

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Traffic Violators Fined—Speeding cost J. R. Sherwood of Eugene just $20 when he appeared in the justice court Wednesday. Miss Mabel St. Pierre was fined $10 for the improper use of license plates. She was arrested by State Traffic Officer Kenne-bloom, when she was found driving a machine with dealer's plates attached.

Dance—Auburn hall, Thursday, July 31. Good music. 31*

Gets Building Permits—Building permits were issued Wednesday to J. P. Strimman for a dwelling at 220 Myers to cost $2700 and to Harry Chadwick, who will spend $1000 altering and repairing a dwelling at 497 North Eighteenth.

Reckless Driver Fined—Hitting a boy riding a bicycle proved costly for Ralph Burroughs of Salem, who was fined $25 on a charge of reckless driving in the justice court yesterday. In addition the officer who made the arrest, when he found that the boy's bicycle had been badly damaged, learned that it would take $20 to repair the vehicle and forced Burroughs to pay the bill. The boy was not injured.

Our First Shipment—Of the famous Meadowbrook hats are now arriving. The French Shop, 115 N. High St., Masonic Temple. 31*

Joint Picnics Planned—Plans for two joint picnics have been placed in the hands of the fellowship committees of the Rotary club by T. E. Kay, president. The first of these affairs is the annual joint picnic with the McMinnville Rotary club and the other, which is contemplated, a joint picnic with the Kiwanis and Lions clubs of Salem.

Name Portland Man—Announcement of the appointment of J. F. Cassidy of Portland as an inspector in the automobile department was made yesterday by the public service commission. Mr. Cassidy will probably be assigned to the southern Oregon district.

Domino Electric Irons—A good value for $6.50; our price $5. C. S. Hamilton. 31*

Wants Uniform Rates—Establishment of uniform freight rates for for-hire truck

operators is being sought of the public service commission by Clyde F. Spooner, secretary of the Portland Draymen's and Warehousemen's association.

Governor at Fair—Governor Walter M. Pierce spent Wednesday afternoon at Gresham, where he attended the annual Multnomah county fair. He is expected back in his office today.

Salem Man Inspector—R. C. Halley of Salem was appointed today as a traffic inspector of the automobile department of the public service commission. Halley will work the district south of Salem. The traffic department of the public service commission is not concerned with traffic violations other than those connected with "for hire" cars and those for which public service permits are granted. Three inspectors are now working under the commission.

Railroad Seeks Stages—No application for permission to operate a fleet of five automobile stages has been received by the public service commission from the S. P. & S. railroad in Portland. It is announced. The commission has been aware that the railroad has contemplated such a move and has suggested to the railroad, in view of present conditions, that such a move is the only salvation for the railroad, particularly the Oregon Electric. It was also suggested that these stages should be operated between Eugene and Cottage Grove, Oakridge, Mill City, Dallas and other communities not on the direct line of the railroad, as more passengers and freight must be forthcoming if the railroad is to continue.

Dresses $10.00—We are offering a few dresses including satins, satin Cantons, Roshanara, etc. Values up to $25.00 while they last for $10.00. The French Shop, Masonic bldg., 115 N. High. 31*

Hearing Dates Set—Hearing dates for six cases to come before the public service commission have been set as follows: Elimination of grade crossings in Bay City, at Bay City, August 12, 10 o'clock; grade crossing, S. P. company, at Manhattan, August 12, 1:30 o'clock; P. R. L. & P. company electrical extension, Sandy boulevard, Portland, September 4, 12:30 o'clock; petition of state highway commission re-appointment of costs, overhead crossing at Oakland, Salem, September 5, 10:30 o'clock; petition of state highway commission re-appointment of costs, overhead crossing at Wilbur and Sutherland at Salem, September 5, 10:30 o'clock; re-demurrage charges, Silver Falls Timber company, vs. S. P. company and O. W. R. & N. company, at Salem, September 9, 10:30 o'clock.

Patterson Calls Meeting—I. L. Patterson, chairman of the republican state central committee, has called a meeting of the executive committee to be held in Portland August 7.

Boy Becomes Hungry—Because he became hungry after going without food for 12 hours, Leo Lawson, 17, one of three boys who recently escaped from the boys' training school, appeared at the home of a friend in North Salem Wednesday with the request that L. M. Gilbert, superintendent of the school, be notified. The three lads, including Tom Mills, 17, and Charles Voyles, 17, made their escape from the school when a freight train passed by at a low rate of speed. The boys were working in a garden near the track and could not resist the temptation to steal a ride. Law-

Thomas Recovering—Reports from his home last night were to the effect that Lloyd L. Thomas of West Salem was making satisfactory progress and would soon recover from his accident. While working at the Salem Sand & Gravel company plant of Tuesday morning Thomas was buried beneath two feet of sand when he slipped through a chute into a sand bunker. At the risk of his own life Chris Kingwall, another employe, plunged into the bunker and gave assistance in extracting Thomas.

Silverton Man Fined—In the police court Wednesday, John Loughmiller, of Silverton, was fined $5 for speeding. He was arrested by Officer Wild.

Domino Electric—Irons now $5 at Hamilton's, 31*

Fire Department Called—Another fire on the Oregon Electric trestle called out the fire department about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. There was little damage done. Another call took the department to the home of Mrs. Mark Skiff, where some smoke was reported. Again there was no damage.

Births Are Reported—Hereafter and henceforth, Salem newspapers will be more careful in accepting birth reports over the telephone. For August Schuky, who was reported as being the father of triplets Tuesday, denied the increase to his family and is looking for a practical joker. The report was given over the telephone by a man purporting to be the physician. It was accepted in good faith and the correspondents for Portland papers all used the bit of news. Bona fide births, reported to the office son reported that the other two were hiding in the brush near the packing plant, but a search failed to disclose their whereabouts. It is believed that they left the vicinity on a freight train.

$5 Buys the—Domino Electric iron at Hamilton's. 31*

Rafferty Is Lions Speaker—T. A. Rafferty, chief state traffic officer, will address the Lions club at its regular luncheon at the Marion hotel Friday noon. He will have as his subject, "Traffic Rules and Regulations." State Traffic Officer Williams, who was transferred from the middle west, is now a regular attendant at the luncheons, as far as his duties permit. Lion Williams threw a bad scare into one of the Eugene Lions at the charter night presentation in Lebanon last week. The appearance of a traffic officer, coupled with a guilty conscience, gave a severe shock, until the officer was introduced as Lion Williams.

Bishop Johnson Speaker—C. A. Kells, general secretary of the YMCA, received a letter yesterday from Bishop E. S. Johnson of Cape Town, South Africa, accepting an invitation to speak at the union services in Willson park Sunday afternoon. Bishop Johnson will be in Salem at that time to attend a conference at the Center Street Methodist church. The services will begin promptly at 4 o'clock. Further arrangements, regarding the person in charge and the music, have not yet been completed, but will be announced in a day or two.

Mahogany Chairs—And rockers, extra special. See window display at Hamilton's. 31*

Boy Scouts Leaving—The advance guard of Boy Scouts left for the summer camp at Cascadia Wednesday, the remainder leaving Friday morning to put the camp in shape. Eight local boys were in the party, accompanied by Harold Ware, field scout executive for the Seattle council, who is to be camp director. A. R. Boyles of Corvallis will be camp cook again this year. Several automobiles are needed for transportation of the troops to Cascadia, which is beyond Lebanon and about 75 miles from Salem. Anyone having a machine and who is willing to take some of the boys is asked to get in touch with scout headquarters in the Oregon building by telephoning 455. The camp will be in session August 1 to 16, and is the first under the four-county merger of the Willamette valley Boy Scout council.

Kays Funeral Held—Funeral services were held from the Webb funeral parlors Wednesday afternoon for the late Thomas H. Benton Kays, Salem pioneer resident, who died Sunday. Mr. Kays was 71 years old and had lived here since he was a small boy.

Many at Indian School—Though the Salem Indian school at Chemawa is closed for the summer, nearly 400 Indian boys and girls are spending their vacation there rather than travel the long distance to their homes. Many of the students live in Alaska. During the school year there are approximately 1000 students at Chemawa, according to chief George Bent, disciplinarian.

Newhouse Named Manager—M. J. Newhouse is the new manager of the North Pacific Cooperative Prune Exchange, organized in Portland this week. Offices will probably be opened in Portland about August 15 and prices will be quoted from there. While much of his time will be spent in Portland, Mr. Newhouse expects to be in Salem often. A man will be here in charge of the Salem office and handle the business until the old Oregon Growers are merged into the new exchange.

Auto Catches Fire—Nearly $600 damages to a fine Hudson automobile resulted when the machine caught fire in front of the Doerfler farm Tuesday.

Nurse Loses Luggage—Beginning a vacation by losing her suitcase and traveling bag was the lot of Miss Marie Gliss, a nurse from the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland. Just after arriving to spend her vacation with Mrs. Gordon Black, her sister, Miss Gliss accompanied her hosts to the band concert Tuesday night. The party left their automobile parked on Summer near Court street, and stepped over to view the Waite memorial fountain. Upon returning about 30 minutes later not only her baggage, but the automobile as well was found to be missing. The matter was immediately reported to the police.

Leave for Clear Lake—Fred A. Williams' and four other Salem men will leave for Albany today where they will join the caravan to Clear Lake. Owing to the fact that the trip will consume three days, others of the special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to investigate the Clear Lake site as a future prospect for the city's water supply, will be unable to attend the tour. The party will spend one day going, one day at Clear Lake and the other day will be consumed in returning. Representatives from Salem, Corvallis, Eugene and Albany will compose the caravan.
