Dr. and Mrs. F. Steele Gilbert and Miss Adella Chapler are spending a few days at Newport. This winter Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert expect to go to California for a trip. They will be guests of Mrs. Gilbert's brother in Los Angeles.

Mrs. E. T. Botsford has just received word of the arrival of her daughter, Miss Irma Botsford, in Honolulu where she will be engaged in high school work for the winter. Miss Botsford sailed from San Francisco on the "Maui" on August 20.

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 8 o'clock in the evening when Miss Bessie Buell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Buell, became the bride of Mr. Clifford L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, four miles west of Salem.

The wedding march, with violin obligato, was played by Mrs. A. J. Smith and Scire Buell, sister and brother of the bride. The bridal couple took their places under an arch of ferns and cosmos where Rev. E. H. Shanks, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ring ceremony. The bride was becomingly gowned in white crepe de chine and silver lace and carried an arm bouquet of white asters and fern. After the ceremony refreshments were served to about 35 guests.

Mrs. Elizabeth Levy and Mrs. S. Levy were Portland visitors Thursday and Friday. Miss Levy attended the opening of her new studio in Portland at the Bush & Lane building.

A rummage sale to be held Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20, is the first of the money making activities planned for the winter by the Business and Professional Women's club and all of its members and their friends are being solicited for discarded articles of all kinds.

The club realizes that a home of its own will be one of its early needs and this season will start a fund for that purpose.

Mrs. G. A. Rockwell returned to her home in Portland on Friday after visiting with Salem relatives.

Between 100 and 150 former friends of Dr. Clarence Crane, now one of Boston's leading surgeons, met Thursday evening between 8 and 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal D. Patton, 883 Court street, for one of the most genuinely enjoyable evenings in many weeks.

The guests were greeted at the door by Clarence Crane, Jr. In the receiving line were the hosts and the guest of honor. The house was attractively decorated with gladioli and asters. Miss Luella Patton presided at the punch bowl. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. William Bell and Mrs. George H. Veers.

Inasmuch as the ingenuity of the host had arranged the affair as a complete surprise for Dr. Crane, the honor guest had no way of knowing how he almost upset the evening, delaying his arrival until 7:30 in the evening. Dr. Crane had been at Newport. The reception was successful in every particular. While none of the teachers themselves could be present, group after group of sons and daughters of the first pioneers who had known each other at the "Little Central School," which stood where the high school now is, gathered for reminiscence of every kind.

Dr. Crane's last visit to Salem up to this occasion was 15 years ago. His mother, Mrs. Alice Crane, makes her home in Portland.

"Easy Street" for the Farmer

With three or four staple crops including grain and hay sufficient to feed six or eight good dairy cows, at least 200 chickens and a few good hogs, together with ample pasturage, the way is paved to "easy street" for the farmer of industry and good judgment here in Marion county.

This is one form of diversified farming and eliminates the gamble of the one crop idea now practiced by many farmers in this community. For in this way, crops of the farm are converted into concentrates such as milk, butter, eggs and pork, thereby lessening freight charges in shipping bulk commodities to the markets.

Here at the United States National, we believe this plan worthy of consideration. What do you think about it?
