

Cave Man Stuff

BACK near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.

The cavemen didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who could follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.

Then as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was best dressed, best fed and most contented.

There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousand years, but the principle is just the same.

The CONSISTENT reader of advertising is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life.

Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make life livable and pleasant. We owe it much.

Let's make the most of it.

PIANO HOUSE HAS RADIO COMBINATION

Phonograph and Radio Combined in New Machine at Peters and Mills

Peters & Mills Piano House, 519 Court street, has just received something entirely new in a talking machine and radio combination. This company is the local distributor for the Cheney talking machines. The new machine combines this Cheney phonograph with the radio. It is known as the Cheney console-radio combination. It is from all outward appearance a mere phonograph, and will play records just the

SAVED FROM RAPID DECLINE

Wheels of Providence Brought Me Korex Says Minister.

"I doubt whether korex has its equals in the medical world," says the Rev. George B. Pinckney of 507 Lawrence St., Burlington, New Jersey, "for in the eight years of rapid decline, I tried everything known which a poor man could or couldn't afford, and none brought relief. Each day I declined more swiftly, until the wheels of Providence brought korex compound. I'm in almost perfect shape now, and I think it a blessing to suffering humanity."

According to enthusiastic users, the benefits of korex are complete and lasting. Thousands the world over are now using this wonder compound. Weary and worn-out men and women, sufferers from muscular pains, lack in appetite, lessened vigor and low glandular activity, will be interested in learning that the American distributors of korex compound, the Melton Laboratories, 546 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., have arranged for korex compound to be sold in Capital Drug Store, 405 State St., Salem, Ore. Ask about korex compound the next time you are in this drug store.

same as any ordinary Cheney machine.

By taking off the needle attachment and the loud speaker attachment it is changed into a radio. The change requires but a moment's time. There is space provided in the cabinet for the A and B batteries, also space ample for two albums is included. This new combination represents a most attractive union of these two forms of sound reproduction. The radio part of the equipment is manufactured and guaranteed by the Federal Telephone & Telegraph company of Buffalo, N. Y.

Eugene Gets Invitation For Trip to Clear Lake

EUGENE, Or., July 22.—Waldo Anderson, of Albany, was here today to invite participation by Eugene citizens in an expedition to Clear Lake, the proposed source of water supply for the principal cities of the Willamette Valley under the project recently launched by the Pure Water Development league of which Mr. Anderson is president.

The expedition is to leave Clear Lake, which is located at the headwaters of the McKenzie river on July 31 and the trip will occupy three days. Delegates from Salem, Albany, Corvallis, Eugene and Springfield are expected to go, Mr. Anderson said.

MRS. LA FOLLETTE BELIEVES IN DOING HER OWN HOUSEWORK

This unusual photograph of Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of the senator from Wisconsin, shows her wielding a broom in her home. She insists upon doing much of her own housework. Her husband's independent candidacy for the presidency was endorsed at the Cleveland convention of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

SALEM ROBBERY SUSPECT TAKEN

Property of North Salem Resident Found in Possession of Wanderer

Through the system of photographing the fingerprints of all suspicious characters rounded up by the police at night, Frank Murphy, alias Frank Allen, was taken before the justice court Tuesday on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of a North Salem dwelling recently. Allen demanded a preliminary hearing, which will be given Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

The plan of fingerprinting all suspicious characters picked up by the police was inaugurated the first of the week and Allen was the first victim.

Murphy was found in the business district after midnight Monday by Officer Cutler. He was taken to the police station, searched and fingerprinted. Several articles in his possession were identified as the property stolen in North Salem.

Several other men applied at the station for a night's lodging. These were fingerprinted and a check made upon descriptions of men wanted by officers in other places. The investigation revealed nothing and the men were permitted to occupy quarters in the jail.

The system will be continued indefinitely, it was announced yesterday.

EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE

Paint and Education Editor Statesman: Without beating around the bush let me approach my subject: "Painted Faces and Education." Those with a baser nature are easily educated to things degrading. Those of natural refinement are equally easily educated to things elevating. The schoolroom is not a strong medium for the education of either. Religious organizations are educational mediums for one—the naturally refined, but cannot reach the other—those of our young people who today are giving expression to their baser nature by painted lips and cheeks; yea, faces enameled to the cracking point, because but few of this class come into contact with its everlasting influences. As naturally as water runs down hill so does social degeneracy seek the lowest level; no education is necessary, but on every hand there exists those influences that lead to vulgarly and all its associations.

The wise counsel at home, if there is any, is but a drop in the bucket compared to what will be necessary to stem the tide of "falling" for this "beauty stuff" that is so fast robbing our girls of their self respect, and making themselves attractive only to the baser class of society.

An educational campaign of the proportions of a community chest drive, or the like, is what these uncounseled girls need to make this "beauty stuff" so unpopular that it will be considered a disgrace to even call for a "lip stick" used it.

Is there not some organization that will come to the rescue of these unfortunate young girls, and by a campaign of education so unpopularize this degrading practice that a man may walk down the street without constantly being shocked by the apparent lack of ordinary decency as he looks into the faces of a large percentage of the young girls he meets whose age suggests that if there is ever going to be red blood in their veins it should be there now.

TWO LECTURES PLEASE CROWD AT CHAUTAUQUA

turner said that parents are prone to leave everything to the teacher, who gets the blame when this should be placed upon the homes which too often are lacking in the proper environment.

"The American race has ceased to be healthy, normal animals and because of this cannot reproduce healthy, normal children to send to school," he said. "People don't know what ails them. This is proven by the fact that $300,000,000 is spent annually for patent medicines."

The speaker likened the school to a store, with the teachers compared to clerks. Baskets filled by the children are influenced by the clerks, Mr. Ott said. He urged that more time be spent studying the pupils instead of prescribed methods of teaching.

The increase of the criminal today was held to be due to the fact that the world is breeding criminals and America is importing them.

"The boy problem today is due to too much varnish in the home and the boy is not made to feel at ease in the proper environment," Mr. Ott said in closing. He urged great immigration restrictions.

"Go make the world; don't let the world make you," was the challenge brought forth Tuesday afternoon by Sam Grathwell of Ohio. Speaking on "Getting By Your Hoodoo," he began with allusion to the witch craze in Massachusetts. "Modern hoodoos," he said, "can't be burned at the stake. We have to burn ourselves, for we ourselves are responsible for what we get out of life."

Mr. Grathwell enumerated a few of the direct of present day hoodoos, namely, pessimism, selfishness, and sensitiveness. Pessimism he defined as an expression of fear, with nothing in the world quite so paralyzing. Sensitiveness, he brought out, undermines character and makes cowards out of people. He insisted that a large part of the world had been kept down simply by the individual being afraid to speak, think, and act for himself. The fear of what others will think has left many a man a nobody.

Mr. Grathwell defined the reluctance of older people to change their trend of activity as a lack of backbone. Age is only a minor factor, he said.

LOCAL UNIT FORMED AT DALLAS MEETING

Old Cooperative Association Abandoned for New Unit to Exchange

The Polk County Cooperative union of Prune Growers meeting in Dallas on Monday evening elected the following directors: W. M. Elliott, V. S. Butz, Glen D. Haven, T. J. Alsip, Henry Voth, Edward J. Hines, Mark Hayter, and Ira C. Powell.

At this meeting, which was a reorganization session, a number from different points in the valley gave speeches. Mr. Dickson, Mr. Allen, and Mr. Silver, all of Dundee, talked on the prune situation. Others giving talks were R. H. Kipp of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, Kenneth Miller of the Oregon Growers, and Mr. Taylor of Scotts Mills.

Monday night 700 acres had already been signed up.

Next Friday the Union will meet again to elect an officer to the state exchange.

Failure of the Polk county cooperative to gain its required 70 per cent of the acreage was announced in a letter sent out to all of those who had signed up in which the signers were definitely released with permission to sign up in the proposed new local unit under the exchange plan. This letter was signed by the "Big 4" Dr. A. B. Starbuck, F. J. Craven, H. A. Woods and L. R. Chapman. The letter releasing the growers follows:

lucance of older people to change their trend of activity as a lack of backbone. Age is only a minor factor, he said.

The worst handicap that can befall man he characterized as this tragic lack of confidence in self, that indifference and cowardice that never attempts, and therefore never accomplishes. He emphasized, too, the importance of avoiding the inculcation of hoodoos in the experience of the child.

The entire lecture was freely illustrated with anecdote and incident, many of these taken from the experiences of the plucky speaker himself, who out of a slum environment rose to distinction on the lecture platform.

This afternoon and night will close the chautauqua program for the season. DeKoven's comic opera, "Robin Hood," will be the headliner and a fitting end to the program. The opera is being offered by Ray Valentine's original cast of 30 persons.

Mountain View P.-T. Will Be Host at Huge Picnic

The annual picnic of the Mountain View parent teachers' association will be held on Saturday, July 26, at the J. R. Chapman's farm, "Twin Oaks" one and a half miles west on the Wallace Road, the turn being made at the Inlah farm.

Governor Pierce will speak at the picnic which is one of the most anticipated event of the communities, Brush College, Popcorn, and Mountain View all paring over from Salem.

A sumptuous picnic dinner will be served at noon. The morning will be given over to a program and the afternoon to sports.

The world improves and even in hick towns you seldom hear show people called an "opery troupe."

Tomorrow's Statesman—

It will be the annual school Slogan number, and you will be surprised at the showing. If you have a suggestion in this field for the Slogan editor, please let him know, today.

Ball Bros. of Turner, who bought one of the flax pulling machines, are going strong towards their first 50 acres. They are now pulling for Polk county growers, around Independence and Dallas. They will make their puller pay for itself the first year, and then some, counting their own flax; about 50 acres of their own.

Supply has caught up with the demand down at the YMCA free employment bureau. But the demand will take a few jumps ahead soon, with evergreen blackberries, followed by prunes and hops and pears and apples and other things.

If you think there is anything like a crop failure, take a look at the country out Silverton and Mt. Angel way, or in any other direction. The farmers are so busy gathering in their crops that they do not have time to even talk politics.

REV. ELVIN IS TO HAVE FINE CHURCH

Cornerstone Laid for a New $60,000 Edifice at Dickinson, North Dakota

Most Salem people knew Rev. James Elvin and family when he was pastor of the First Congregational church here, and was very active in all lines of civic and booster work. He went to Sidney, N. D., from here, and then to Dickinson in that state. The following dispatch will give something of his recent activities:

Pastor Visits Old Home Sidney, July 9.—The Rev. James Elvin and family of Dickinson, N. D., have returned to their home after spending a week with friends in Sidney, their old home. Mr. Elvin expects to return to Sidney July 16 with about eight of his Boy Scouts to attend the big Scout encampment which begins the following day and continues until the 26th.

Mr. Elvin has been very successful in his church work at Dickinson. Through his efforts a $60,000 edifice is being erected, which will be one of the finest churches in this section of the country. Last Sunday the cornerstone for this structure was laid with full Masonic ceremonies by the most worshipful grand master of Masons of North Dakota, assisted by the past masters of the Dickinson lodge.
