BANDY NEW VAUDEVILLE AT THE BRIGHT TODAY

The Florence Gale Saxo Three in a musical surprise with violins, piano, singing, comedy and three saxophones with pretty costumes. The trio plays duets, solos and tries and can be relied on to please one and all.

Bumons and Aubrey are a team of extremely neat appearing young men singing syncopated melodies, ballads, and featuring comedy and character numbers with loads of genuine harmony and pep. These boys possess a brand of clean humor that is refreshing and irresistible and their harmony is positively perfect as their voices blend in a manner that is unusual.

Billy and May Frank with their twelve minutes of rapid-fire entertainment leave their trademark "Gestation" stamped deeply on their audience. This youthful couple have class, pep, and personality. The little lady is very pretty and wears three changes of beautiful wardrobe including a Chinese and southern gown.

Wood's Posing Dogs. In presenting these canine wonders, Mr. Woods has accomplished a feat which may truthfully be called wonderful. During his act these dogs portray several pictures of art with the same grace that the artist originally portrayed. The novelty of this posing act is new and executed in a manner that is compelling. As posers these can-

The Confidence Man Here This Week

George Nash, well known for his recent characterization of Charlie Young in the stage play "East is West," plays an important role in "The Confidence Man." Thomas Meighan's picture which will be shown at the Oregon theatre next Thursday.

Mr. Nash was touring the country with his wife in a vaudeville sketch and had to cancel all his vaudeville engagements to play the role of "Wade" in this picture. The meeting of Mr. Nash and Mr. Meighan at the studio brought together two men who have gained fame playing the same role in the same play. Mr. Nash scored one of the biggest hits of his career as the crook in the George M. Cohan original stage play, "The Miracle Man," while Thomas Meighan rose to stardom overnight through his marvelous characterization of the same part in the picture version.

Although Mr. Nash has been very prominent as a stage performer he is not unknown to movie fans. He will be remembered for his excellent work in "The Cotton King," "The Valley of Silent Men," "The Face in the Fog," and "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

Fair Week Picture At the Liberty Soon

There is an interesting cast in "Fair Week," which will be at the Liberty theatre next Friday. Interesting because it marks the first appearance of Constance Wilson as a leading woman. It was also directed by a newcomer, Rob Wagner.

Walter Hiers fills the stellar role of a small town jack-of-all-trades, whose mirth-creating love difficulties and exciting adventures as a detective supply the motif of the drama.

Miss Wilson, playing opposite Hiers, is the beautiful younger sister of Lois Wilson, featured player, whose acting attracted attention in "The Covered Wagon." Constance Wilson had a minor part in this production, but exhibited such promise as to win her the present important position. She will have broad scope for emotional exhibition in the conflicting affections and desires she is forced to settle.

Carmen Phillips, well known for her "vamp" parts in the past, appears here in a similar characterization, strongly contrasted toward the end of the play by a touching display of mother love.

The part of Jasper Remus, a small town banker, is well filled by J. MacDonald, popular with Paramount fans.

Alaskan Production Coming to Grand

Alaskan Production Coming to Grand

That heretofore northern pictures will actually be made in the northern countries where the scenes are laid, one of the all-star casts of "The Chechahcos," the Alaskan made production which will be shown at the Grand theatre Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. In an interview right after Mr. Webster returned to the states he declared:

"During the time I was in Alaska I was constantly being asked what I thought of the country. Words are inadequate to express just what I do think of it. Robert Service said that God was tired when he made it, but I do not agree with him on that point. I believe that God made Alaska first and then rested, because after the job he must have been in need of rest."

"Somewhere in the Bible there is a quotation about 'resting on the seventh day.' I think it must have been on this particular day that he completed the task of creating Alaska. For the past few years my home has been in Hollywood, and I like it there very much. But what I like and dislike has nothing to do with the future of the motion picture business, as I see the handwriting on the wall.

"The majority of producers agree that the scenery in and around California has been photographed from every conceivable angle, to try and make it appear new, but the regular theatergoer always recognizes the California-made product."

Under the Red Robe At the Oregon Today

William Faversham, who created the role of Gil de Berault, in Charles Frohman's stage production of "Under the Red Robe" some years ago, introduced over the million and a half dollar screen version of this famous story by Stanley Weyman. In this great masterpiece which opens at the Oregon theatre on Tuesday, the role of Gil de Berault is interpreted by John Charles Thomas. Robert B. Mantell plays Cardinal Rich-effin and Alma Rubens appears as Renee.

"I have heard a great deal about this screen version of "Under the Red Robe," said Mr. Faversham, after seeing the film on Broadway. "and expected much of it. I was totally unprepared, however, for the amazing spectacle I witnessed. It is a great picture, a feast for the eye and acted flawlessly. Never before have I witnessed such gorgeous stage settings.

"The original stage production was a big success in its time and ran for more than two years at the Empire theatre. The masterpiece of Stanley Weyman, however, has much wider scope on the screen. The magnificence and the great massive scene which the story entails can be more fittingly represented in a film than could be possible on the speaking stage. "Under the Red Robe" on the screen is absolutely correct in every respect as to costuming and scenery. The work of every member of the cast is to be commended."

A Son of the Sahara Now at Oregon

Production of "A Son of the Sahara," which will be shown at the Oregon today, brought an early tourist season to Biskra, Algeria, where the film was made. The knowledge that such favorites as Bert Lytell, Claire Windsor, Walter McGrail, Rosemary Theby, Montague Love and Paul Panzer were among the company, having reached the public of France and England, resulted in the overcrowding of the three first class hotels of Biskra, a favorite resort among travelers.

The managers of the Hotel Royal, the Palace Hotel and the Hotel Transatlantique reported overcrowded conditions three months before the tourist season usually begins. Director Carewe and his company played to large audiences whenever they went on location in or near Biskra. Even when the company went far afield, tourists in automobiles, on horseback and on camel back brought up the rear of the procession in considerable numbers.

All were greatly interested in "the people of the cinema" and cameras were constantly clicking back of the location lines.

DENIES ROBBERY CHARGE

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., June 28. Max Greenberg, alleged master mind in the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Chicago, June 12 last, in a statement made public by his attorney, Charles A. K. Arch, former United States district attorney here, denied taking part in the robbery, and asserts the charge against him is a "conspiracy" to injure his career.

WALKED WITH CANE NOW ACTIVE AGAIN

Korex Compound Helps Old Woman Regain Her Energy.

"I hardly use my cane any more," says Pollyan Rainey of Pueblo, Kentucky, "and because of using korex compound will soon be able to lay my cane aside altogether. I feel 15 years younger. Talk about vitality—I now have plenty and to spare. Anything that will help a person like me would help most anybody else."

Weak and tired-out women and men are praising the marvelous invigorating effects quickly experienced after taking korex compound. Many say the benefits are permanent and lasting. Sufferers from muscular pains, stiff joints, lack of appetite, lessened vigor and early old age will be interested in learning that the American distributors of korex compound, the Melton Laboratories, 545 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., have arranged for korex compound to be sold in Capital Drug Store at 405 State St., Salem, Ore.—Adv.
