Had Narcotic Guilt—
A man giving the name of L. Davis was arrested at Twelfth and Mill Tuesday by Officer Louis Olson and was jailed on a vagrancy charge. When searched at the police station a small narcotic syringe and needles were found, while extra needles were concealed in his shoes. The men had evidently been using narcotics for a considerable period of time, for his body showed the marks made by the needles. He had no narcotics on his person when arrested.

Appraisers Named—
David Eyre, Fred Gahladorf and Roy Nelson have been named appraisers of the estate of John Gueffroy, Salem resident, who died recently while visiting a son in Yakon, S. D. The estate has a probable value of $8000 in personal and $3000 in real property. Adolph Gueffroy, a son, is the administrator.

Aviators Are Pleased—
Salem is interested in aviation, but lacks a proper landing field, and, if such a field could be constructed here, the city would probably become a center of aerial activities, according to Art Walters, pilot, who was in the city over the week-end. As there is only one good field in the state, that at Eugene, the city has the opportunity to be a pioneer in this line, he said. The commercial airplane, owned by the Portland Aircraft company, will return to Salem about July 8. Among those making flights here Sunday were P. B. Ireland, Wayne Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodin, J. W. Lille, deputy warden at the state prison; Otto Zwicker and sons, and H. H. Lindsey and son.

McNary Coming Home—
United States Senator Charles L. McNary and wife will spend the summer in Salem, according to word received by George F. Rodgers, a personal friend. Senator McNary is expected to arrive home early next month. Senator McNary will spend a majority of his time at home, but is expected to visit several communities to learn of various needs. This will be Mrs. McNary's first visit to Salem.

Neither the Merchants Exchange of Portland nor any other similar agency has authority to break the seals of cars on sidetracks and take samples of grain or hay prior to the breaking of the seals and opening of the cars by officials of the state grain inspection department, says an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle in reply to an inquiry by C. E. Spence, state market agent and grain inspector.

To Visit McMinnville—
Fifty-two Salem Kiwanians, including their wives, will attend the presentation of a charter to the McMinnville Kiwanian club tonight. The local delegation will meet at the chamber of commerce at 5:45 o'clock. The dinner will be held at the Woodman hall in McMinnville at 7 o'clock. In urging the members to make the trip, Dr. H. E. Morris, president, pointed out that this was likely to be the last charter granted in this district for several years, as a majority of the cities in the Willamette valley now have an organization.

Governor Richardson Wanted—
Governor Pierce and Coos-Bay citizens are making an effort to have Governor Richardson of California attend a celebration at Coos Bay next month to promote the construction of the Roosevelt highway from Crescent City, Cal., to Coos Bay. If Governor Richardson attends, Governor Pierce says he will make arrangements to be present. The plan is for an excursion to leave Eugene, Cal., on July 8 or 9 and come north. Just when the celebration at Coos Bay will be staged is not stated in the communication to the governor.

SALEM MEN ARE FINED AT ALBANY

Traffic Officer Stops Car by Shot From Gun—Drunk-ness Charged

Three Salem men came to grief in Albany over the week-end, the trip ending with heavy fines for driving while intoxicated and speeding. Those arrested were F. B. Armstrong, superintendent of the Salem paper mill, $100 for driving while intoxicated and $15 for speeding, while Bert Gross, chief finisher at the plant and R. A. Finley, of Albany, were fined $50 for being intoxicated on a public highway, and Dale Edson, of Salem, was given more time in which to enter a plea.

The arrest had all the thrills of a movie reel, according to the reports in the Albany papers. While sitting at his home on Ninth street Kenneth L. Bloom, state traffic officer, heard and saw his car coming from the automobile driven by Armstrong, jumped into his own machine and gave pursuit, the flight leading toward Tangent, south of Albany. In order to stop the speeding machine Bloom found it necessary to puncture a tire by a shot from his revolver. When the machine stopped all four occupants jumped the traffic officer and a tree-or-all ensued. Bloom had to draw his gun and club two of his assailants into a condition in which they could be handled. Deputy Sheriff J. E. Lillard was called and helped to take the quartette to jail.

L. B. Sander of Tillamook was a Salem visitor yesterday. Mrs. L. W. Beach and Mrs. L. D. Law of Corvallis were in the city Tuesday.

J. E. Miller of Lebanon was a recent visitor in Salem. Mrs. J. Klein of Tillamook was a recent visitor in the city. Mrs. M. McBride of Portland has returned home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Myra Shank, police matron.

Mrs. F. M. Gregory is attending the annual convention of Daughters of Veterans, which is in session at Hillsboro.

Avery Hicks, who has been taking a post-graduate course in optometry at the University of California, has returned home for the summer. He will complete his studies next year.

V. E. Oleser of Canby was a recent visitor in Salem. James F. Means was in the city Tuesday morning from Roseburg. Frank Wortman of Medford was in the city yesterday. Mr. Wortman is a well-known orchardist of southern Oregon and reports plenty of water for irrigation purposes and an average fruit crop, with higher prices than the average.

Prof. I. E. Vining, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, of Ashland, and J. C. Thompson and W. M. Shepard, of Medford, left Tuesday morning for Seaside after spending the night in Salem.

Paul McCreeher, White Salmon, Wash., orchardist, is a business visitor in the city. Lamar Tooze of Eugene was in the city yesterday. Mr. Tooze has charge of the alumni gift campaign to the University of Oregon. Chief of Police Frank Minto is spending a short vacation on his ranch near the city. Patrolman Walter Thompson is acting chief.

Suit to Start Against Real Estate Grafters

The state real estate department is about to start proceedings against certain real estate operators in the state whose methods are highly questionable and probably fraudulent in intent, it is said. One method of operation, it is claimed by the department, is to list the property of individuals, make them think it is worth two or three times what the owner asks, and to request as a payment down a certain sum to go into an alleged advertising fund for publicity purposes through eastern newspapers. In event the property is sold the operators promise to allow this fee to go in as part of the commission and to return it if the property is not sold. One instance is on record in which return of the fee was refused.

In this case the salesman had no state license, but the firm by which he was employed had a license.

Baptists Picnic—
The Sunday school of the First Baptist church held a picnic program at the state fair grounds yesterday afternoon and evening. A large crowd attended and enjoyed the extended program of games, races and stunts. In the baseball game the school boys beat their dads roundly.

School Work Progressing—
