Pictures Praised—"These are certainly nice pictures," said two or three prominent business men when they saw the posters that had been made by the art department of the Salem high school. The pictures are a compliment to Miss Paden who is in charge of the art department. To think that high school students could put out such fine pictures is remarkable said a prominent citizen the other day. The art department is self supporting and the way that they turn out such fine show cards shows that when they put on their annual card sale that those who come early receive the best that can be bought anywhere. The department teaches the barnyard painter to such an extent that in time he would duplicate the work of the masters of the profession.
