WORK FOR YEAR IS OUTLINED

Silverton Parent-Teacher Association Has Auspicious Gathering

SILVERTON, Oct. 3.—(Special to The Statesman.)—The Silverton Parent-Teacher association began what bids fair to be another successful year Thursday afternoon when it met for its first meeting of the season. Mrs. H. M. Simms, the new association president, presided at the meeting and outlined plans for the coming season. Mrs. Simms has been an active club member since her arrival in Silverton.

Superintendent Goetz spoke at length on the crowded conditions of the schools, stating that there are 90 more children this year than last, while not a bit more room has been added although room was considered scarce last year. Two more teachers have been engaged and it is understood that the overflow of pupils will be cared for in the old GAR building, which at one time was the "old red schoolhouse" of Silverton's pioneer days.

Mrs. John Carson of Salem was present and addressed the association in regard to the Christmas seal sale. Mrs. Carson also made a plea for a contribution from Silverton for the memorial monument at Salem erected by the War Mothers. Silverton has the names of 10 boys on the monument.

Delegates to attend the state convention of the P. T. A. to be held at Corvallis October 21, 22, 23 and 24, were elected. These were Mrs. H. M. Simms, Mrs. R. E. Kleinsorge, Mrs. S. E. Richardson, Miss Wittcher, a member of the teaching force whose expenses to Corvallis will be met by the school board. Alternates are Mrs. F. Syring, Mrs. E. Banks, Mrs. John Hobbitt, Mrs. L. Lemmon, Mrs. Helen Wrightman, state vice president, will also go.

A membership campaign was planned and a committee appointed under the leadership of Mrs. R. E. Kleinsorge, to take charge of this.

The P. T. A. accepted the offer of the high school dramatic club to put on last year's program for the benefit of the association. Proceeds of this will be used in the child welfare work, of which the milk campaign is an important feature. The association also plans to furnish a teachers' rest room in the high school similar to the one furnished last year in the Eugene Field building. A rummage sale will be held, the proceeds of which will go toward the beautifying of the school grounds.

Other matters announced was that the association would continue the chain of teas which it held last year for the purpose of raising money; that new pictures will be purchased for some of the rooms; a "Raddies" night will be held in February.

Mrs. Ruth Hjertaas and Miss Lenore Preston of the school of dance art of Salem were present and announced that if enough Silverton people were interested, classes would be opened at Silverton.

It will be held at Silverton Sunday, October 5. A great deal of effort has been put forth since his death to locate relatives, but these have all proved useless. As Mr. Flowry was a member of Portland post No. 1, American legion, the local post was asked to attend to the burial of the body. Mr. Flowry was 56 years of age, a veteran of the Spanish-American and the World wars. A woman came down from Portland claiming acquaintance with him and endeavoring to get possession of his belongings. This, however, was denied her.

Unemployment Is Always With Us Concludes Sage

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Averaging good and bad years, 10 to 12 per cent of all the workers in the United States (several millions of men and women) are out of work all of the time. Widespread unemployment is now a constant phenomenon with far-reaching economic, social, psychological and moral bearings. In seeking work through certain types of commercial or fee-charging employment bureaus—particularly those dealing with unskilled and casual labor—thousands of men and women are being exploited. Public employment bureaus or exchanges can make a material contribution toward the solution of this and other phases of the ever-recurring problem of unemployment.

These are some of the facts brought out in the introduction to the report of a five year study of employment methods, needs, and agencies made public here today by the Russell Sage Foundation. It is made clear in the report that the figures on unemployment, while representing the average of the country's experience during the last two decades, are not necessarily indicative of present conditions or of the last year.

The investigation, which extended into more than 70 cities in 31 states and Canada, has just been completed. The full report, covering more than 600 printed pages, will be issued shortly. The survey was conducted by a staff of trained field investigators, all of whom had previously been engaged in employment work, under the direction of Shelby M. Harrison, Director of the Foundation's Department of Surveys and Exhibits.

Practically every known means for bringing work and the worker together was studied. The "want ad" pages of newspapers, the fee-charging labor agencies, the free public employment office, the labor union's method of securing work for its members, the fraternal order's activities in this field, the practice of applying for work at the factory gate or the office door, all were investigated. The report will point out the advantages and disadvantages to employer and employe in each of these means and its effect on the general employment situation.

BLAIR ELECTED AS MODERATOR

Honor Conferred on Forest Grove Pastor for Second Time in Oregon

Rev. W. W. Blair, pastor of the First Congregational church of Forest Grove, was elected moderator of the Oregon churches for the coming year at the state convention which has just closed here.

This is the second time that the Oregon conference has accorded this honor to Mr. Blair, having first so honored him in 1921. Mr. Blair is eminently fitted for his task. His thorough training in Congregational procedure, his loyalty to Congregational interests beyond the limits of his local parish and an exceptional ability in parliamentary practice were qualifications that placed him above any serious opposition for the highest honor that the Oregon conference had to bestow.

The pastor of the First Congregational church of Portland, Dr. Clement G. Clarke, was elected as conference preacher for next year.

The conference reiterated its determination to stand by Pacific university and to include its needs among the first claims against the benevolent giving of the Congregational people of Oregon.

An amendment was given first reading providing for a change in time of the meeting of the conference. The proposed amendment would call for a spring meeting instead of in the fall. It must rest until the second reading at the next conference. The place of meeting is referred to the state board of directors.

The prominent place given by the conference to the interests of the young people was heralded by many as a sign of real progress. The young peoples' banquet Thursday evening was attended by 62, a number almost equal to the average attendance of the entire conference for the last 10 years. The music and short talks by the young people, a few games and stunts and some business-like discussion on Christian work that young people can do all helped to make it a great evening.

THREE MINUTE TALES

By Ad Schuster
The Queen's Pawn
When Adam Laird discovered he had been cut to the heart by the perfidy of Minerva Jones he decided to become a confirmed bachelor. Adam was wealthy enough to play the part and romantic enough to embellish the role with those touches and graces which fiction gives it.
At forty Adam Laird was known as a woman hater. He was known also as a handsome man who owned a large home in which he lived a life of ease. The few men who had been invited to join him at cards or discussion reported of his library as a comfortable and handy a place as a man could wish. In Tannerville there were many who, in stress of domicile of affairs, yearned more than once for a retreat like that of Adam Laird. It was assumed by these men that Adam was riotously happy.
Adam tried to take comfort in his sadness. He was fond of imagining that Minerva Jones would look upon the wreck she had made of his life and shed bitter tears. "I am accountable to no one but myself," he mused, "and therefore I am happier than any man in Tannerville." But for all Somebody said, "Most people are more interested in a dog fight on their own road, if the dogs belong to their own community, than they are in a war in China." And that is true to a considerable extent. We like to hear most of all about the things that are happening in and around our own home. The Statesman tells you all about the doings right around where you live.

Essentially a community newspaper, owned by people in the community and published entirely in the interest of the local district (Marion and Polk counties), it fights your battles and the battles of the community in which you live, and is your best newspaper friend.

This paper receives latest wire reports of the Associated Press, the greatest and most reliable press association in the world. All the important news of the day is told briefly; charming short stories and features, exclusive reading matter for the women folks; authoritative market and financial reports; classy sport news; all about the theatres and movies. Not too bulky, handy to read. It's the home paper, par excellence.

The Morning Oregon Statesman publishes complete dependable news, features and editorials.

The Statesman is first in the development of the Willamette valley—in agriculture, horticulture, berries, livestock, roads, industries, education, social welfare, and all that tends to develop and build up.

The Statesman stands forth in unqualified support of every movement or undertaking in the best interests of the Willamette valley.

It carries the advertisements of the local stores.

Listen! By watching the bargain advertisements carried from time to time you can save many times the subscription price. Some of your neighbors save as high as 35 per cent of their annual buying costs each year. It pays to watch the advertisements in The Oregon Statesman—they are wonderful money savers for our readers.

The Pacific Homestead is the oldest, brightest and best farm magazine published in the Pacific Northwest. Published weekly—52 issues a year. There is a certain mark of distinction in being a subscriber to the Best Farm Magazine.

The Northwest Poultry Journal, the oldest and largest of the Pacific Coast poultry and pet stock magazines, a recognized leader in its class in the West, was established in Salem more than 29 years ago.

It contains from 40 to 75 pages each month and is well edited, printed and nicely illustrated. Among its regular writers are some of the leading poultry judges, poultry specialists and most successful breeders of the Northwest. It has always borne the reputation of being reliable and progressive. No line of poultry and pet stock breeding is neglected or overlooked in its columns. It has a fine and ably edited rabbit department and interesting articles are published from time to time on turkeys, ducks, geese, guinea fowl, and pigeons, as well as cavies and other pet stock.

The 1924 Automobile Road Maps of the state of Oregon and Idaho, show all through trunk highways and main traveled roads with mileages between towns.

The map of Oregon is printed on good bond paper and in three colors—blue, yellow and red. The map is printed in blue, gravel roads are shown in yellow and paved roads in red. This is unquestionably the best auto road map of Oregon ever published. Some of the state's best map experts helped to make this map.

The map of Idaho shows the state highway system as officially designated by the Department of Public Works Bureau of Highways. The names and numbers of highways are given. This map is printed in blue. Every home should have these maps. They are up to date 1924 Auto Road Maps. Throw your old auto road map away. It is out of date.
