

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Members of Salem Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., are requested to meet at the lodge room at 1:45 p. m. to go in a body to the Webb undertaking parlors for the purpose of attending the funeral services for our late brother, A. Hayward Fowle.

By order of the W. M.
J. D. Berwick, Sec.

Floor Oil Fire Proof—

The floor oil which will be used in the new J. L. Parrish Junior high school is to be of a non-flammable nature, according to L. J. Simmeral, chairman of the school board building committee. It will have the additional advantage over other oils in that it is not greasy and does not collect dirt to form a sticky gum.

Junior High Near Completion—

The finishing work is being done on the new J. L. Parrish Junior high school by the contracting firm. The expectation is that actual construction will be completed by August 9. Work of furnishing the building and placing the grounds in condition has already begun. Lockers for the use of pupils in storing books and personal school supplies will arrive about August 1 and will be immediately installed. Bids are to be opened by the board soon for screens to cover the windows of the gymnasium and blinds for the windows of the school.

School Conditions Good—

Despite complaints filed by employees of the school for adult blind at Portland, the institution is in good condition. This report was made yesterday by members of the state board of control who inspected the school Monday. Charges that Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodin had fired 26 employees and that inmates were not satisfied with conditions were found to be groundless.

Eliminate Crossings—

Seven grade crossings between Marion and Turner will be eliminated as a result of County Judge W. H. Downing declaring the proposal would be re-opened by resolution and the work will go ahead following the receipt yesterday by the county court of an order from the public service commission. The proposition died on the county court docket but under law can be re-opened by resolution. Under the ruling of the commission the railroad will pay $12,500 of the expenses of building overhead crossings. This is $2500 in excess of the amount the railroad offered to pay. The remainder will be borne by the county and is approximately the same as the railroad company's share.

One Dollar—

Puts a Free sewing machine in your home. Then small monthly payments. C. S. Hamilton, furniture, 240 Court street.

Water Meting Called—

Members of the water committee of the city council will meet tonight following a special meeting of the council to discuss the upper Santiam river proposition regarding its possible use as a source for a water supply for Salem in the future. The council some time ago authorized a preliminary survey of the watershed. Just what is being considered is not known at present as the committee is not yet ready to make its findings public. George J. Wenderoth, chairman of the committee said last night.

Asks Ownership of Property—

C. L. Ogle, defendant in action brought by W. J. Knox, yesterday filed answer of denial with the county clerk. He alleges that certain property in Woodburn under question was secured to him on a mortgage foreclosure sale. He asks undisputed ownership of the property.

Union Principal Resigns—

Mrs. F. Gayle Trieber, for the past several years principal of the Union high school near Woodburn, has presented her resignation to the district board. H. C. Leavenworth was yesterday elected to fill the vacancy.

Thomas Funeral Today—

Funeral services for the late Henry A. Thomas will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Rigdon & Son mortuary, Rev. Mr. Putnam officiating. Interment in City View cemetery.

Arguments Are Filed—

Two negative arguments opposing the workmen's compulsory compensation law for hazardous occupations were filed with the secretary of state's office Tuesday. One was submitted by the Oregon Industrial accident committee, by James W. Crawford secretary, and the other by Will T. Kirk of Portland. The Oregon public health league also filed its arguments opposing the naturopath bill. Time for filing arguments closed at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Wanted Mazzard Seedling—

Cherries. Both black and red Mazzards. Peary Bros., 237 State street.

Begins Peach Picking—

Peach picking in the Beaver Island orchards, near Wheatland ferry, is now under way. The Red Bird claims being the first to ripen. Picking of Triumphs is slated to get under way in a few days, probably by the first of the week. The former variety of fruit are in demand for table use and the latter for canning. The Triumph crop, while short this year, will be of excellent quality.

Hop Business Poor—

The hop business is "rotten" at present, according to George Dorcas, Portland hop man, who was in the city yesterday. While the red spider is creating havoc in a great many yards this year, aphids will amount to almost nothing at all because of the dry season, he said.

Fowle Funeral Today—

Funeral services for A. Hayward Fowle, of 298 North Capitol street, will be held from the Webb undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He would have been 25 years old had he lived until next Saturday. A Hayward Fowle was a member of Salem lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., the Salem De Molay commandery, and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The remains will be sent to Bellingham, Wash., his former home, where interment will take place.

Phone Changed, Call 52—

(Kiggins & Cooley) for H. M. Bueli, the Painter.

Bury Hobo Today—

Remains of Albert DeVoe, itinerant who died at the Deaconess hospital Sunday will probably remain in ignorance of his last resting place as every effort to locate any of his people or friends have been futile so far. Interment will be made today in the Odd Fellows cemetery. DeVoe was found at the hobo camp south of Salem late Saturday night by Officer Victor. It is believed that he succumbed to acute apoplexy.

Are Repairing Schools—

Repairing and decoration of the interior of the Salem school buildings is under way by a crew of six men, according to L. J. Simmeral, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee of the school board. Next week a crew will be put at work cleaning the new J. L. Parrish Junior high school, their first task to clean the windows. Upon motion of Mr. Simmeral the board recently voted to paint all the flag poles on school property, and this is also well under way. The poles have also been equipped with steel cables instead of ropes, which have strangely disappeared in the past.

Red Cross Assisting—

Since the blanks for adjusted compensation have been received in Salem by Willamette Chapter, American Red Cross, nearly 75 men have been given assistance in filling out the necessary information, according to Miss Georgia Pettit, executive secretary. In addition to the Red Cross, Brazier C. Small, adjutant of Capital Post No. 9, has helped a large number of ex-service men and kept supplies on hand.

Downing Rotary Speaker—

County Judge W. H. Downing will speak at the Rotary club luncheon today noon. As the county has practically used up the funds available under the $850,000 county bond issue in connection with its good road program scattered over a five year period, it is expected that Judge Downing will speak on some phase of this work and tell what the county court will do in the future.

Extradition Granted—

Governor Walter M. Pierce has issued extradition papers for the return to Oregon of John Fisher, wanted in Multnomah county on a charge of larceny. Fisher is being held in Seattle.

Chinaware—

On the "pay as you use it plan." This is a good opportunity to have new dishes with a small outlay of money. Hamilton's.

Trees Are Sacrificed—

Plans to transplant the two beech trees, which have been growing on the site of the new Elks' temple to the new J. L. Parrish Junior High school fell through with yesterday, when both trees were felled and the roots dug out.

Fair Files Report—

The Deschutes county fair association is the first to file its report and budget estimate with the state budget commission. According to the report of W. M. Wilson, president of the association, receipts for the two years ending December 31, 1924, were $14,877 and it is estimated that during the next two years $14,700 will be received from various sources. The budget estimate of expenses for the next biennium is $16,504.

Veterans to Picnic—

Veterans of the 162nd infantry, which served in the world war, will stage their annual get-together and reunion at the Clackamas rifle range on Sunday, August 10. The reunion will be in the nature of an all-day picnic for veterans and their families. Basket lunches are to be brought, though hot coffee will be served on the grounds.

Fine American and Imported—

China dinnerware. All open stock patterns. Buy as few or as many pieces as you desire. $1 places a full set in your home, then pay the balance in weekly or monthly payments. Hamilton's.

Will Not Extradite—

Governor Walter M. Pierce yesterday refused to grant extradition papers for the return to Tacoma, Wash., of J. B. Snow. He is wanted for failure to support his 15-year-old daughter. Snow is under arrest in Portland.

Let Contract Tonight—

Contract for the new aerial equipment that is to be added to the fire department will be let at a special meeting of the city council at 8 o'clock tonight. Five firms bid for the equipment, the prices ranging around $17,000. Some of the firms quoted prices at the factory and others f.o.b. Salem. This constituted the greatest difference in quotations. The equipment was authorized by the city at a special election May 16.

Gets Building Permit—

B. T. Maves has received permission from the city recorder to erect a brick building at 450 Front, to be used for a blacksmith shop. The building will cost $1,200.

Attend Poultry Meeting—

Several local poultry raisers will spend the remainder of the week in Corvallis for the second annual poultrymen's convention. All lectures are being held at the YMCA hut on the OAC campus. A complete program has been prepared to include some of the foremost authorities on the coast. The annual meeting of the Oregon Poultrymen's association will be held Thursday morning, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected. Among Salem men attending the convention will be A. L. Lindbeck, local newspaperman, and W. C. Conner, editor of the Northwest Poultry Journal.

Carver Moves to Farm—

William L. Carver and his wife will move to a farm about four miles south of Salem this week. Mr. Carver has been engaged in various lines of newspaper activities during the last few years.

Chimney Causes Excitement—

Considerable excitement was caused in the business district Tuesday afternoon when the fire department was called to the Hotel Bligh by a chimney fire. The alarm was received five minutes after another call had been received from 633 Ferry, also a chimney fire. No damage was done in either case. The first alarm was received at 4:25 o'clock.

Every Free—

Sewing machine sent from our store goes out with the factory guarantee. One dollar enters your name on our contract and delivers the machine to your home C. S. Hamilton, 240 Court street.

Cherrians to Silverton—

Notices are being sent to all Cherrians by King Bing Al Pierce, calling attention to the visit the organization will make to that town Thursday night. The Cherrians will stage an exhibition drill in uniform and will be accompanied by their band. As Oscar Steelhammer, director of the band, is a former Silvertonian, it is expected that his aggregation will be enthusiastically received.

Realtors Call Meeting—

Business matters needing the immediate attention of the Marion-Polk County Realty association have arisen and in order to discuss these before all members of the organization, Judge John H. Scott, president, is sending out notices of a special meeting to be held at the Marion hotel Thursday noon. The Thursday noon meetings are a regular feature of the association during the winter, but no meetings are being held through the months of July and August.

Birth Is Reported—

Grace Lois is the name bestowed upon a new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emsley Lee Reaney, 345 South Eighteenth. The baby girl was born July 20, according to the report filed with the office of the city health officer.

Mrs. Coffey Improving—

From the hospital in which she is confined comes the word that Mrs. O. G. Coffey, of Liberty, is recovering from injuries received when the automobile in which she was riding with her father near Amity went through a bridge. Her father, W. E. Lovejoy, was almost instantly killed. Mrs. Coffey received a fracture of the collar bone, several fractured ribs and a number of bruises. For a while it was feared that she had sustained internal injuries.

Missionary Is Speaker—

Rev. William H. Crafts, who recently returned from China where he served as a missionary under the Christian Alliance, gave an address at the West Salem school house last night. The subject on which he spoke was "Captured by Chinese Bandits."

Speeders are Fined—

E. Grant, of Silverton, failed to appear in the police court Tuesday to answer to a speeding charge and his $5 bail was declared to be forfeit. Frank Koetter was fined $5 for speeding.

Lions Sign Progressing—

E. Ray Felker, local commercial artists is putting the finishing touches to the big sign erected by the Lion club in the Salem auto park. Felker, who is a member of the club, has been giving all of his spare time to the painting of the sign, which is a large directory of Salem and the district. A large Lions head, the emblem of the club, tops the signboard and calls attention to the name of the donor.

"You Can't Afford to Turn It Down"

This statement has been made to many prospective buyers of investment securities. Perhaps it is true—

In either case, you CAN afford to take a little time and talk it over with us, here at the United States National and make sure as to whether the investment is what it is claimed to be or not. The bank's angle, always safe and conservative, will show you whether the proposition is an investment or a speculation.
