

HOSPITAL WILL BE MADE BETTER

Funds for Rebuilding in Next Two Years Asked By Dr. Bellinger

Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the state tuberculosis hospital, estimates his requirements for maintenance and outlay during the next biennium at $260,851, according to a statement filed with the state budget commission. Actual expenses for the biennium now closing were $185,333, his statement says.

Considerable building will be necessary in the next two years, the estimate indicates. An item of $48,500 is estimated for reconstruction of the main building, construction of homes for employees and nurses, and a remodeling of dormitories to care for 35 more patients than now accommodated. The state library wants $93,140 in the next two years as against $75,000 appropriated for the present biennium. Of this $40,000 is wanted for the school library fund as compared with $28,542 allowed by the last legislature.

From the state corporation department comes a request for $50,932. For the biennium now closing the cost of conducting the department is given as $52,710. Receipts for the next two years are estimated at $797,364.

J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, submits the following estimates:

Superintendent's office, $19,000; no increase; general contingent fund, $2500, no increase; industrial club fund, $12,000, no increase; soldiers' and sailors' aid, $300, as against $70.30 for 1923-24; state board of examiners, $20,930, as against $30,858 for 1923-24; general printing, $12,500, increase is $1,000; vocational education, $159,435, as against $116,635 for 1923-24.

As compared with the month of August, 1923, distillate sales declined about 45 per cent and gasoline sales increased approximately 14 per cent.

"To date the motor vehicle fuels tax measures have brought to the state treasury the total sum of $6,824,536.44."

CITY ZONING IS DISCUSSED

Realtors Urge Greater Care in Future Planning of Buildings

Zoning of the city so as to provide restrictions for residence, business and manufacturing areas met with the hearty approval of the Marion-Polk County Realty association at its luncheon Thursday and will be one of the big objectives of the organization.

Following much favorable discussion the appointment of a committee to formulate specific plans and to obtain the endorsement of the federated clubs of the city before being presented to the city council, was approved. This committee will be named in a few days by J. A. Mills, chairman of the meeting, and be instructed to give some sort of a report in two weeks.

Rights Are Protected
City zoning, according to a pamphlet quoted by R. A. Harris, has as its chief motive the protection of rights and liberties of each section. It gives everyone an equal chance for their rights.

The regulations are similar for all districts of the same class. Zoning should go hand in hand with city planning, civic improvements, playgrounds and parks. It was pointed out that a disorganized family permits the daughter to make fudge in the parlor, the father to place his shoes under the stairway, mother to place soiled clothes in the bathtub and the young boy to make muddy tracks on the front porch. A city that has no restrictions, according to the pamphlet, is similar to such a family.

Tree Planting Discussed
While on the subject of zoning, the question of uniform tree planting was again resurrected, and it was the consensus of opinion that efforts to obtain this should not be dropped, for the two questions are closely related. Much educational work must be done before it can be hoped to enact any kind of satisfactory zoning laws, it was said. Portland has been working on the plan for several years and this fall will see the subject placed on the ballot. Even with the endorsement and support of other civic organizations, Salem could not expect to see such a law in operation for several years.

Views Are Aired
Views of individual members were given during the luncheon. Chief of these were that the results were well worth the necessary efforts; other cities have adopted such opposition is to be expected from the stolid old-timer element; that the first move should come from the city council, which has the power to enact the legislation; that it is the civic duty of the real estate people to assist in beautifying the city and bend their efforts toward this end; that the realtors are the closest in touch with conditions and that there are a few classes of foreigners and undesirable citizens that should be kept in their own section of the city. It was also pointed out that Oregon has a state law authorizing cities to enact zoning legislation in all classes of cities.

Winslow Building Hit
The Walter Winslow store on North Capitol, directly across from the new J. L. Parrish junior high school, was criticized and pointed to much after the fashion of the "horrible example" used to emphasize the remarks of a prohibition worker. It is to prevent the occurrence of such conditions that the zoning movement is advocated.

Without a single exception the question was approved.

Resolutions on the passing of the late George F. Rodgers, president of the First National bank and who was closely identified with the association, were authorized with Mrs. Gertrude J. M. Page, R. A. Harris and A. C. Bohrnstedt named as a committee to prepare the resolutions. If so desired, the luncheon next Thursday will be given to a speaker in the interest of the YMCA building campaign, which starts October 8.

Many Members Heard
Realtors speaking in favor of the zoning project were R. A. Harris, J. A. Mills, J. M. Rupert, Geo. Grabenhorst, W. G. Krueger, D. D. Socolofsky, W. M. Pennington, Mrs. Winnie Pettyjohn, Mrs. Leisce Ellis, A. C. Bohrnstedt, Mrs. Gertrude J. M. Page and M. E. Brown. Others endorsed the movement but had nothing to add to what had already been said on the subject.
