EFFORT TO GET BEST IS MADE

Exceedingly Attractive Fruits and Vegetables in Salem Just Now

"We never spare any expense to get the very best for our customers," said a leading groceryman yesterday in Salem, and if the housewives would come down with their baskets in the good old way and look over the offerings, they would realize the truth of this statement.

It is hard to keep the appetite of the family up to par this time of the year. It takes more thought than in the early spring, so a housewife is sometimes "put to" cutting Peerless bread. They like it better than candy, cake, or cinnamon toast. Well, you have missed a treat if you don't eat this bread. You must try it. It is so wholesome and tasty—mother's delight!

to know just what to prepare for the family.
Fresh vegetables have their appeal. They are a necessary part of the diet and should be purchased even at an increased price for the sake of the health of the family. The grocery man in Salem keeps their foodstuffs under sanitary conditions. The spray is very popular here and the merchants work constantly at their stock. The general public appreciates the effort the merchants make to keep the vegetables and fruits in first-class shape and this appreciation is evidenced by the fact of the large sales.

Wax beans, string beans, carrots, beets, turnips, along with a host of other vegetables are found in the stores in abundance, fresh supplies coming in every day.

Peaches and plums occupy first place in the fruit line. Watermelons are coming a shorter distance now and are better. Loganberries are plentiful and should be used freely. A lovely fruit whip can be made from these without cooking. In fact, almost any fruit in this class can be used for a whip. The less number of eggs used the longer necessary to whip the fruit, but women are not so busy socially these days.

If any member of the family is lacking in appetite, let that member do the shopping, and when the stores of Salem are visited the appetite will return.

New Housing Experiment Brings Sunshine, Fresh Air and Beauty In Reach of Every Woman's Purse

Scene in Typical Metropolitan Apartment

Beauty, convenience, and health-promoting sanitation of dwelling construction for groups of families need not be expensive. It is just as easy to design an apartment house with sewer gardens in the inner court and shrubs along the sidewalk as it is to leave a bare patch of earth that will soon become a dump for ashcans, old shoes, and broken dishes.

This sun-kissed window is the proud possession of a New York business woman who occupies one of the model apartments recently constructed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as a demonstration of healthful, inexpensive housing conditions. For $18 a month she enjoys this two room and bath apartment and has all the comforts of a neat, attractive home.

This problem of a modern apartment, adequately lighted, heated, and ventilated, and yet requiring only moderate rental, has been solved for more than two thousand business women and married couples, in Greater New York. What has been accomplished there can be worked out, with necessary local variations, in any wide-awake community. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has made creases, however, ranging from two per cent in Columbus, Denver, Fall River, St. Paul, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Seattle, to one per cent in Baltimore, Boston, Bridgeport, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Louisville, Manchester, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Richmond, Rochester and Scranton, and less than half of one per cent in Butte, New Haven, Portland, Maine; Portland, Oregon and St. Louis.

Over the year period many of the cities showed a decrease ranging from four to less than five-tenths of one per cent.

Inmate Laborer Threatens Accident Commissioners

Charles Larsen, a Portland laborer, landed in the city jail Friday after he had threatened to take the law into his own hands, regardless of the consequence to himself, in order to compel the state industrial accident commission to give him additional adjusted compensation for an injury to his foot two years ago. He appeared at the office in the morning and demanded a settlement, threatening violence if he were not paid $5000 by 1 o'clock in the afternoon. He will be examined as to sanity.

Larsen was injured two years ago while working for the Zidell Steinberg company of Portland. He was granted two months compensation by the commission. Later he took the case into court and obtained an order for a larger amount. Later he appealed to the supreme court, but while the case has been pending, discharged his attorney.

TREASURE IS SOUGHT

MILL CITY, Ore., July 11.—The excavation of a large pile of rocks, which workers are sure is an ancient tomb with buried treasure and possibly contains the remains of some noted chief, is attracting much interest on the little north fork of the Santiam river, about 10 miles east of Mehama.

A large tunnel has been driven into the rocks, and the workers

CROP CURTAILMENT RAISES GRAIN PRICE

Lack of Rain in Fields Makes Wheat Take Sudden Turn in Market Prices

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11.—With the Canadian crop reported as being curtailed seven million bushels daily through lack of rain, wheat made a material fresh upturn in price today. Closing quotations here for wheat, although unsettled were 3/4 @ 1c to 1 1/2c net higher, September $1.16 3/4 and December $1.19 @ 1.19 1/2 @ 1.19 3/4; corn finished unchanged to 3/4c advance; oats, 1/4 to 1/2c up, and provisions at 5c to 27c gain.

Except for one brief setback, the wheat market kept climbing throughout the day.

South Dakota and Montgomery complaints of dry weather tended somewhat to enhance wheat values and so likewise did a bulge in prices at Buenos Aires, as well as European buying here and at Winnipeg and also at the Gulf of Mexico.

On the other hand, the government report of new wheat from the domestic harvest was steadily increasing and considerable amount of the day's sales appeared to be from hedging.

Acute scarcity of supplies of corn forced July and September deliveries to a new price record for the season. No. 2 yellow here, deliverable on the spot, commanded $1.11 a bushel, another top record.

Provisions keeping pace with corn and hogs reached new top prices for the season.

expect developments any day, having been rewarded with various signs of ancient life. No admittance is allowed to the cave at present, but considerable dynamite is used in trying to reach the supposed burying spot.

LOWER PRICES ARE DECLARED COMING

The Federal Reserve Board Points Out General Business Re-Adjustments

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—An important readjustment of business conditions characterized by decreases in industrial and trade activity and lower prices was declared by the federal reserve board tonight to be under way throughout the United States.

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production. The lowered prices have carried to every commodity except food which remains almost unchanged.

"The considerable expansion of production during the early months of 1924," the board said, "was followed by important curtailment in certain industries in response to a lessened volume of current purchases and a hesitancy on the part of manufacturers in placing forward orders."

"The recession in business activity has been accompanied since April by a decreased demand for credit for commercial purposes, and this, together with the continued inflow of gold imports, has brought about an unusual ease in the money market."

Little Difference Noted In 24 Cities' Food Prices

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—Only slight changes in the retail cost of food were noted in the 24 cities surveyed by the department of labor from May 15 to June 15 last. All showed in-

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

TIME and space would not permit one to fully answer this all-important question, but we must admit that in a name lies a power and force unexcelled, whether for good or evil, and yet strictly speaking a name does not stand for very much unless it is backed up by the indomitable courage, high ideals of the life behind it—Two hundred years ago the name Abraham Lincoln did not mean much to the folk of that age until the Great man Abraham Lincoln, emancipator, showed a world that the name of Abraham Lincoln stood for one of the noblest, grandest, highest, idealistic names in the material universe, and would ring down through the pages of history an ideal name, a power for good. Solomon, the wise preacher, once said "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." In the business world many millions have been spent to build a good name. It means something. It stands for something. "A Good Name." The inspiration of this little talk this morning was actuated by the fact of a LEHMAN'S patron having by necessity moved some two miles away, started to trade in other stores. This week they came back to LEHMAN'S in spite of distance, pledging themselves once more patrons, satisfied with their experience elsewhere, which to them was costly.
