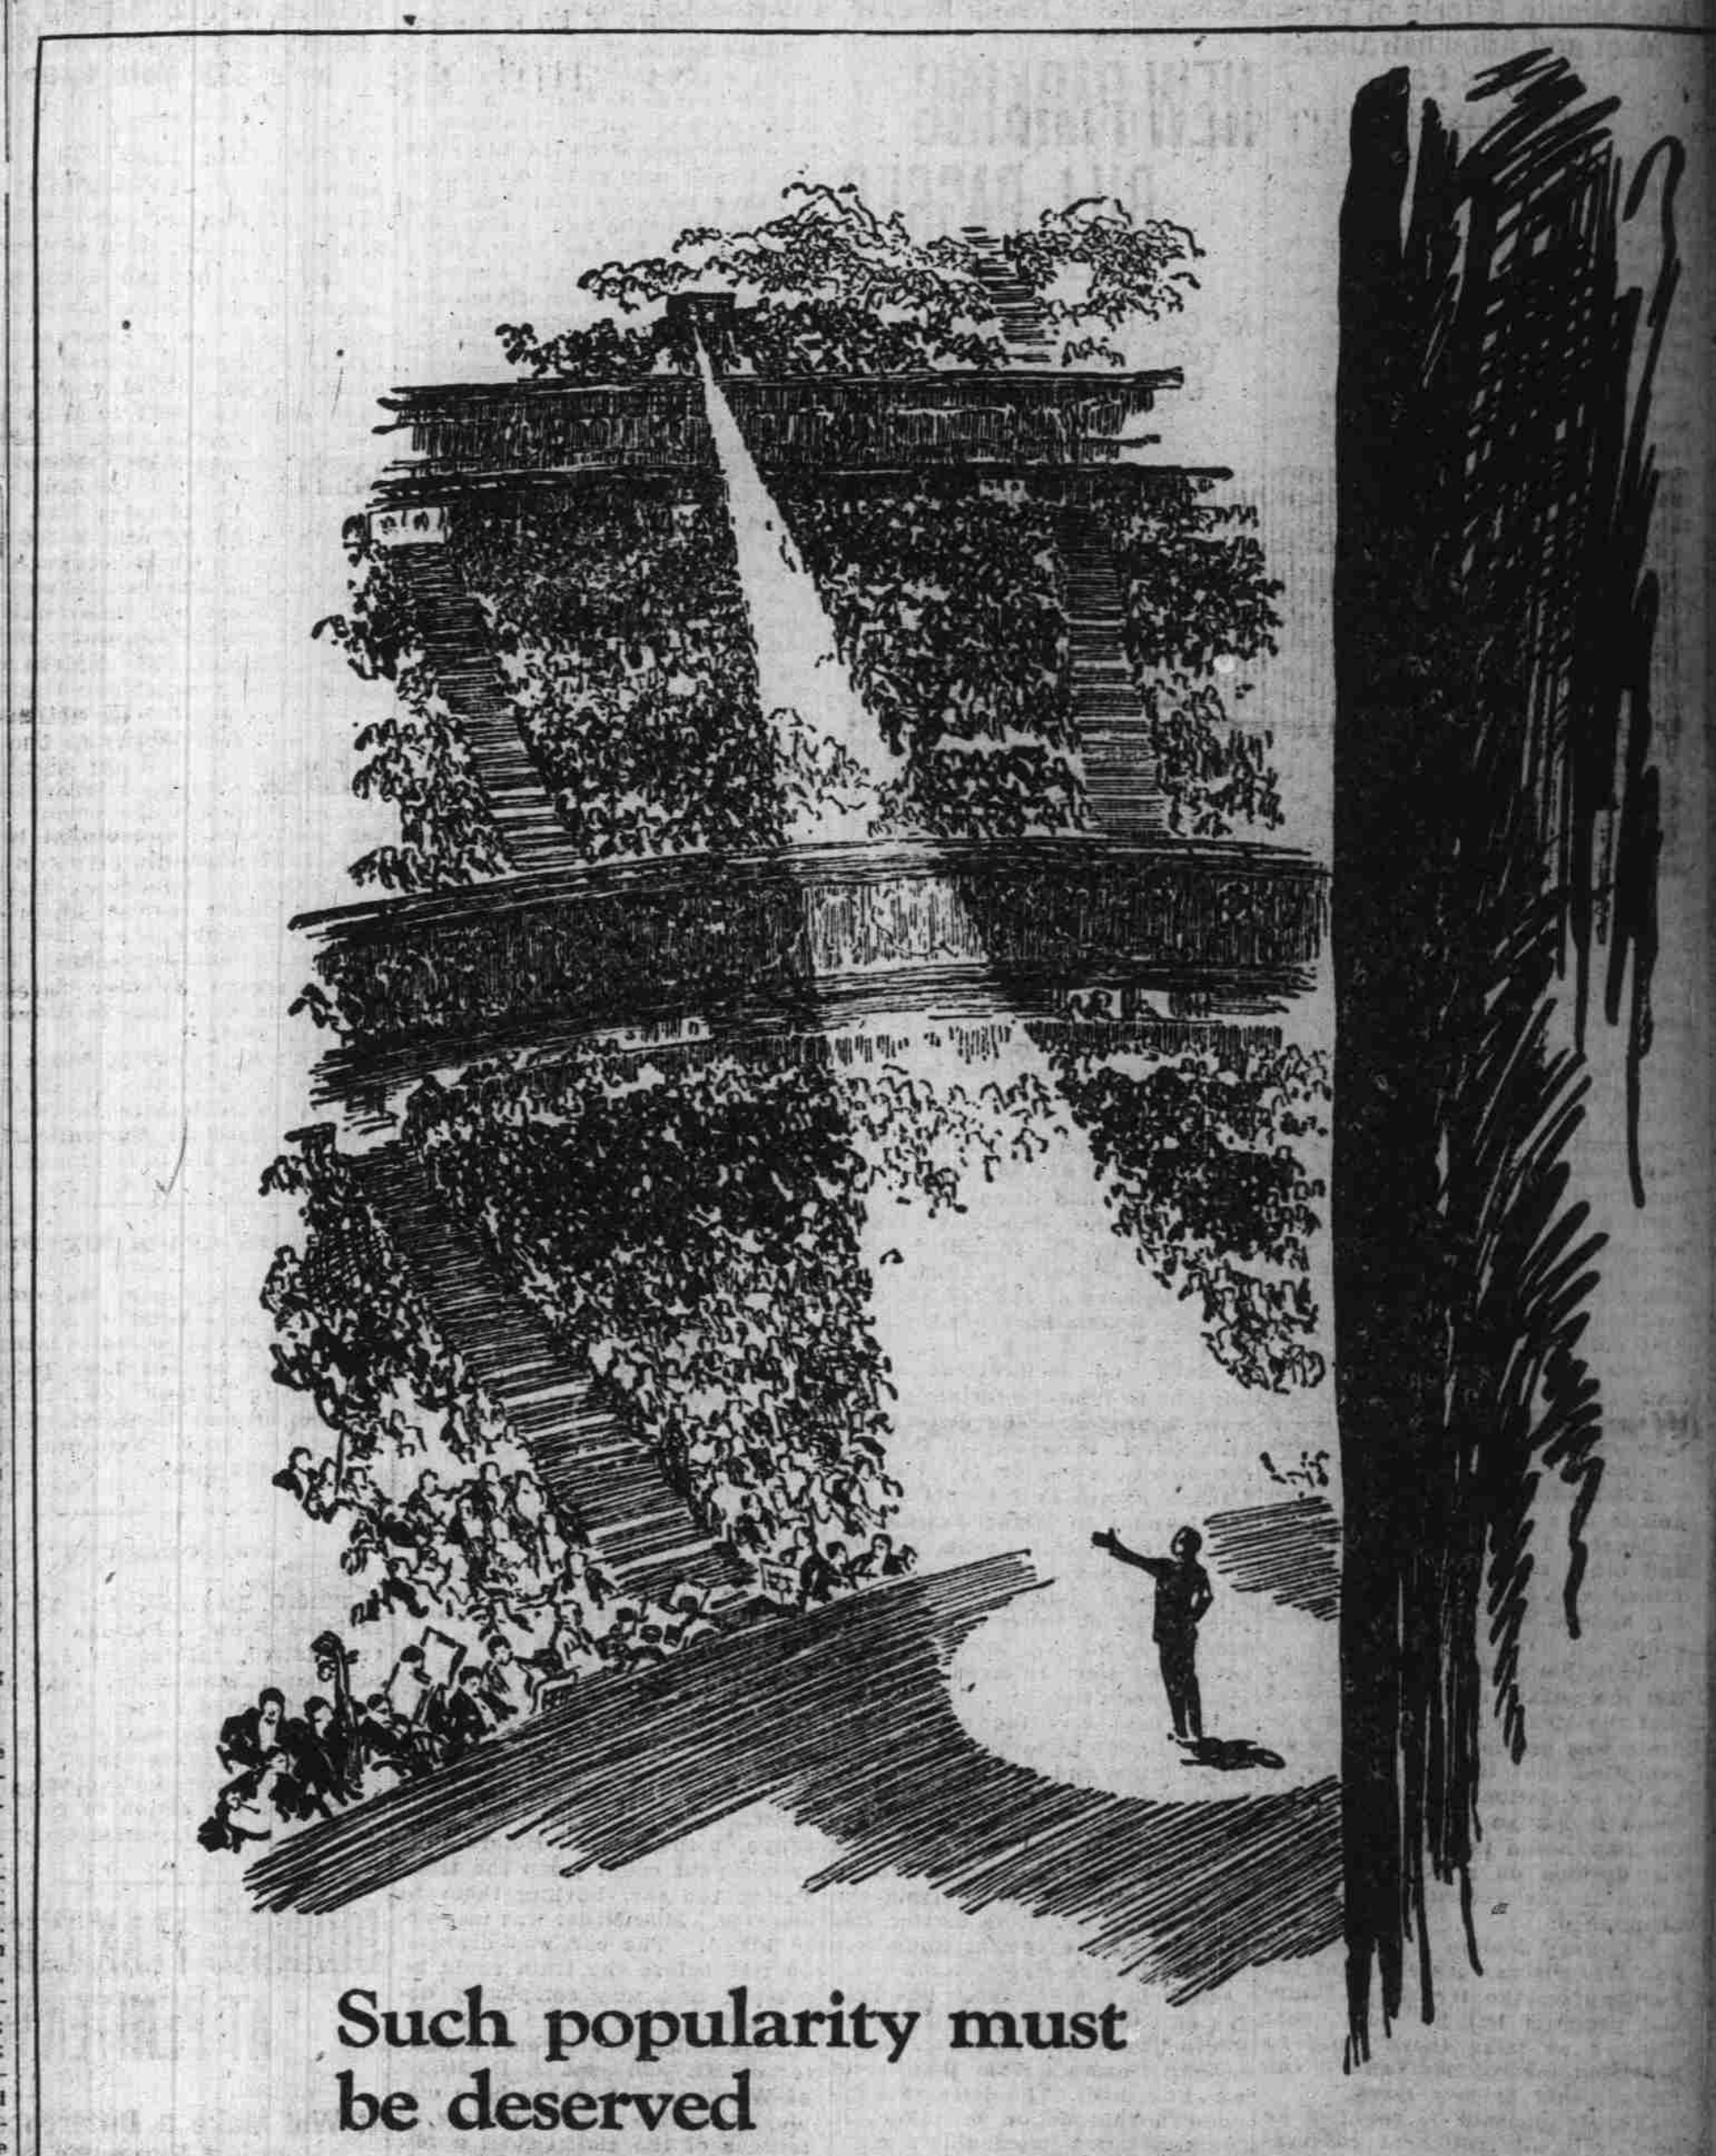

BASEBALL DANCE
WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Manager Bishop May Have Longview Team Here for Game on May 29

A baseball dance for the purpose of bolstering up the Salem Senators financially will be given at Dreamland risk Wednesday night of this week. The Senators lost financially on the OAC game also because of one rainy day that prevented a game and are in need of some additional funds.

However, the finances of the club are being kept in good shape. All bills up to May 1 were paid, according to Manager Biddle Bishop, and all will be paid due June 1. George Riches of the Ladd Bush bank has made a checking up of the club's accounts that is open to public inspection. All contributed to the club's support express themselves as pleased with the showing that is being made by the club.

Manager Bishop says he will have the Longview, Wash. team in Salem for a game on Thursday, May 29. On Decoration day the Senators will play the Yamhill club.

Such popularity must be deserved

POPULARITY isn't luck—there is no royal road to the spotlight. Popularity, today, means "delivering the goods!"

Last year broke all records for the number of Chesterfields smoked. Why? Because Chesterfields make good! There are loads of ordinary cigarettes—smokers want something better!

Better quality—proved by better taste—that's why men are turning by thousands from other cigarettes to Chesterfield.
