Cooperation between the Salem chamber of commerce and the Albert estate to obtain a trout hatchery along the north fork of the Santiam river, near Mehama, is being sought from the Oregon state game commission since it became known that at a recent meeting of the commission another hatchery would be established. Several years ago when the question was decided upon, the McKenzie river was selected as the site. This river already has one hatchery.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 2.—(By the AP).—Adjournment of the extraordinary general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church (South), without action on the proposal for unification with the Methodist Episcopal church, loomed as a possibility tonight. The situation grew out of an all-day debate on a resolution providing for another conference in May 1925, its adoption would leave the delegates with nothing to do; for rules adopted previous and business can be transacted now.

HATCHERY ASKED ALONG SANTIAM

Albert Estate Offers to Cooperate With Chamber and Commission

Cooperation between the Salem chamber of commerce and the Albert estate to obtain a trout hatchery along the north fork of the Santiam river, near Mehama, is being sought from the Oregon state game commission since it became known that at a recent meeting of the commission another hatchery would be established. Several years ago when the question was decided upon, the McKenzie river was selected as the site. This river already has one hatchery.

Marion county has no trout hatchery, though there is a salmon hatchery near Mehama. As central distributing points are the aims of the commission in establishing a hatchery, the chamber of commerce is pointing out the advisability of creating one in the county.

The Albert estate owns land along the banks of the north fork of the Santiam as well as land along the little north fork beyond Mehama. A frontage of several miles is controlled by the estate, which has offered to give the game commission the use of any land necessary in addition to cooperation wherever possible.

PRICES PAID FOR PICKLING CUKES

The Small Ones Bring Much Higher Prices Than Big Ones for That Use

The prices at which the Portland pickle factories have been contracting for cucumbers for their use in the Salem district have run about like this:

No. 1, $50 to $60 a ton. These are under two and a half inches long.

No. 2, $30 a ton. These are two and a half to four inches long.

No. 3, $10 a ton. These are cucumbers four to five and sometimes five and a half inches long.

There is money in growing cucumbers here at the above prices.

None on Beaverdam Land
But none of the Labish growers are raising cucumbers this year on their beaverdam land. The contracts in this section are mostly with growers around Woodburn and Gervais, and in Linn county near Albany.

The Labish Meadows growers think they can make greater profits on head lettuce and celery and other crops.

Last week, these growers sent to market their first considerable shipments for this year of celery. They sent over 100 crates; but they did not come any where near filling the demand. They cannot get it to maturity fast enough to satisfy the craving of the celery hungry people who want it.

LAMBERT CARLOAD UP FOR BIDDERS

Experiment to Be Staged With Packed, Pre-Cooled Lot of Fruit

All packed, pre-cooled and ready for shipment, the first carload of Lamberts in the black cherry pool will be put up to the highest bidder today. O. E. Brooks, who has charge, said yesterday that he had received many requests to get in on the bidding.

With favorable weather conditions between eight and 10 carloads of cherries will be handled by the pool. If it turns too hot and the fruit begins to ripen too fast, the balance of the fruit in the pool will be destined for the canneries.

While quantities of cherries have been sent to Washington, Montana and Denver by the pool, and it is believed that all the cherries could be handled in this manner, it was decided to put up one full car and see what happens.

Gaston Means Is Sentenced To Two Years in Prison

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 2.—Sentenced to serve two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $10,000 and $5,000, respectively, for conspiracy to release whiskey illegally from distilleries, Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, and Elmer W. Jarnecke, his secretary, tonight were sent back to the Tombs, unable to furnish bail.

Over ruling motion for a new trial, federal judge Wolverson imposed the maximum penalty. Counsel for Means and Jarnecke then filed a writ of error.

VICE CHARGES HELD GOSSIP

Liquor ring who is apparently a welcome visitor at police headquarters" as Mrs. Landes charged. Mayor Brown gave statistics showing the number of arrests, fines and sentences during June and May.

"It may be gratifying to you to know that Captain Claude G. Bannick, acting chief under Mrs. Landes, said he found the city in good condition and nothing really really wrong but that the chief of police was handicapped through lack of men and equipment" the mayor quoted.

Jap Who Cut Down Flag Is Arrested; to Be Jailed

TOKIO, July 2.—Rihel Okada, aged 21, was arrested at Osaka this afternoon under a charge of cutting down the flag of the United States at the American embassy here yesterday.

Tokio police asserted tonight that Okada was a member of a society for the prevention of Bolshevism.

The criminal code prescribes a maximum of two years imprisonment for a crime such as that Okada is charged with committing and the authorities intend to ask that Okada be given the limit.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

McAdoo will in—
And he'd be it but for the oil.
We must raise more cukes; both kinds, hot house and pickle.
There is money in cucumbers, and there will be a lot more, if we will organize pickle factories here, as we should.
The flax pullers are scheduled for Friday night for Salem. But they may roll in today or tomorrow. Are being traced and pushed.
Getting warm, a linen mill for Salem. And a yarn and twine mill. And Dr. Diemel specialty mill. That will be three. A good start, employing three or four thousand people. But only a start. Once started, there will be many. The time is ripe.

There will be linen mill millionaires in Salem. They will grow fast. The time will come when the big talk here will be flax and linen, as in Belfast. We will have the highest class and the highest paid laborers in the world for an industry of that size, and there will be a million of them, directly and indirectly, and an annual turnover of $100,000,000 annually; outside money coming to Salem, for what we can grow on less than 100,000 acres of our land, for the raw product.

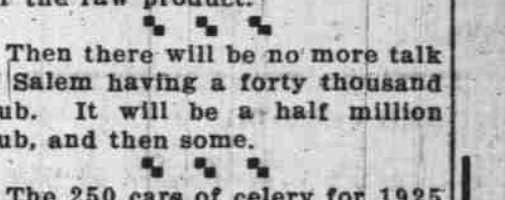

Then there will be no more talk of Salem having a forty thousand club. It will be a half million club, and then some.

The 250 cars of celery for 1925 for the Labish district are beginning to roll. The Million Dollar Highway is in sight.

Scientists say there is no life on the moon. Perhaps the moonshine has killed them all.
