EXPERTS PREDICT A BIG EXPANSION

Main Trend of Markets Is Upward, Says Prominent Wall St. Journal

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"It is natural to look for expansion of business at this season and reports and statistical records disclose increased activity in different lines. The movement is still marked by much irregularity and results in some quarters have not met expectations but the main trend is upward. Notwithstanding ing price uncertainties, demand for steel, especially from the railroads is larger; pig iron output rose ten per cent in September; the textile traders are recovering gradually and dealings in hides and leather have broadened further. These are some of the concrete evidence of revival and they are supplemented by another weekly statement of freight car loadings which shows conclusively there is a notably heavy distribution of merchandise. Bank clearings moreover are unusually large with a gain this week of 7 per cent over last year's figures and a new monthly total for this year has been reached in a number of commercial failures.

"Weekly bank clearings $8,318,953,000."

WHEAT RECEIVES SLIGHT SETBACK

Heavy Selling to Realize Profits on Advance of Yesterday Cause

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Big selling to realize profits overbalanced the grain market today and brought about a setback after an exciting advance that upset numerous high price records. On today's placards, wheat to be delivered next May was worth $1.53 7-8 a bushel. Closing prices for wheat were unsettled at half net gain, December $1.45 5-8 to $1.45 3-4 and May $1.49 5-8 to $1.50. Corn finished 1 7-8 @ 2 5-8c down, oats 1-2 @ 1 5-8c off, and provisions varying from 22c drop to 35c gain.

Wild rushes to the buying side of the wheat market took place immediately on the opening of business and appeared to be largely a result of new estimates of the world supply indicating 54,000,000 bushels less of wheat available than a month ago. Besides unofficial figures which were current put the total world supply on October 1 at only 3,056,000,000 bushels as against 4,430,000,000 bushels the corresponding day in 1923. With fresh export buying that ran up to 1,000,000 bushels of wheat today and 500,000 bushels of rye, the markets climbed rapidly until wheat showed 2 5-8 and rye exactly 5c a bushel advance.

Tumbling of prices ensued when a battle royal in the wheat pit demonstrated that for at least the time being, the volume of selling had broadened to an extent which the buying power, although of extraordinary force, was insufficient to meet. Reports telling of enlarged domestic acreage of winter wheat being seeded were current and foreign crop advices were received making the outlook appear somewhat more two sided than has recently been the case. The undertone at the last was by no means heavy, but on the other hand, the price level was about lowest of the day.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat, corn being also weakened by summer like weather. Hogs at the highest prices in two years lifted the provision market but the effect was later more or less offset by the fall of grain.

SALEM MARKETS WELL SUPPLIED

Special Effort Made to Keep First Class Vegetables and Fruits

The past week has been just a fair one in fresh fruits. The watermelon season is practically over except the small ones which are very good however. Cantaloupes are still available. The strawberries now on the market are raised around Portland, but this cool weather may make an end of them in a very short time. Roasting ears are of very high quality and are cheap. The peaches on the market are not as high priced as one would expect at this time. Apples are showing up very nicely. The yield is not large but the fruit on the market is fully up to the standard of previous years.

The housewife in her search for a dinner menu can be entirely supplied by the Salem markets. Today's grapes are about the best tasting this year they have ever been and the Concord and white grapes are fully up to their usual high standard. In fact the housewives must be majoring on grapes this week because the grocery stores are exhibiting such a large stock. The grocers are well stocked for the Saturday selling and the housewives will have a good deal of liberty of choice.

One of the crops that is not talked about much but is used considerably is the onion. The best onions ever raised in this country are now being marketed.

Kahl rabi is now in the showings. Potatoes, sweet potatoes, and cabbages are found in the usual supply at this time of year and at a price the housewife will be interested in. Salem is a great market center and it aids materially in the menu of every family table to be able to get such a large selection from which to choose.

Beware! Cheap Merchandise, that is merchandise of unknown and poor quality is the direct cause of many ailments and much sickness in these days. Truly the vitality of a nation is built on its pure food consumed. In the great cry of economy, thousands are making the awful mistake, that cheapness is the beacon light in steering for success. Listen! Quality cost something to produce. Quality will save you money, but you never will be able to purchase quality by hunting the cheapest. Merchants have to ransack the cheapest markets to fill this kind of trade. Beware!
