Somebody said, "Most people are more interested in a dog fight on their own road, if the dogs belong to their own community, than they are in a war in China." And that is true to a considerable extent. We like to hear most of all about the things that are happening in and around our own home. The Statesman tells you all about the doings right around where you live.

Essentially a community newspaper, owned by people in the community and published entirely in the interest of the local district (Marion and Polk counties), it fights your battles and the battles of the community in which you live, and is your best newspaper friend.

This paper receives latest wire reports of the Associated Press, the greatest and most reliable press association in the world. All the important news of the day is told briefly; charming short stories and features, exclusive reading matter for the women folks; authoritative market and financial reports; classy sport news; all about the theatres and movies. Not too bulky, handy to read. It's the home paper, par excellence.

The Morning Oregon Statesman publishes complete dependable news, features and editorials. The Statesman is first in the development of the Willamette valley—in agriculture, horticulture, berries, livestock, roads, industries, education, social welfare, and all that tends to develop and build up.

The Statesman stands forth in unqualified support of every movement or undertaking in the best interests of the Willamette valley. It carries the advertisements of the local stores.

Listen! By watching the bargain advertisements carried from time to time you can save many times the subscription price. Some of your neighbors save as high as 35 per cent of their annual buying costs each year. It pays to watch the advertisements in The Oregon Statesman—they are wonderful money savers for our readers.

The Pacific Homestead is the oldest, brightest and best farm magazine published in the Pacific Northwest. Published weekly—52 issues a year. There is a certain mark of distinction in being a subscriber to the Best Farm Magazine.

The Northwest Poultry Journal, the oldest and largest of the Pacific Coast poultry and pet stock magazines, a recognized leader in its class in the West, was established in Salem more than 29 years ago.

It contains from 40 to 75 pages each month and is well edited, printed and nicely illustrated. Among its regular writers are some of the leading poultry judges, poultry specialists and most successful breeders of the Northwest. It has always borne the reputation of being reliable and progressive. No line of poultry and pet stock breeding is neglected or overlooked in its columns. It has a fine and ably edited rabbit department and interesting articles are published from time to time on turkeys, ducks, geese, guinea fowl, and pigeons, as well as canaries and other pet stock.

The 1924 Automobile Road Maps of the state of Oregon and Idaho, show all through trunk highways and main traveled roads with mileages between towns.

The map of Oregon is printed on good bond paper and in three colors—blue, yellow and red. The map is printed in blue, gravel roads are shown in yellow and paved roads in red. This is unquestionably the best auto road map of Oregon ever published. Some of the state's best map experts helped to make this map.

The map of Idaho shows the state highway system as officially designated by the Department of Public Works, Bureau of Highways. The names and numbers of highways are given. This map is printed in blue. Every home should have these maps. They are up to date 1924 Auto Road Maps. Throw your old auto road map away. It is out of date.

BEARCATS PUT ON FOOTBALL TOGS

New material looks promising and Coach Rathbun, assisted by Lestie Sparks, should be able to develop a good machine this year as there are seven lettermen back in college around which he can mould his team. The lettermen reporting this year will be Isham, captain, Hartley, Huston, Fasnacht, Findley, Sherwood and Stolbeise.

Six Added to Faculty
Willamette university opens this fall with six new members on the faculty one of whom, Professor Horace G. Rahskopf, is a graduate of the university. This gives Willamette a teaching staff of 31 members, in addition to the credit that is given for work done under the faculty of Kimball School of Theology.

Professor Rahskopf, who enters the university as professor of public speaking, was graduated from Willamette in 1920. Many Salem citizens will remember his graduating recital, "The Terrible Meek" given at the First Methodist church. During his junior and senior years here, Mr. Rahskopf was a senior scholar in public speaking and director in debating. After receiving his degree from Willamette, he went to Boston and there received personal instruction from Dr. Curry in The School of Expression. After two years spent in this manner, Mr. Rahskopf was elected professor of public speaking in The Washington State Normal school at Bellingham. While there he also did considerable extension work in dramatic speaking throughout the state of Washington. He comes to Willamette fully prepared to uphold the high standard of the university in public speaking and debating.

Other Instructors Come
Miss Lois E. Latimer, who succeeds Mrs. Lida Brown as professor of the home economics department, is a graduate of Milwaukee-Downer college. She received her M. A. from Columbia university and then taught for five years in the State Teachers' college at Springfield, Mo., immediately before accepting the call to Willamette.

Frances B. Melton, B. M., succeeds Professor F. B. Lanner as head of the work in piano. Miss Melton, a graduate of Illinois Women's college, studied under William H. Sherwood in Chicago, under Bauer and Swayne in Paris, and under Eisenberger and Lechtitzky in Berlin. She has taught in James Millikin university, Nebraska Wesleyan university and for two years each in Manila and Nagasaki. Her recommendations from the many artists under whom she has studied are of the highest.

Assists in Languages.
Miss Edith Denise, M. A., a graduate of Lake Forest college and a post-graduate of the University of Chicago, succeeds Miss Hanna as assistant professor of modern languages. Miss Denise studied in France and Germany upon four separate occasions, and has taught in Grinnell and Lake Forest colleges and in the Universities of Indiana and Idaho. During Professor Detling's illness last spring Miss Denise taught his classes and became universally popular.

Miss Winifred McGill, who received her A. B. from McGill university in Toronto, Canada, and her M. A. from the University of Washington, assists this year in the department of English, while Miss Lola Housely, a graduate of Willamette, assists also in this department and in that of Latin.

Comes to Kimball.
In addition to the above additions to the teaching staff of Willamette, Kimball School of Theology has an added member in Dr. Donald W. Riddell, who secured his A. B. at Northwestern university, his B. D. at Garrett School of Theology and his A. M. and Ph. D. at the University of Chicago. He comes to fill the chair of Biblical languages and Old Testament history in Kimball after a year's teaching in the New Testament department of the University of Chicago's Divinity School. He and his wife will occupy one of the apartments in the Kimball building.

DAY IS GIVEN OVER TO THE SALEM YMCA
Dr. George Alden, acting president of Willamette university pledged the sincerest support of the university in every movement that would help the Y. He told of the great influence the Y had had on the boys of Willamette, giving them a new slant on practical life and "proving" to be the road that so many of them were following for their life work.

Dr. Frank E. Brown told of the boys' work program, outlining the various clubs and agencies through which the Y carries out its pledges to the youth of the community. The Y is open to every boy, without restriction as to creed or finances, and it is glad to serve all alike in one splendid fellowship. Dr. Brown called up Loyal Warner and Clarence Oliver, two Willamette students, who have been doing notable work as club leaders in the Salem Y, and both gave brief talks on their work the year to come.

ented the work of the American-ization section, showing the remarkable work done by this new and fascinating department. In a recent naturalization hearing, where one Salem Y student applicant passed with a fine commendation, his brother was poorly prepared and when asked why he didn't attend and make advantage of this service, he said that he hadn't the time. "I guess you haven't time to be a good American," was the substance of the judge's remarks, as he dismissed his case. The Salem department has had the earnest cooperation of many eminent men here. One of the last duties of the late Judge John McCourt was to give an evening to the Y. Americanization class, where he delivered a profound address on the subject.

Relation to Church Clos.
Rev. Ward Willis Long spoke of the relation of the Y to the Salem churches, saying that the two are practically one—that the Y is doing so much of the community work that must be done by any modern church if it is to function properly. He pledged the sincerest support of the churches to any program the YMCA might offer.

Pjpl Wallace presented the religious work program, and the spoke very briefly on "The New Building." W. W. Dillon, of Portland, state YMCA secretary, spoke on the general influence of the Y movement, and on the service that the Salem Y has been giving, even with its insignificant physical equipment. "But you have the men," was his earnest testimonial. Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick conducted the devotional service, presenting the Y idea of service in a particularly strong and winning light.

Everett Lisle, Willamette and Salem Y graduate, who for the past year has been physical director and boys' secretary of the Y at New Westminster, B. C., spoke briefly of his work there. Carle Abrams urged that the coming year is going to be a hard struggle, and warned everybody that it was to be a man's job to put it across.

"But of course we'll do it," he concluded.

RAILROAD MEN WILL TELL THE WHOLE WORLD

Kay in his automobile, and he led the way to and through the state flax plant, then around the state hospital grounds and out to the cottage farm and boys' training school and state tuberculosis hospital. A stop was made at the magnificent dairy barn at the cottage farm—for it was milking time. It was all necessarily a hurried trip, but the Salem men who

Steamer Caught Trying To Smuggle Contraband

DURBAN, South Africa, Sept. 15.—The customs authorities here are holding under armed guard the 1,488 ton steamer Nordmark, which sailed from Hamburg, its port of registry. One thousand rifles, a number of machine guns and a large quantity of ammunition, all undeclared in ship's papers, were discovered on board the vessel. It is assumed by the customs officials that the war material was destined for a Chinese port.
