Booth Planned for Fair— The Oregon Council of Religious Education of Marion county is arranging for a special Sunday school booth during the state fair. Persons having banners or photographs and pictures suitable for decoration purposes are urged to leave these at the Patton Brothers bookstore. The booth will be in charge of Mrs. J. M. Johnson, acting general secretary for Oregon, and Miss Gladys Emery, secretary of the Marion County Sunday school association.

Mrs. Gay Improving, Friends are Informed— SILVERTON, Ore., Sept. 16.— (Special to The Statesman.)— Silvertown friends are glad to receive word that Mrs. S. A. Gay whose home is on Mill street but who has been at the home of her mother at Springfield since her sister, Miss Ethel Conley, was killed there a week ago, is improving. Mrs. Gay accompanied by her mother who was visiting at Silvertown at the time the accident occurred at Springfield, motored to Springfield immediately after word has been received of the accident. Mrs. Gay became seriously ill and for a time it was feared that she would not recover. Silvertown friends have been notified that she is now greatly improved and will return to Silvertown as soon as she is able.

Largest Planing Mill In Existence Opened— LONGVIEW, Wash., Sept. 16.— A planing mill said to be one of the largest in the world, which has been operated by the Long-Bell Lumber company here on a test for two weeks, was formally opened today. Two dressed lumber sheds have a storage capacity of 30,000,000 feet of lumber and trackage loading facilities to accommodate 56 freight cars at one time. It has a capacity of 125,000 feet of lumber an hour.

Officer Has Close Call— While pursuing a speeder traveling at the rate of 45 miles an hour along Court street fairly early Tuesday morning, S. A. Cannon, city traffic officer, almost came to grief when another automobile left the curb a short distance in front of his fast traveling machine. Officer Cannon jammed on the brakes and slid the police fliover nearly 30 feet, the two machines coming gently together without any damage to either. The speeder took advantage of the officer's misfortune and made good his escape—for the present at least.

Two Births Reported— Two births were reported to the city health officer yesterday. These were of Wendell Dexter, to Mr. and Mrs. William J. Trudger, of Salem Heights, on September 15 and of Delphia May, to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Gottenberg, of Gervais, at the Salem hospital on September 13.

throughout the student help department of the YMCA. Coach Rathbun said yesterday that more than 50 football had already been issued, and that the squad that has turned out for preliminary practice the last two days is undoubtedly the largest that Willamette has seen in many years.

PERSONALS

Martin Schieber, of 2305 Nebraska, underwent an operation at the Deaconess hospital Tuesday. Miss Margaret Halvorsen, of Eugene, is visiting her sister, Miss Christine Halvorsen. The two young women are sisters of the late George Halvorsen, former Salem mayor.

John Rundberg is spending a few days visiting in Salem. Prior to his leaving the city about two years ago he was steward at the Chamber of Commerce for a number of years. Among Salem people attending the Pendleton Round-up is George King.

Lake Price, a clerk at the post-office, yesterday started on a hunting trip. He will not report back for duty for two weeks. William Cain, day clerk at the Marion hotel, is back on the job after spending two weeks visiting his parents in Missouri, Mont. The trip was made by automobile.

John M. Scott, passenger traffic manager for the Southern Pacific, is in the city. Mr. Scott arrived yesterday and will be joined by C. M. Ryerson, editor of the Oregon Labor Press, of Portland, spoke at the regular meeting of the labor council here last night. Gus Newbury, genial southern Oregon attorney, stopped overnight in Salem on his way home to Medford after a business trip to Portland.

J. J. McMahon, southern Oregon state traffic officer and a nominee for Jackson county sheriff, passed through Salem yesterday on his way to Pendleton, where he will be active during the Round-up.

BOOTH PREPARES FOR CAMPAIGN

Date for Start of YMCA Building Drive to Be Announced Soon

A. O. BOOTH, of the international bureau, finance committee of the YMCA, will arrive in Salem on the Shasta tonight and immediately lay the ground plans and preliminary work necessary before the active campaign to raise $175,000 for the new YMCA building is possible. Mr. Booth will remain in the city until the campaign is completed. Definite date of the opening of the campaign will be announced as soon as possible.

When Mr. Booth was here before he did not expect to be able to return to Salem before October 1, but as Fresno, Calif., is not yet ready, the Salem campaign will get under way two weeks earlier than expected, probably the middle of October.

Listing of names and work of perfecting his organization will be the first task for Mr. Booth. This generally takes about three weeks, with a final week devoted exclusively to putting over the campaign. Several contributions have been received by the committee, but the names of the donors will not be made public until a later date.

Norma Talmade Stars in "Secrets"

Portraying a character role which requires her to interpret the variations of life through four distinct stages, youth, maturity, middle and old age, Norma Talmade is adding a crowning achievement to her already notable list of successes in "Secrets," which opened at the Oregon theater yesterday and will remain through today and Thursday and Friday.

Without once losing character Miss Talmade not only lives for her audience the high lights of a complete lifetime, but she also depicts truthfully the changing customs and mannerisms of a half dozen decades. First she is Norma, a capricious young London school girl in billowing crinolines who elopes with her father's clerk on an old-fashioned high wheeled bicycle. Then she is Norma, young wife and mother pioneering in far-off Wyoming, who takes a pistol in hand and shoots to save her babe and husband.

In her third role she is Norma, minus her baby but the mother of a growing family in comfortable circumstances back in comfortable old London and fighting again, this time to save her husband from disgracing himself in an affair with a notorious beauty. Lastly, she is Norma, wrinkled, white haired and marked with the battles of a lifetime, but still fighting—fighting at the bedside of her husband to save his life, and succeeding.

There have been far more pretentious films photographed, but none more gripping in their tender love theme—none more arduously or sympathetically pictured. In "Secrets" Miss Talmade has accomplished something of which she may well be proud.

STUDENT BODY LOOMING LARGE

Matriculation at Willamette Reaches 519 on First Two Days

By 5 o'clock Tuesday evening matriculation at Willamette had reached the total of 519, of which 251 were women and 268 men. This, according to college authorities, is not only deemed to be a much larger registration than for the corresponding first two days of last year, but the proportion of the men to the women is more nearly even than is ordinarily found. More of the old students in proportion to the new, both among the men and the women, are back this year than was the case last year.

Miss Frances Richards said that, due to the sororities taking in an increasing number of women, there was still room for a few women at Lausanne hall. The fraternities are filling up rapidly, while the balance of the out-of-town students are cared for increase in street car fares in Salem and Eugene will become effective Monday, September 22, since it is apparent that the public service commission will not enter an order for permanent suspension of the increase. The proposed increase is generally spoken of as an increase from 6 to 7 cents, but inasmuch as four rides are sold for 25 cents it is contended that the increase is really only a quarter of a cent.

SALEM TAXATION RATE IS LIGHT

Only Four Cities in State Pay Less; Fourteen are Paying More

Among the 19 leading cities and towns of Oregon there are only four that are paying a lower millage rate of taxation than Salem. Bend is paying the highest in the state, with $2.6 mills, and Pendleton the lowest with $5.6. Salem pays 45.9. The 19 cities stand as follows:

Table listing millage rates for 19 cities: Albany 56.8, Astoria 71.1, Baker 38.3, Bend 26.6, Corvallis 52.0, Eugene 51.7, Grants Pass 71.1, Gresham 46.5, Hood River 61.9, Klamath Falls 55.7, La Grande 47.8, McMinnville 58.8, Newberg 50.3, Oregon City 67.8, Portland 40.0, Pendleton 35.6, Roseburg 42.6, Salem 45.9, The Dalles 50.7

Community Fair Receives Attention at Silvertown

SILVERTON, Ore., Sept. 16.— (Special to The Statesman.)— Everyone is busy at Silvertown this week preparing for the fair. And Silvertown wants it understood that it isn't the State fair that is occupying its attention at present. Of course Silvertown also has this in mind and various Silvertownians will have exhibits there, but it is the Silvertown community fair, the first to be held here for a number of years. Very nearly all the business houses will have at least one booth at the Eugene Field auditorium; some will have two. There will be exhibits from Gervais and from the Abiqu community club, it is understood, besides many from Waldo hill farmers. Delbert Reeves post, American legion, is occupied during evenings in building booths and making other preparations. The days of the fair are Friday and Saturday of this week.

HIGHER FARES PROBABLE MONDAY

Service Commission Not Expected to Halt Increase on Street Lines

In all probability the proposed increase in street car fares in Salem and Eugene will become effective Monday, September 22, since it is apparent that the public service commission will not enter an order for permanent suspension of the increase. The proposed increase is generally spoken of as an increase from 6 to 7 cents, but inasmuch as four rides are sold for 25 cents it is contended that the increase is really only a quarter of a cent.

Commissioner Newton McCoy yesterday prepared a minority order permanently suspending the proposed increase and presented it at a meeting of the commission but due to lack of a second failed to prevail. Like treatment was accorded a move by McCoy relative to the Eugene case.

The Southern Pacific company filed its increased tariffs last spring, but the increase was temporarily suspended by the commission until September 22. On September 10 a hearing was recorded the city of Salem, protesting the increase, and on September 11 a hearing was held in Eugene. The hearings were on the commission's own motion.

The order proposed by Mr. McCoy held that the Southern Pacific had failed to establish the reasonableness and justice of the increased fares and that the application should be denied on that ground.

Frank Durbin is Host at His Howell Prairie Home

SILVERTON, Ore., Sept. 16.— (Special to The Statesman.)— Frank Durbin of Salem was host to over one hundred guests at the Durbin country home on Howell prairie Monday night. The affair was a harvest party in celebration of the completion of hop and prune picking on the Durbin farm. A number of Silvertown and Salem guests were present. The lawn was made brilliant by a number of vari-colored Japanese lanterns. In the early part of the evening favors containing gaily colored paper caps were distributed among the guests. A bonfire and "weiner" roast were also features of the evening.
