resources, and that almost every department was honeycombed with corruption. It was heard in the corridors of the capitol, in committee rooms, in banks and in business houses. There was no escape. It was everywhere,

Information Was Public. "I had no private sources of information, when I exposed the corrupt leasing of Teapot Dome, and forced the senate by a unanimous vote to order an investigation. I merely dared to charge openly what every member of the senate knew. I was able in that speech to reveal substantially every important fact regarding the corrupt leasing of the oil reserves, except the corrupt consideration received by Fall from Doheny and Sinclair. I did not know that $100,000 in cash had been brought from New York to Washington and delivered in a black bag to Albert B. Fall. But the other important facts including the great profits made by the insiders in the stock market, was laid before the senate and the nation.

"There sat the vice-president within 50 feet of me as I spoke, hearing every word of an indictment that forced even the old guard of the senate to consent to an investigation. "Senator Wheeler had no private sources of information when he made his charges against Daugherty and initiated the investigation that drove him from office. He merely dared tell the world the truths that both republican and democratic senators knew as well as he did.

"Knowing these facts there was only one way in which a member of that administration elevated to the presidency could relieve himself from full responsibility for its every act. That was by cleaning house as soon as the power came into his hands.

Hesitancy Is Deplored. "Was that done? It was not. On the contrary every member of the cabinet was kept in office and ex-Secretary Fall, then known to be in the employ of Sinclair, was received at the White House by the present republican candidate when he came to Washington to give his perjured testimony. Even after the evidence of fraud and corruption became overwhelming, Denby was retained in the cabisoos scavenger service — gar net, Daugherty was retained in the bage and retuse of all kinds removed by the month. Reasonable rates. Cess pools cleaned and dead animals removed. Phones: Office 35; Res. 2058. skinned leaders of the party, with expressions from the White House of high esteem and confidence in their integrity. Cites Records "Let me remind you briefly of the Paine-Aldrich tariff and its counterpart the Fordney-McCumber tariff; of the corrupt elections of Lorimer and Newberry, and the looting of the public domain under Ballinger and Fall. "These things occurred, not because the presidents who occupied the White House were bad men. They were not, so far as personal honesty and domestic virtures are concerned. They happened because they were weak men under the control of a soulless system that knows nothing of honesty. integrity, or civic righteousness where its selfish interests are con-

"The position of our opponents, on the other hand, as proved by their record on all economic legislation, is that the producers in industry and agriculture, shall receive the least practicable portion of the product of their toll, and that the prime purpose of industry should be the amassing of the largest possible profits for those favored few who control indus-Senator La Follette concluded his prepared address with a declaration that a "tidal wave of democracy that knows no national boundaries is sweeping the world." "It is today sweeping over the United States," he said, "and when the fourth day of November dawns it will break to pieces the rotting, waterlogged wrecks of the democratic and republican parties. "What will this mean? It will mean freedom and prosperity for the common people here in the United States. It will mean that we progressives will be in a position to use our influence to bring about a revision of the treaty of Versailles, which now rests its dead hands upon the body of Europe. It will mean that we can cooperate wholeheartedly with the liberal governments of the world to outlaw war, to abolish conscription, to reduce to a purely defensive basis naval, aerisl and land armaments, and to place in the hands of the people of every country the decision upon the declaration of war. It will mean the end of war and the dawn of peace for all the world."
