Following this a temporary injunction upon his home was secured.

GUARDSMEN ARE SENT TO SCENE OF HERRIN RIOTS

Two More Squads Added to Number of Troops Already On Duty There

SALEM, Ill., Sept. 24.—Two squads of Company I of the Illinois national guard were ordered tonight to entrain tomorrow morning for Herrin, Ill. The troops, it was said here, had been called to Herrin to augment the detail on duty there and to protect the courtroom where City Judge E. N. Bowen will begin hearing the cases growing out of the recent Herrin disturbances.

The calling out of troops was termed here as a measure of precaution. Captain Harold M. Bigelow has had 18 soldiers in Herrin since August 30, when six men were killed in a clash between Klan leaders and anti-klansmen. Half of the detachment was sent to Marion several days ago when the grand jury began its investigation of the latest Herrin disorder, and it was believed the small number of soldiers would not be strong enough to prevent any untoward incident.

ECHOES FROM THE STATE FAIR

Social Item—High top shoes were worn by a number of visitors to the horse races Wednesday afternoon. The footwear proved to be more practical than ornamental and came in handy in fording numerous small ponds.

Trusties are conspicuous by their absence this year and the booth displayed by the Oregon state prison is in charge of officers from the institution. While the display is chiefly tax and agricultural products, two cedar chests made by R. C. Schulte, an inmate, are attracting a great amount of interest. The larger of these is valued at $100 and the smaller at $30. They are made by hand and bound with hand-forged copper and brass hinges.

If you want to know where anything is, just ask Miss Genevieve Campbell, who is in charge of the information booth in the new pavilion. This is something new this year. Questions asked are varied, ranging from location of specific displays and demonstrations to inquiries regarding events of the day.

WORLD FLYERS WILL STOP AT FAIR, IS MESSAGE TO M'NARY

A telegram received by United States Senator Charles L. McNary last night from his office in Washington, D. C., indicates that the world-flight aviators of the United States army will land at the state fair grounds some time this week. Later information to be received by Senator McNary today will give the time of arrival.

At the suggestion of the state fair board, Senator McNary telegraphed his office in Washington, D. C., asking that the war department be requested to allow the flyers to stop in Salem. The reply was that the planes would be ordered to stop in Salem, and that a message as to the time would follow. It is probable that the arrival here will not be until Saturday.

MURDERESS IS BREAKING DOWN

Mrs. Elsie Sweetin Reported to Be on Verge of Nervous Collapse

SALEM, Ill., Sept. 24.—(By the AP.)—The strain of an all-night questioning, coupled with the worry and care of a mother over her children and a subsequent loss of appetite tonight had brought Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, who has confessed that she poisoned her husband in a plot with the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight of Ina, to the verge of a nervous breakdown. Her condition has become such that upon instructions of her physician, Dr. S. A. Thompson, nobody is permitted to see her in her little cell in the quaint old jail building here, unless she requests it.

Rests in Cell The greater part of the time Mrs. Sweetin has been in jail here, she has been on her iron cot, either sitting or lying down. Since her arrival here she mentioned her confession, made at Mount Vernon yesterday morning only once, saying she would not have confessed had it not been at the urgent request of the clergyman, when the two were closeted in a cell for nearly three hours.

Is Interviewed In a lengthy interview with a newspaperman this morning, Mrs. Sweetin in answering questions put to her, related how her relations with the minister started and how they gradually grew more intimate until she realized that she had fallen in love with the clergyman, who lived only two blocks from her home.

HUNN SEES DEATH SCENES REENACTED

Two Men Who Dined With Murdered Wife Show Separate Versions

PASADENA, Cal., Sept. 24.—Clifton R. Hunn of Chicago, late today watched Harry Connor, alias Harry Garbutt, ex-convict, and F. R. Gibson re-enact what each claimed was the true version of the death scene of last Friday night in which Mrs. Hunn was slain.

In one particular the two versions clashed. Each man as served he was in the bathroom at the opening of the controversy with Mrs. Hunn. Gibson said that Connor beat the woman over the head with a small hammer and then shot her. Garbutt declared that Gibson attacked her with the hammer, that he (Garbutt) intervened and in the struggle with Gibson for Garbutt's pistol the weapon went off, killing Mrs. Hunn. Tomorrow Mrs. Hunn's safety deposit box in a Pasadena bank will be opened and its contents searched. In the meanwhile Hunn is searching her home for valuable papers which he believes she kept there. Garbutt is being held on suspicion of murder.
