STARS

Bright shining star of God's "inverted bowl," Oh, tell me are you traveling to a goal, Or is your happy mission just to shine And brighten all this struggling life of mine?

Such pictures bright you form upon the sky, But all obscure if floating clouds are nigh. Are all your dippers filled with sparkling dew For thirsty ones who come to sip with you?

Long years ago one shone in splendor bright And moved with grace and beauty through the night To guide the lowly shepherds and the wise To a baby King who came from Paradise.

I see you coming swiftly, falling star! Are you God's messenger who comes from far To tell me of his kindly, loving care; That He is in me, 'round me, everywhere?

I pray the God who holds you in His hand To give me light that I may understand His scheme of things up there in mystic blue And maze of things for me to travel through.

Two mid-week musicals are planned for Wednesday, June 25, and Thursday, June 26, by Miss Shelton who, on the first night will present her senior pupils, and, on the second night, those of the intermediate group. The assisting numbers for the first evening will be given by two violin soloists, Miss Talmadge and Miss Whalen, and by the Schubert octette.

The high school double quartet will give numbers the second evening. Leonard Chadwick will give violin solos. An additional feature will be the harp solos, by Jean Porter, a talented young player.

The invitational recital will come at a date later in the month when, on Monday, June 30, the Junior class appears in a Fairy story play assisted by Mrs. White's dancing fairies.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney plan to go south the latter part of the month in order to attend the marriage in San Francisco, California of their oldest son, Paul to Miss Lucy Holt.

Election of officers was featured at both of the Leslie Methodist church missionary meetings on Thursday at the home of Mrs. F. W. Selee. The home missionary society, meeting in the morning, re-elected both Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt and Mrs. Mason Bishop to the respective offices of president and secretary. At the meeting of the foreign society in the afternoon, Mrs. Selee, as president, and Mrs. J. G. Hertzog, as secretary, also were both re-elected.

At the noon hour a picnic luncheon was served with the foreign society coming together immediately following to hear Miss Ruth Field in discussion of the missionary situation in Calcutta. Neither society will meet again until September.

The complete list of officers follows: Home society, Pres., Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt vice president, Mrs. J. H. Fairchild; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J.
