

PAST PRESIDENTS' RECORDS OUTLINED

Interesting Information Regarding Executives Told in Article

Gen. P. Litchfield brings to the Oregon Statesman a copy of the Putnam, Conn., Patriot, which contains this unusually interesting information about the president of the United States.

Statistics concerning Presidents of the United States, which doubtless will be of general interest because of the approaching presidential election, are found in the current issue of the World Almanac and are as follows:

Monroe abandoned the profession of law when a young man, and was afterward, and until his election, always holding public office. Jackson called himself a South Carolinian, and his biographer, Kendall, recorded his birthplace in Lancaster County, S. C., but Parson has published documentary evidence to show that Jackson was born in Union county, N. C., less than a quarter of a mile from the South Carolina line.

Widows. Their maiden names are in parentheses. She was the divorced wife of Captain Roberts. The democratic party of today claims lineal descent from the first Republican party, and President Jefferson as its founder. Political parties were disorganized at the time of the election of John Quincy Adams. He claimed to be a Republican, but his doctrines were decidedly Federalistic. The opposition to his administration took the name of Democrats, and elected Jackson president.

Randall, the biographer of Jefferson, declares that he was a believer in Christianity, although not sectarian. While President Johnson was not a church-member, he was a Christian believer. His wife was a Methodist.

Washington's first inauguration was in New York, and his second in Philadelphia. Adams was inaugurated in Philadelphia, and Jefferson and the presidents following elected by the people, in the city of Washington. Arthur took the presidential oath of office first in New York City. John Adams and Jefferson died on the same day, the Fourth of July, 1826, and Monroe died on the Fourth of July five years later. John Quincy Adams was a representative and Andrew Johnson a senator in congress after the expiration of their presidential terms, and both died while holding those offices. Tyler was a representative in the confederate congress from Virginia, and died in office.

Three Presidents Assassinated
Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were assassinated while in office. Lincoln at Ford's theater, Washington, D. C., April 14, 1865, from a pistol shot fired by John Wilkes Booth, who was killed near Frederickburg, Va., April 26, 1865, by Sergeant Boston Corbett. Garfield was shot in the Pennsylvania railroad depot, Washington, D. C., July 2, 1881, and died at Elberon, Long Branch, N. J., September 19, 1881. The assassin was Charles Julius Guiteau, who was hanged at Washington, D. C., June 30, 1882. McKinley was shot twice September 6, 1901, while in the Temple of Music of the Pan-American exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., and died from his wounds at the home of John G. Milburn, Buffalo, September 14, 1901. The assassin was Louis Czolgosz, who was electrocuted at Auburn state prison, New York, October 29, 1901.

Jackson was shot at in the Capitol at Washington, D. C., January 29, 1835, by a house painter named Richard Lawrence, escaping because the pistol of the assassin missed fire. Ex-President Roosevelt was shot and wounded by John Schrank, an insane man, at Milwaukee, Wis., October 14, 1912.

Cleveland, after taking the oath as president, kissed the open Bible, his lips touching Psalm cxli, verses 5-10, inclusive. Garfield's first act after taking the oath was to kiss his mother.

Son of President
The sixth president was the son of the second president, and the twenty-third president was the grandson of the ninth president. William Henry Harrison was the eighth and Benjamin Harrison the tenth in descent from Pocahontas and John Rolfe. Lincoln was the first president wearing a full beard. Grant was the first wearing a mustache. Buchanan and Cleveland were bachelors when they entered the White House as presidents, but Cleveland surrendered during his first term. Washington, Monroe, Pierce and Hayes were born on Friday. J. Q. Adams, Pierce and Garfield were inaugurated on Friday. Tyler, Polk and Pierce died on Fri-

Veteran of Harvard Alumni and 1918 Class Baby Attend Annual Class Day Exercises At Stadium

and Jefferson were signers of the Declaration of Independence, and Washington and Madison of the Constitution.

Grant was christened Hiram Ulysses and Cleveland, Stephen Grover. W. H. Harrison was the oldest man elected to the presidency, and Roosevelt the youngest, Grant being the next youngest by six months. Cleveland was the only president married in the White House, and his second daughter the only president's child born therein. Monroe's daughter (Mrs. Gouverneur), Tyler's daughter (Mrs. Waller), Grant's daughter (Mrs. Sartoris), Roosevelt's daughter (Mrs. Longworth) and Wilson's daughters, Jessie (Mrs. Sayre), and Eleanor (Mrs. McAdoo), were the only children of presidents married therein. Wives of Tyler, Benjamin Harrison and Wilson died in the White House. John Tyler was father of the largest family, eight sons and six daughters. Eight Presidents: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Wilson were Virginians by birth. Six Presidents: Grant, Hayes, Garfield, B. Harrison, McKinley and Taft were Ohioans by birth.

Served in Revolution
Washington, Monroe and Jackson were soldiers in the Revolutionary war; Jackson, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Buchanan in the war of 1812-15; Lincoln in the Black Hawk war; Taylor, Pierce and Grant in the Mexican war; Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, B. Harrison, and McKinley in the Civil war, and Roosevelt was in the war with Spain. Adams causes and the number of accidents were insufficient clearance, 30; falling asleep, 3; runaway team, 1. One machine caught fire and 104 accidents were listed under cause unknown.

Reviewing these offenses against the motor vehicle laws with which the courts have had to deal, it is found that out of 1232 of such offenses, 680 were speeding—that is, operating the vehicles in excess of the limits prescribed by law. Next to speeding, the reports show 78 cases of operating with switched licenses—that is, unlawfully using a license on a car which had been assigned to another car. Where no car license was found on the vehicle when operated there were 48 violations. In 42 cases penalties were imposed for reckless driving. There were 47 cases of failure to dim. The compilation shows 41 cases of overloading trucks and 41 actions where penalties were imposed for failure to comply with the public service commission requirements regarding for-hire cars or trucks. In illegal parking cases penalties were imposed on 25. Failure to have tail lights caused 26 arrests and operating with one headlight contributed 11 cases. For operating on a void license there were 18 cases; driving without a chauffeur license, 10; improper use of dealers' license, 17, and without an operator's license, 47 cases where the courts imposed penalties. There were 21 cases of driving car while intoxicated and 8 cases of auto theft. Failure to give right-of-way numbered 7, and there were 11 instances where the owner of the vehicle was penalized for allowing a minor to drive his car. There were 7 cases of operating car without lights and one case of improper spotlight. Some 9 cases of transporting liquor and 3 cases of possession of intoxicating liquor. One case of insufficient rubber on tires; three cases resulted from not allowing sufficient clearance; five cases for operating car with one license plate; one for failure to report accident; one case of failure to register foreign car, and one case where insufficient license fees were paid. There were 10 penalties imposed for failure to provide mirrors on trucks, as the law requires; one of improper load; one of improper license plates; one of driving under the age limit; two for passing a car on a curve; two for failure to obey officer; three for not having operator's license on person, and two cases of inadequate brakes.

The state traffic officers during the period rendered assistance in 132 cases; they also issued 9,008 warnings in cases where the infraction of the law was not considered sufficiently flagrant to warrant arrest. There were 1232 arrests made by the state inspectors for traffic violations, and in 11 of their cases the courts imposed jail sentences.

The total fines imposed by the courts for traffic violations reported during the period of the reports amount to $21,318.25, and the license fees secured through the activities of the state traffic officers amount to $49,642.64. The value of the stolen cars recovered by state traffic officers during the same period was approximately $21,270.

E. E. May and son Billy have returned from a motor trip to Crater Lake and Oregon Caves. Mr. May reports the road to be in a fine condition.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

New building goes—
The $200,000 campaign of the Salem Y. M. C. A. is one of the next big things on the tapis.

It has earned its place in the high esteem of the community by actual service, and it deserves the new building.

Sheep is the Slogan subject tomorrow. Big thing. If you can help, do so.

Have you driven out on North Fifth street lately? It is worth your while, to see the beautiful homes; especially those beginning with the 1700 block, on the west side of the street. All the homes out there are inexpensive, but they are well kept, with beautiful flowers and lawns and gardens. Not the flowers and garden of John L. Stix, at 1765 North Fifth. They show evidences of taste and painstaking care and work that is a labor of love. You will say that the garden is a model garden, in both its beauty and its abundance. It is not large, but every square foot of ground is well filled.

Mr. Ding Batt, of North High, says the man at the next table thinks the daily dozen refers to ears of corn.

A cablegram from Germany tells of a deer that caused a disastrous automobile accident. Salem barber says over here dears cause them.

Salem garage man says balloon tires make auto riding as easy as two drinks make it seem.
