

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Penalty Waived—

The state tax commission yesterday decided to waive the 100 per cent penalty on income tax payments that became delinquent more than 60 days after March 31, which was the date when payments became due. The 5 per cent penalty for the first 60 days delinquency will be imposed. The commission has extended the time for paying second installments to July 20 if the first installment has been paid.

Pound Soon to Return—

Dr. Benjamin F. Pound, who is taking a six months' army post-graduate course at the Walter Reed general hospital at Washington, D. C., writes to friends that his course will end there June 1, and that he will start at once for Salem. Dr. Pound purchased a new automobile on his way east, stopping in Detroit for delivery of the car and driving from there to Washington. He expects to drive home with his family. In his letter he comments that during the last year he has traveled about 15,000 miles, visited many cities and that Salem is the best town he has found, which accounts for his anxiety to get home again. He also says that Washington, always a beautiful city, is just at present gorgeous with all of the flowers and green of the trees in early spring attire. Dogwood, both white and pink, may be seen everywhere in the woods, and wild honeysuckle and tulip trees make it truly rare in the beauty line.

Dividend Declared—

Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks, announced yesterday the declaration of a 5 per cent dividend to the depositors of the defunct First Bank of Bay City, which closed its doors February 1, 1922. The dividend amounts to $2800 and is the second to be declared.

Little Zadi, 4-year-old Armenian wait, accompanied by her foster mother, Mrs. C. R. Gannaway of Medford, will be at the Presbyterian church Sunday night. Zadi was brought to an orphanage in charge of Dr. and Mrs. Gannaway late one night as the Christians were fleeing from Turkey. The baby was sick and was abandoned, though its mother was forced to leave. The mother later died and the youngster was adopted and brought back by the Gannaways. Though only 4 years old she can speak Armenia, Turkish and English.

Kick Proves Fatal—
Funeral services will be held from the Webb funeral parlors at 2 o'clock this afternoon for John Franklin Hiltbrand, 37. Polk county resident, who died at a local hospital Thursday from the effects of being kicked by a horse. Hemorrhages of the interior of his head caused his death shortly after being received at the hospital. Rev. Mr. Dunsmore of Independence will officiate and interment will be made in City View cemetery. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Bella Hiltbrand; and a brother, Paul, both of whom live near Greenwood.

Debate Heard by Radio—
Local interest was keen in the Oregon high school championship debate broadcast from Portland by radio last night. Salem high school supporters gathered in little groups at various homes in Salem equipped with radio sets to listen in on the contest. A crowd of more than 150 interested listeners heard the debate in front of the Salem Electric company. The men's voices of the Salem team were better adapted to clear radio work than the girls of the Union High team, although all were clearly understood. City Superintendent Hug and several teachers heard the debate by radio at the home of Gerald Volk.

office. The appeal is from a decree signed March 19, in which Judge W. H. Downing sustained certain objections voiced by August Reinbrecht.

Traffic Violators Fined—

Ted Burlingame of Mill City was fined $10 in police court Friday for operating an automobile without having a driver's license. H. Rich of Union was fined $5 for driving on the wrong side of the street.

Receiving Signed Petitions—

Signed petitions are being received by U. G. Boyer, county clerk, to put on the ballot a bill to create a state board of naturopathic examiners and regulate the practice of naturopathy. As indicated by petitions received at the office, farmers from various parts of the county are signing petitions to put on the ballot in November a bill to repeal the income tax law passed by the voters last year. These petitions are checked over, as provided by law. So far the signatures from the country districts are greater in number than those from the cities and towns.

Social Workers Here—

In charge of Margaret D. Creech, assistant director of the school of social workers in Portland, a branch of the University of Oregon, a party of students is spending the week-end in Salem visiting state institutions and examining conditions that pertain to their work. The party is registered at the Marion hotel and includes Miss G. Tucker, Ida Park, Helen G. Hartley, Mabel Howard, Juliet C. Whitaker, Ruth Rich, Anastasia Miller and Anna G. Pettibone.

Candidates File Accounts—

As the final day on which candidates at the primary election must file their expense statements approaches, the number of these are being increased. Friday the following filed statements covering the costs of their efforts to be nominated: Joseph A. Benjamin, candidate for justice of the peace, $133.53; Clark Q. Groves, candidate for constable, $40.75; Ralph I. Stevens, who received the democratic nomination for constable, $12.50; George W. Palmer, county commissioner, $14.20; John H. ## BUNS FOR BREAKFAST

They are ordered—
The flax pullers.
They are to arrive in Salem July 1st to 10th.

The flax pullers are to be paid for in cash, by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the state flax plant. They are to cost the growers $2250 each, to be paid for from the crops of this year and next $1250 this year and $1000 next year. If all goes well, the growers are to pay no interest whatever. The Portland Chamber of Commerce advances $1250 each of the cash price, and the state flax plant $1000 each; $27,000 cash for the twelve machines, on board cars in Salem. The selling company sends a man at its own expense to remain through the harvest and demonstrate the running of the machines also sending extra parts to be furnished in cases of necessity at nominal cost.

Another thing: This is all leading up to the stability of the flax industry to the assurance of a supply of the raw materials, and to the building of a linen mill. Of this latter more will be heard within a short time, or at least within a few weeks.

Purdy Thankful
To the Editor:

You will very kindly let me thank my friends for their support in the primary. I feel doubly grateful to each one of them from the fact that I was defeated. Then I feel grateful to those who for personal reasons or otherwise did not support me for congress. I am just making a record while on this journey of life. I try to keep in mind the 8th chapter of Romans the 28th verse: "All things work together for good to those who love God."
