CRATER LAKE

Have you seen the flash of a blue-bird's wing
Thru' the drops of an April shower,
Or a bank of green to a trellis cling
Be-starred with the blue moon's flower?
Have you gazed in the depths of a sapphire's heart
Into southern seas where the bluefish dart,
Or the wonderful blue of a baby's eyes
Or the blue of the Oregon summer skies?
You will think of these when you catch the sheen
Of the bluest blue water man ever has seen;
But God gave that touch of ethereal blue
Whose wonderful color eludes me and you,
'Tis God's gem, in an Oregon setting—I take,
And we call it our beautiful Crater Lake.

—MARIE VON ESCHEN, September 11, 1924.

Of outstanding interest will be the public address which Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will give on Friday, September 26, in the house of representatives. Mrs. Cook is a woman of marked ability as a speaker. A number from Chemeketa chapter have already heard her and are enthusiastic in their praises. Mrs. Cook is a graduate of the Emerson school of oratory in Boston, and her office in itself is a distinctive one. Mrs. Cook will be the official guest of honor Friday at a special state conference here for which Chemeketa chapter is the hostess. One hundred and fifty out-of-town guests have already notified the committees of their plans to attend.

Lena Belle Tartar, contralto, is busy preparing an interesting concert program which she will give complimentary to her wide circle of friends and associates Monday evening, Sept. 29, at the First Christian church. Miss Tartar did intensive study this summer with Yetaman Griffith, eminent New York vocal specialist, whose classes attracted students and leading teachers from all over the Pacific coast. Mr. Griffith was enthusiastic in his praise of Miss Tartar's voice and was gratified with the results he obtained through the application of his vocal methods. Miss Carol Dibble, reader, and Prof. T. S. Roberts, organist, will assist Miss Tartar. Each of these will contribute separate groups of delightful selections. Miss Tartar's numbers will include many of the beautiful songs by classic composers. Miss Gretchen Kraemer will accompany Miss Tartar. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Sarah Prentiss will be a house guest at the A. F. Marcus home during fair week. Mrs. Prentiss, who is a member of the faculty at Oregon Agricultural college, will assist with the exhibit at the state fair.

The Young Women's Bible class which has held so many profitable and happy meetings under the leadership of Mrs. C. A. Park, will resume its class work at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at the public library. All young women in the city are eligible to attend.

Miss Nellie Rowland left for Eugene over the week-end, where she will continue her work at the University of Oregon.

The announcement that Grace Wood Jess, noted singer of folk-songs, is to give a concert here Tuesday, October 7, is a most welcome one. Miss Jess believes in specialization and has devoted her voice and art exclusively to that fascinating musical field, the folk-song, and has achieved such success in it that she is now universally recognized as America's greatest singer of folk-songs. The Jess concerts have an unusually broad scope, for they appeal not only to the ear but to the eye and heart as well. In her beautiful costume of the country of which she is singing, Miss Jess looks as though she had stepped from some old picture frame, while the essence of folk-songs is their feeling—humorous, pathetic or tragic—according to the emotion that gave them birth. Miss Jess will be heard in songs of France, England, Russia, Spain and America. She will be assisted by Raymond McPeeters.

The concert will be given at the First Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Moores returned home Friday evening from a vacation of two weeks spent at Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Lamport are week-end guests at Neskowin beach.

Miss Lucille Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore, left Friday for Corvallis where she will enter the Oregon Agricultural college for her Junior year. Miss Moore is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Mrs. Guy O. Smith and sons, Lawrence and Robert, are home from a two weeks' vacation at Newport.

Beginning her long and anticipated journey to India where she will devote the next five years to interesting missionary work in the Bombay district, Miss Marie Corner will leave on the first train tomorrow for Portland to spend a day or two before going on to Seattle, where she will be a guest until the second of October of her sister, Mrs. Harold Street. From October 2 to 9, Miss Corner will be in attendance at the branch conference in Bellingham, after which she will return to Seattle for possibly another week. She will also visit uncles in Arlington and Bellingham.

Leaving Seattle for Iowa, Miss Corner will have opportunity to visit her mother's people in Fort Dodge and Des Moines, before going to New Jersey to attend the General Executive Meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society at East Orange. She will sail from New York on November 10. From tentative information received she will take passage for at least part of the five weeks' voyage on the steamship "City Benares," hoping to reach India by Christmas time, and in time for the Bombay conference which falls in December.

Miss Corner will have her cabin with Miss Emma Rexrath, who, representing the Columbia River branch, is home on furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Fickler of Santa Cruz, California, will arrive today to be guests over Fair week of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore.

Mrs. Willard Seton Kaufman, nee Ruth Barnes, and Her Attendants

Bride of Wednesday

A PRUFUSION of early autumn flowers in the delicate pastel shades mingled under the gleam of candelabra to form the background for one of the most beautiful weddings of the year on Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church when Rev. Richard N. Avison at 8 o'clock read the service uniting in marriage Miss Ruth Barnes and Mr. Willard Seton Kaufman. The altar, where one of the loveliest bride's Salons has ever been, plighted her troth, was completely transformed into a bank of floral beauty with palms, fern, white chrysanthemums, gladioli and asters, continuing the effect into the entire choir balcony.

Schubert's "Serenade," as an organ prelude, opened the impressive service which was read with the entire company standing. Following the prelude, Miss Joanna James sang "Because" in beautiful manner. Entering to the Lohengrin wedding march, the members of the bridal party took their places at the flower-banked altar. Acting as ushers, Mr. Charles Robertson, Mr. Milton Steiner, Mr. Ralph Hamilton, Mr. Kenneth Power and Mr. John Luckner preceded the wedding procession. Miss Bernice Daugherty, Miss Marianne Slipper, Miss Margaret Griffith and Miss Josephine Baumgartner, as bridesmaids, immediately followed. Miss Esther Paroungian, as maid of honor, preceded the two little flower girls, Jeanne Patton and Virginia Cross, who gracefully scattered rose petals in the path of the approaching bride. Miss Barnes, in a mode utterly charming in its simplicity, wore a beautiful gown of Mallison crepe caught with a single ornament of pearls and brilliants.

Her filmy veil, worn with a coronet of pearls, fell gracefully along the majestic train of her gown. The bride's bouquet was of Opheelia and bride's roses, mingling with exquisite bonvardia in shower arrangement against a fan of white ostrich.

Miss Paroungian, as maid of honor, wore a tunic mode of peach georgette with exquisite cream lace. Her bouquet combined butterfly roses and delphinium. Both Miss Daugherty and Miss Slipper wore pastel green and carried arm bouquets of pink and white sweet peas with Columbia roses. Miss Baumgartner and Miss Griffith in lovely gowns of orchid georgette carried vivid scabiosa and butterfly roses. Little Virginia Cross wore pale blue and little Jeanne Patton delicate pink. Both frocks were exquisite with lace and rosebuds. The little girls carried arm baskets of roses, sweet peas and lantana.

For the service Mr. Ralph W. Barnes, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Following the benedictory words of the evening the service was concluded with the joyful strains of the Mendelssohn wedding procession, with Byron D. Arnold as nuptial followed at the home of the bride's parents, with the rooms a beautiful bower of blossoms. The gracious hostesses presiding in the living rooms were: Mrs. C. H. Robertson, Mrs. W. E. Kirk, Mrs. E. C. Richards, Mrs. H. J. Clements, Mrs. F. W. Spencer, Mrs. Frank Power and Mrs. M. B. Paroungian. Miss Teresa Powle presided as dining room hostess for the evening. Mrs. Richard N. Avison cut the loaves, while Mrs. Charles A. Park poured. Assisting in the serving were Miss Lorina Brown and Miss Hazel Wieden of Portland, sorority sisters of the bride, and Miss Frances Hodge, Miss Luella Patton, Miss Gretchen Brown, Miss Dorothy Patterson, Miss Amelia Babcock, Miss Maxine Buren and Miss Mary Jane Albert. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Florence Power, Miss Delores Williams and Miss Rovena Eyre. During the reception Miss James sang "All For You," accompanied by Mr. Arnold.

Miss Barnes, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes, is a graduate of the University of Washington. Her sorority is Chi Omega. Mr. Kaufman, the son of Mrs. W. S. Kaufman of New York city, is a prominent Seattle architect, identified with the firm of E. J. Ivis. At Illinois university he was identified with the Sigma Chi fraternity. Mr. Kaufman is also a member of the Scarab honorary architectural fraternity.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. Emory J. Baker of Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Baker and little son Leland, also of Tacoma, and Mr. John Klingsmith of La Trobe, Pa. Mrs. L. W. Duker of Chicago, Mrs. Arthur Lewis Brown of Cincinnati, Mrs. Otis Parsons of New York city and Mrs. E. E. Eggemeyer of Richmond, Ind., all sisters of the groom, and Mr. Thomas Kaufman of Indianapolis, a brother, were unable to be present for the ceremony.

Mathilda's Shopping Diary September 21

By AUDRED BUNCH

Now, Milady is all ready for the Fair. How well she has been treated by each local store where the clerks seem to excel in courtesy and in that special gift of helping her to find just the thing she needs. Now, for a gala, festive week in her lovely, new attire!

Any woman loves hospitality, she loves to give it herself and she likes to find it. Especially grateful will Salem women and their guests be this week for such a place in which to stop as MILLER'S DEPARTMENT STORE. Here the busy woman may refresh herself. Here she may meet her friends. At Miller's she has the advantage of a free check room for her parcels, and the service of a willing information bureau. Miller's is not only the best-lighted department store in the city but is a store excelling in the wide variety and quality of its merchandise.

Waist-lines a trifle higher—not radically—for the youth and slimmness of the long waist line remains—but the line is at the hip rather than below.

It is quite interesting to see how French milliners are using trimmings to obtain this effect of height for fall. The manner in which they are doing it gives a certain military air to their creations which is altogether enticing. They place wired ribbons and feathers of the aigrette type in commanding positions right at crowns, quills, too, are poised in upright positions to gain height, as are pleated fans of ribbon caught in by novel metal buckles.

Just phone 914 for an appointment at the ELITE BEAUTY SHOPPE and have your hair dressed for fair week. Maybe it is a bob you want, or a Buescha Band. Perhaps both. The Elite above the Gray Belle will give you gratifying service.

The newest umbrella fashion is to demand this accessory in the short, many-ribbed styles with bobbed handles.

MOORE'S MUSIC HOUSE will be represented in a typical and gratifying manner this week at the Oregon State Fair. Mathilda finds that they are not only going to feature that marvelous among instruments, the Duo-Art piano, but also the Brunswick Radiola, the greatest improvement in music since the arrival of radio, and, further, the enviable Buescha Band instruments. You surely will want to stop once—or many times—to hear some of this pleasing music.
