GOOD VAUDEVILLE

Three Senators, Hayden, Hall and Snyder, known as "Representatives from laughland," live up to their billing. Their material relates to modern topics and produces much laughter.

George and Lillian Mitchell, a lithe-limbed, good-looking chap and a really beautiful cameo-faced maid comprise this duo of entertainers who present an offering consisting of songs and dances that will unquestionably furnish royal entertainment.

Why Nobody Likes a Person With Stained Teeth

Nothing will ruin a person's appearance or popularity quicker than dark, spotted, yellowish, stained teeth. Unclean or to-be-stained teeth denote untidiness and carelessness.

Side-stepping death by inches. That was Dorothy Dalton's thrilling experience during the filming of certain scenes for her new picture, "The Moral Sinner," which will be shown at the Liberty theatre today.

adapted from the stage success, "Leah Kleehna." Miss Dalton, in the title role of a clever girl apache of the Paris underworld, makes a hair-raising escape from the police by fleeing with stolen jewels over the roofs of the city.

During production, Miss Dalton had scarcely scaled the roof of the second house when a loud crash reached her ears. She did not turn around but kept right on going. The roof in back had given away, but as the damaged part of the set was out of the camera's eye as it followed the star in her flight, the scene did not register on the film.

Needless to say, Miss Dalton called for an intermission until she had sufficiently recovered from her fright. A fall would have meant serious injury and perhaps death. So there is one near tragedy in "The Moral Sinner" that audiences will never even suspect.

James Rennie has the leading man's role in the picture, which was adapted to the screen by J. Clarkson Miller. Others in the supporting cast include Alphonse Ethier, Frederick Lewis, W. I. Percival, Paul McAllister and Florence Fair. Ralph Ince directed.

A question of unusual interest to women has arisen in Hollywood. Is "fainting," ostensibly one of woman's greatest weapons, used more often in the defense or in offense?

A discussion took place in the film city as to whether women pretend more often to demand the attention of men or to rid themselves of such attentions.

The discussion arose while a scene in "Don't Call It Love" which comes to the Liberty theatre next Tuesday was being photographed. This scene shows Agnes Ayres fainting when her lover leaves her.

"Operas are gold mines of motion picture material," says Antonio Moreno. "Because they are founded, as a rule, upon some of the world's strongest legends, they possess drama more powerful than any other story-telling medium."

"Unfortunately the majority of operas are tragedies and for that reason would not appeal to the public. Operas with happy endings which logically follow the story are ideal for the screen."

George Walsh and Helen Chadwick in "Rena" at the Oregon Tuesday.

Featured with Estelle Taylor in "Tiger Love," Moreno appears in a film which was adapted from the famous opera, "The Wildcat," by Manuel Penella, which scored a tremendous triumph several years ago on Broadway and as a road production.

"Tiger Love," a George Melford production, with David Torrence, Manuel Camere, G. Raymond Nye and others just as well known in the supporting cast, is due at the Oregon theatre today.

Do you know that: Last year 150,000 new divorces parted 300,000 men and women and changed the lives of 1,000,000 children?

That in some states every third marriage is dissolved, and the average husband and wife live together only four years?

That in spite of the Constitution some states do not recognize divorces granted in other states?

That the 48 states have 48 divorce laws? South Carolina grants no divorces at all on any grounds; New York allows one; New Hampshire 15. In this whole country there are 35 different grounds for divorce?

These are some of the interesting facts brought out by Rupert Hughes in "Reno," which comes to the Oregon theatre on Tuesday night, with an all-star cast including Lew Cody, Helene Chadwick, Carmel Myers, Hedda Hopper, George Walsh, Rush Hughes, Marjorie Bonner, Dale Fuller, Kathleen Key and other leading players.

"Code of the Sea," a Paramount picture, which comes to the Oregon Thursday featuring Rod La Rocque and Jacqueline Logan, is said to be the last word in sea stories.

The story is one of regeneration. It concerns a young lad, first mate on a lightship, a coward, regenerated through circumstance and his love for a girl. Jenny Hayden, played by Miss Logan, goes for a cruise on the yacht Neroid. It is caught on a reef in a storm and McDow (La Rocque) picks up its "S.O.S."

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Everybody works, including father—

Salem YMCA free employment bureau sent out 319 men and women to jobs during the past week.

The flax pulling machine for Riddle Bros., Monmouth, was started yesterday; working fine. Polk county has some excellent flax. In the early sown flax, throughout the Salem district, there will be a 60 per cent crop.

It is reported that the flax pulling machine of Ball Bros., Turner, has been pulling as big as an acre an hour. Riddle Bros. estimate that flax pulling by hand has cost them about $30 an acre. Surely a machine that will pull 10 acres in 10 hours, under the most favorable conditions, will justify itself; will pay for itself in one season because it does the work better than hand pulling.

Do not be surprised at seeing a mild boom in Salem when the three spinning and weaving plants get under way. And the mild boom will persist, till the cows come home.

Baz Wagner of Salem says he thinks that perhaps those stories about fish climbing trees in New Zealand grew out of some American tourist seeing a bird in a tree sitting on a perch.

"Behold the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receives the early and latter rain."—James 5:7.

That was written quite some time ago, but it fits the year 1924 and the conditions of the Pacific Northwest as well as if it had been placed on the papyrus scroll only yesterday.

A traveler riding through South Dakota during a drought, found a farmer leaning in despair against a fence watching his crops shrivel and die in the heat.

In an effort to be encouraging the traveler pointed to some clouds in the east, and suggested that they bore promise of rain.

"Them? No chance," said the discouraged farmer. "Them's empties coming back from Iowa."

Wrinkles Disappear in Fifteen Minutes! If you want to see wrinkles, age lines and sagging completely disappear from your face in less than 15 minutes, just mix a spoonful of powdered tartrool with a spoonful of lemon juice. Apply this soothing mixture to your face. Before your very eyes, while you watch in the mirror, the ugly marks of age will disappear like magic. It is most startling. Behold, now, what you looked like when young! Watch the "sagging" correct itself! Enjoy the strange, delicious sensation of stimulation, support and plump, smooth firmness!

When you wash off the application, your face looks years younger. The effect is far better than that of a face massage. Tartrool is so harmless you could eat it. From your drugist you can obtain a package containing enough to bring the cost of each treatment down below three cents.

Aged Slayer Gets Pardon At Hands of Governor

Governor Pierce has granted a conditional pardon to James Hammond, 67 years old, who 11 years ago shot and killed Ike Bloom, Portland merchant. Hammond was charged with murder in the first degree, but was allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to life in prison.

For several years he has been a trusty in charge of the prison poultry yards. A conditional pardon for him was recommended by the parole board last April.

Hammond is an ex-soldier, who served in the army from 1881 to 1890. He was a drug addict. In Portland he was employed by Bloom who later discharged him. According to a statement by the prosecuting attorney, Hammond went to Bloom's store, called him down stairs and shot him through the head. There were no extenuating circumstances it is said, but Hammond's age, which was then 50, and the fact that he used drugs probably saved him from a trial on a first degree charge.

Hammond is to be taken temporarily to the Plogah home in Portland.

Falling Off Noted in Applicants for Labor

Only 319 men and women registered at the United States employment bureau at the YMCA during the week ending July 12, according to the report of Sim Phillips, who has charge of the bureau. This is nearly 50 per cent under the previous high record established a week or two ago. Of this number 250 were men and 69 women. Calls were made for 220 men and 54 women during the week with 150 men and 29 women reporting as having accepted places.

Agricultural laborers topped the list, with 137 men and 59 women registering. There were demands for 132 men and 52 women and 79 men and 28 women reported as having been placed.

Thirty-nine common laborers were registered, with demand for 35. Of this number 32 were placed. There were 31 men seeking work in the woods, with 23 in demand. Eleven were placed. Of the 30 farm hands calling, 28 were sought and 26 reported placed. Six chauffeurs or truck drivers registered, with two in demand. This number was reported placed. Four watchmen registered, with none in demand.
