

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Booth at Fair— The physical-vocational department of the state industrial accident commission is preparing a booth at the state fair. This will show the work that is being done by the department in rehabilitating workmen who have been disabled through industrial accidents. What has been accomplished in vocational training will be demonstrated and the establishment of schools illustrated and explained. Allowances are made the workmen for living expenses during the training periods, and these will be explained for the benefit of the public.

Club sign was made Friday afternoon and the third of the highway signs will be placed this morning. Friday morning about half a dozen of the Lions placed a sign at the entrance of the city on the Dallas-Salem highway in West Salem and earlier in the week placed one on the Pacific highway north of Salem. These are the first Lions club signs to be erected in Oregon. The work was rushed in order to have them in place before the state fair next week.

At 11 a. m. the Junior league will have the church service and big folks, little folks, old folks, young folks—anybody and everybody welcome. Mrs. H. J. Morriss will lead the song service at 7 p. m. Preaching by the pastor at 7:30 p. m. Special music.

George W. Hug, superintendent of schools, has announced. The results obtained from the tests last year were so successful that the tests are being repeated. By means of these tests the teachers are able to grasp the ability of the pupil. The tests are outlined by Mrs. Burr, supervisor of primary work in Seattle.

To announcement given out last night. The locomotive is said to be of a strictly modern, up-to-date type. It weighs 120,000 pounds on the drivers, and is numbered 101. It has previously been used to pull the Tillamook passenger train from Portland to Beaverton, drawing up the heavy Fourth street grade out of Portland. From now on it will be used exclusively in Salem, handling the switching business along Front street. The reason given for bringing the new engine here is that the old locomotive cannot handle the increased volume of business.

be in the office every morning between 10 o'clock and noon in order to interview and assist the new students. New students, both those entering and those who have transferred from other places, generally cause a congested condition at the opening of the school year. The public schools will open Monday, Sept. 29.

Washington Auto Claimed— After spending the night in front of the police station where it had been towed after being found parked for more than two hours in violation of a city ordinance, an automobile with a Washington license was claimed Friday morning by its owner. The owner furnished conclusive evidence that he did not know about the ordinance and the machine was restored and he took the car without first paying a fine. The ordinance provides that no motor vehicle shall be parked on the streets anywhere in the city limits for more than two hours between midnight and 6 o'clock in the morning.

Speeder Is Fined— F. C. Johnson was fined $10 in justice court yesterday when he appeared in answer to a charge of speeding. He was arrested by Newell Williams, state traffic officer.

Gas Tank Explodes— The fire department was summoned to the Kirkwood garage at 246 State street at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon to extinguish a small blaze caused by an explosion of an acetylene welding tank. Only minor damages were reported though the building was filled with smoke. Several of the new automobiles in the display room in front were run out into the street.

May Commander Space— The public service commission has received notice from the Multnomah county commissioners that the commission and the state market agent may have to give up their office space in the Multnomah county court house. Under the law it is said to be necessary for the Multnomah county court to provide office space for those departments.

Dr. Gilbert Retained— It is good news that Dr. E. E. Gilbert will remain superintendent of the Salem district of Oregon Methodism. Bishop W. O. Shepard, now in Africa, had planned to supplant Dr. Gilbert, who has one year more to serve. Bishop Johnson was favorable to carrying out the instructions of his predecessor, but the protest was so emphatic and widespread that he decided to let the Methodists have their way. Dr. Gilbert was offered the pastorate of the Methodist church at Walla Walla.

Girl Seeks Freedom— Having been married, Marlon Childers-Maribetta, aged 18 has filed a petition in Portland to be released from the State Training School for Girls. She is said to have run away from school here and married an old man in Kelso, Washington. She is now asking that proceedings against her be declared null and void because of her status as a married woman.

Applies Are Contracted— Young & Wells have contracted for 6,000 more boxes of apples from this district, according to a report made yesterday. Approximately 700 boxes, or a carload, will be packed at the local plant each day when the deal is in full swing. Deliveries on Jonathans and Vanderpools has started, and about 2,000 boxes of the latter are due from the George Weeks orchard in the Keizer bottoms. Jonathans are being received from the J. R. Chapman orchard at Oak Grove and from near Amity. Because of worms in the "Winter Bananas, requiring a closer sorting of the fruit, the first carload is not expected to be ready for shipment before Monday.

Promotion Is Given— Announcement was made last night that J. Boegtlin, for years employed by the Southern Pacific company as engine foreman at Salem, has been promoted to the office of assistant yard master.

Wants Grade Crossings— The Fred Herrick Lumber company has applied to the public service commission for authority to construct several grade crossings near Nunn. The commission has dismissed an application of the Tillamook county court for the elimination of grade crossings near Knudson.

Invited to Headquarters— The republican county central committee is now operating in full blast with Chairman Paul Burris in charge. He invites all republicans from both city and county to make that their political headquarters to hold conferences and discuss with him and their friends plans for an effective campaign. "I want this to be a people's campaign," said Mr. Burris, "and the more people who come here the better I will like it."

City Employee Injured— As a result of his attempt to stop a runaway team of horses, W. S. Newman, employed at the City dump, is confined to his home for a few days. When the horses started to run from their driver, who was unloading one of the dump wagons, the crank, revolving at a high speed while the wagon bed was dropping back into place, swung around and hit Newman in the side twice before he was able to get clear of the crank. While his injuries are painful they are not regarded as serious.

Family Row Aired— J. L. Myers and wife, formerly of Marshfield, aired their family troubles in the county court Friday afternoon after which the matter was taken under consideration by County Judge W. H. Downing. Myers and his wife were arrested at the Southern Pacific station Thursday night by Officer Victor. Mrs. Myers made the claim that her husband was kidnapping their 2-year-old baby. Myers declared that she had deserted him and had been living with another man in a hopyard and that she was not the proper person to have custody of the youngster. Officer Victor searched the man and found a .38-caliber revolver. Both were taken to the police station where Myers was booked for carrying a concealed weapon and Mrs. Myers for disorderly conduct. The case will be decided today.

Early Registering Urged— That the last minute rush may be avoided this year, J. C. Nelson, principal of the Salem high school, is urging all new students to register during the coming week if possible. Either Mr. Nelson or Mr. Moore, assistant principal, will

COSHOW SPEAKS ON CONSTITUTION Guarantees to States and Individuals Outlined By Justice

Constituted authority should be obeyed, and the persons who fail to assume the obligations of the franchise and do not go to the polls are slackers and shirkers of their duties. Justice O. P. Coshov of the Oregon supreme court told members of the Lions club in an address at the Marion hotel Friday noon. The constitution is not fully appreciated by the mass of people who have known no other form of government, and as a consequence regard it as a commonplace fact, he said. Justice Coshov spoke in line with the international Lions program of observing the 137th anniversary of the signing of the constitution. The Lions club was the only Salem organization of its kind to observe this historical event. "Though simple and direct in its language and construction, the constitution is the greatest document ever framed by a political government in the world's history," Justice Coshov said. "Memorize the preamble, for it forms the concrete kernel of the constitution and contains its purpose and its scope." Outlining the provisions of the constitution, the speaker told of its guarantees to the individual states and the provision made for amendments, pointing out that it was originally confined to narrow limits because of bitterness and the difficulties surrounding the original articles of confederation. Because of the limitations 10 amendments were passed by the first congress, and in order to keep abreast of current conditions only eight others have been passed since then. The first amendment, Justice Coshov described as being unique in that it provided for complete religious freedom—freedom of the press and speech and equal suffrage. The early history of the constitution was related in detail by the speaker.
