FARMING CONDITION

Noted Expert Declares That American Agriculture Is Rounding Corner

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.-American agriculture has just turned a corner, Dr. David Friday, Washington, D. C., economist and former cultural college, declared tonight 23c. in an address before the American Association of Joint Stock Land

"It is the final turn to the right that lands out of the slough of depression onto the high road of prosperity," he asserted. "It may be that we are facing a decline in the general price level of all commodities during the next decade or two. It is certain that we will not again see the general upswing of prices which occurred between 1897 and 1914.

"In 1897, in consequence of destructive frosts in the spring, and heavy rains all summer in France and England, the price of wheat brought about free selling of rose rapidly and our export sur- wheat here today and prices plus, unprecedented in volume, dropped to a new low on the pres sold at a good price. The result ent downturn. At the finish wheat was prosperity for the farmer and was 3@4 1-8c off with Septema revival in American industry ber $1.20 1-4 to $1.20 8-4 and De-not hold, because agricultural production in America was outrunning this country' ability to consume it. In 1896 the improved land had more than doubled in area compared with 1870. In 1891 the wheat crop had exceeded more than 600,000,000 bushels. When the depression of 1893 reduced purchasing power, prices went to ruinous levels.

"Prices began to rise after August of 1896, when news came of a crop failure in India. The next year a scorching drouth in France and a wet harvest in Russia and in the Danube valley cut the European crop. America had a good yield and prices advanced still further.

"The resultant business revival was arrested for a brief space in 1905-08, but the general trend of prices was upward until 1910. This year initiated an era during which the number of farms actually died. There are today fewer farms and fewer persons farming than there were 14 years ago.

"The likelihood is that the supply of their products will increase barely as rapidly as the mouths to be fed. We will, therefore, have a duplication of the situation which prevailed from 1897 on. In that period the prices of farm products rose more rapidly than those of other commodities.

"If the general price level of commodities should decline, what has been said here will lead to WE ARE NOW IN OUR NEW LOCA the conclusion that farm prices will decline less than other prices. There is already some evidence that this is taking place. In April, returned home Monday from a Highland Friends' church, Rev. group has held top place with 40 1923, farm products stood at 141 In July, 1924, the latest month for all studies for all the girls at available, the price level for all commodities stood at 147, a decline of 12 points from the high-Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kron of est level reached since the depression of 1921; but farm products are still at 141.

"American agriculture has seen progress which was never before witnessed by any group which tilled the soil. The impression that the American farmer has been going from bad to worse is arrant nonsense. He is a member of an industry which has done well by him in the past and which promises him increased progress and well-being for the future."
