CHEVROLET SALES CONVENTION

G. L. Newton, manager of the Newton Chevrolet company, local Chevrolet dealers returned early in the week from Oakland where he attended the sale convention of the Pacific coast dealers. He stated that the factory announced and assured the dealers that they were anticipating no material change in the Chevrolet and that the present model would be continued. "They are aiming to improve the car but get away from the yearly model," said Mr. Newton. There were 21 dealers at the convention from the Northwest. The 1925 Chevrolet model will be shown and announced for the first time at the automobile show in New York in January it was learned.

MAKES APPEAL FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

Money Being Raised to Build Near Boys' Building

Ada Wallace Unruh, campaign manager, has made an appeal for the new building for the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis. The fund is now being raised. Five thousand dollars was raised at the Multnomah fair and two thousand is available from the Mothers' day offering of last spring, and a fine location has been secured for a bazaar at the State Fair at Salem next month.

ant provision for the delinquents and many dependent children in the past have for lack of provision for dependents, been placed with delinquents and naturally have learned their ways, a loss to good manhood and womanhood, and an expense to the state.

SALEM IS TALKED ALONG THE COAST

People Beginning to Look Toward City Linen Mill Brings Inquiries

Salem is one of the most discussed cities along the Pacific coast, according to one prominent local realtor. The large amount of building, noticed by tourists as they pass through the city, the camp grounds and the great fruit industry, all attract attention and as a result the fame of the city is broadcasted north and south. Of particular interest to realtors is the practical assurance of a linen mill here next year. The flax industry has received much publicity up and down the coast and already realtors are receiving inquiries regarding prospects for rent, prices of property and other pertinent questions. Though things have been a little quiet during the summer, other realtors are strong in their belief that business in the next month will pick up to a remarkable extent. Rural properties are slowly moving, but this is hailed as a fine sign, and shows activity at least.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

TRAFFIC CONGESTION
Commonest causes of traffic congestion in cities are:
Narrow streets from former times.
Building populations too great for the capacity of adjacent streets.
The lack of zoning with reference to use, height and bulk of buildings, so as to preclude the creation of traffic congestion, caused by the use of the streets by such building tenants, especially at morning, noon and evening hours.
The lack of platting ordinances which would prevent the creation of new subdivisions with streets which are too narrow for ultimate use.
The inadequacy of arterial thoroughfares, present and postponed.
The lack of a comprehensive plan within which can be included each of the several creative and preventive measures suggested above.

POLLUTED WATERS KILL FISH

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 9.—Fish are dying by millions in Danish inland waters, due, it is explained, to the unusually long and severe winter, which made the waters stale and rotten. Industrial establishments dump much of their refuse into the waters, but ordinarily this does not harm the fish as the obnoxious gases escape. Last winter the lakes and canals were frozen for five months and the gases could not escape until the ice melted.

ONE WAY TRAFFIC

The one way traffic which took effect in Portland recently is working out very satisfactory from reports from those who have observed the traffic conditions in that city. There is less confusion than was anticipated and one can now drive through the congested district in less time than before. Some of the people in Salem are looking forward to the time when (even with our wide streets) Salem will need to have a one way traffic ordinance. These people expect to see Salem larger than Portland in time.

mine owner, and which is said to be the greatest commercial undertaking ever attempted single handed in Ireland.

YES TO BE SURE

But why buy a substitute for real sewer pipe, when you can get the best for the same price. Use burned clay vitrified sewer pipe. Soil acids will not disintegrate them, nor will the acids formed by the decomposition of sewage destroy them. Burned clay materials have been used for centuries and still lead—they will persist when the manufacture of substitutes is discontinued.
