

NEW CHALLENGE TO REPUBLICANS

La Follette Club at University Determined on Public Debate

Following refusal of the Republican club of Willamette university to accept the debate challenge issued to it by the La Follette club, the third party organization has prepared a second challenge which will be presented to the Coolidge supporters tomorrow morning.

to meet the two speakers which the La Follette club will produce from among its own membership. It is understood that the La Follette speakers will probably be Southworth and Alden, former variety debaters.

The challenge will be handed to Dean Alden to read with the announcements at chapel tomorrow morning. In case he declines to read it, on the ground of its political nature, it will be posted on the bulletin board, and a copy handed to the president of the Republican club. The text of the challenge follows:

"To the Republican Club of Willamette university:

"The La Follette club of this institution has been organized for the purpose of taking an active part in national politics, and is composed of persons who have definite reasons for believing that Coolidge should be put out and

La Follette put in at the coming election.

"The La Follette club intends to make these reasons public. The reason include indictments of the present administration which, if true, render it unfit for public trust and confidence. It would seem only fair that the Republican club be given an opportunity to refute these indictments if it is willing and able to do so. The La Follette club is not ashamed of its candidate, but feels able and anxious to defend him against any statements made against him by anyone, anywhere at any time.

"In view of these facts it appears to the La Follette club that the opponents of Robert La Follette should present their arguments against him in open day, giving opportunity for clear and logical analysis of those arguments. It also appears that the opponents of Calvin Coolidge should do the same.

"So for the second time the La Follette club challenges the Republican club to a public debate on national candidates and issues, this time offering to the Republican club the privilege of securing any speakers from anywhere that it may see fit."

STAR SLOGAN IS ANNOUNCED HERE

"Tomorrow's Car Today" Is the Slogan Chosen; Portland Man Wins Third

The above slogan has been selected by the Board of Judges and awarded first prize in the Star slogan contest.

The winner of the first prize is George L. Hammond E. 2919, 34th avenue, Spokane, Washington.

After a careful re-check made by the judges it was discovered that the same slogan had also been submitted by another contestant, and as it was deemed impractical to split the first award a 1925 Star sport model touring car was also awarded to this contestant.

The winner of the second prize is Evo De Concini, 1301 E. Speedway street, Tucson, Arizona.

The winner of the third prize of $50 was Clarence Cook, Hotel Portland, Portland, Oregon and his slogan was "Successful from the start."

The judges had a hard task before them in selecting the slogan from among 238,000 submitted and much time was consumed in going over them, as each one had to be carefully studied and while all of the slogans submitted were good, several thousand were exceptionally good.

There are two classes; those who think the nude is art, and those who think fancy sofa pillows are.

FORMER SECRETARY OF NAVY ATTACHES HUGHES

formed the $88,000 into 'six or eight cows' right in the presence of the audience.

"There has been no more delicate appeal to this vaunted sense of humor than the enforcement of prohibition. In private life Secretary Mellon was a boss distiller. In public life he has made a failure of prohibition enforcement, but when Senator Couzens wanted to investigate Mellon, for the first time the White House became vocal.

"You can imagine the hilarity behind closed doors when with a straight face treasury officials assured President Harding that if the soldiers were given a compensation the treasury would go broke, and shortly afterward snickered as they paraded a surplus. Don't you know Bascom Slemp and Edward B. McLean had a jolly time in Florida when they were practicing on giving horticultural names to their friends. They say official Washington laughed until their sides shook when they learned that 'apples' was the code for Fall.

"Could anything be funnier? "Our foreign policy, when we have had any, has been almost as side-splitting as Sancho Panza's travels."

COOPERATION PLEDGED BY GOP CANDIDATE

Referring again to the new business standards and the government's position, the president declared the ideal now is that neither concentration nor competition shall be permitted to the extent of injuring the public interest.

"Whether a business unit is good or bad," he said, "is to be determined not by its size but by its practices. No business is allowed to set aside the law of supply and demand, the rules of open bargaining and fair competition. The supervisory and regulatory power of society, exercised through the processes of government, is brought in as the supreme authority. No business may hold itself above consideration of the public interest and recognition of public authority. Business is required to adjust itself to this view.

HIPPODROME VAUDEVILLE SHOW AT THE BLIGH TODAY

The Guy Barlett trio is composed of three young men who are billed as singers extraordinary. From advance notices they will provide one of the hits of the bill, as they have received favorable mention over the Ackerman & Harris circuit.

Monroe and Lauretta offer an act called "Eight Minutes in the Art of Terpsichore." They are said to be fast, snappy dancers, putting on peppy numbers which never fail to please. Mr. Monroe is declared to be a toe dancer of more than ordinary merit, and it is said few women can equal his performance. The act is prettily staged.

Moore and Horton offer a sketch called "The Waiter" and the "Dumb-waiter," which is classified as a breezy flowing comedy, designed to keep every audience witnessing its production in a constant uproar of laughter. Mr. Moore has been featured in "Friendly Enemies," "Rose Maid" and "As You Were." Miss Horton has had a musical comedy career.

Fawnette, the Indian girl, presents a number entirely different from the general run. She appears first as an old-fashioned Indian girl and gradually works into a modern girl of today. She gives several specialty dances and makes four changes of costume.

Johnson Brothers and Young, a harmony trio goes to make the fifth act on this well balanced bill. Wesley Barry in "Penrod" is the feature picture on the show.

Minute-man speakers are to be heard in all the 39 Salem pulpits today, where laymen will present the case for the Y. Many of the Salem pastors are giving their utmost whole-souled service to the Y campaign, as a necessary supplement to their own church work, and the bigger Y campaign fits into their church scheme almost as well as if the building were in their own church name.

"Got to raise your sights, fellows," was Director Booth's comment at the Saturday dinner. "Show up the Y as the bulwark of better citizens and the road to lower taxes by cutting police costs and social wastage. The more a man has the more he owes to the Y to protect his interests—financial, social, everything."

Chairman Livesley urged that the canvassers redouble their efforts for the coming week, so as to finish up the job with enthusiasm and give it the prestige of quick action. The executive committee hopes to find one or two of the big, challenging gifts that will make everybody feel good and insure the campaign's success.

It is especially urged that the small subscribers come through with their good will and whatever money they can spare. The Y is made up of men and not of money, and the sincere regard of the man who has only the price of a membership is worth more than the indifferent tolerance of mere money. It is up to every subscriber to say whether he is giving an adequate gift, and the Y canvassers accept anything in the spirit of helpfulness. The interest of the many men who really need the Y is going to maintain it when the big building comes, and no gift that evinces interest is too small.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED BY TEXAS OFFICERS

Five Men Nabbed in Connection With $15,000 Pay-roll Robbery

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 11.—Five suspects were under arrest tonight in connection with the $15,000 Eruption Mining company payroll robbery and the Chinuanua and Oriente train holdup 41 miles south of the border yesterday in which eight members of the crew and B. F. Baker, mining company auditor were shot to death.

Two of the prisoners were being held in jail at Villa Anamanda, Chinuanua. They were on foot and armed when they were arrested on the railroad right of way, according to reports received in Juarez. They had no money, it was said.

One was said to be an American. The other three suspects were arrested on the United States side of the Rio Grande, about five miles south of El Paso.

Manuel Ortega, Juarez customs guard, who was reported missing from the train, is alive. He owes his life to the fact that he overslept yesterday morning and the train went on without him.

The news of any Oregonian plugging for La Follette ought to be put in the joke column. He is against every single thing that would help Oregon. He belongs with the sugar trust and the people who pray with their faces to Moscow.

The supporters of the coconut cow are lying to the voters—trying to make them believe the Oregon dairymen want to drive nuts out of the state. Nothing of the kind. The dairymen merely want to compel the nut fellows to keep milk products out of their product. Then they can make nut products till the cows come home, and sell it to all who will buy. Nut products are all right for what they are all right for. But they are not all right as a substitute for the products of milk.

The average American farmer netted only about $900 in cash last year, but he made his dollars go farther than the man in the city and therefore fared proportionately better. There are said to be 7000 worse things in the world than being an American farmer.

Automobile owners will spend three times as much this year as it costs to run the world's biggest business—the United States government. They will spend at least $12,000,000,000 this year on cars, trucks and their maintenance. The "biggest business" this year will cost only a third of that and possibly less than $4,000,000,000. The figures give some idea of the tremendous development of the motor-car industry, only a generation old.

WHEELER WINDS UP FRISCO CAMPAIGN

Coolidge Strongly Attacked in Speeches in Northern California

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Centralizing all his criticism on President Coolidge, Senator Wheeler, independent vice presidential candidate, closed up his northern California campaign tonight with an address before a downtown La Follette rally in San Francisco. He was taken directly from the meeting hall to his train for San Diego. During the day he addressed women at a noon luncheon.

"I want you to decide in your own minds whether or not the key to Calvin Coolidge's character is not found in this bank and campaign fund transactions," he said, after concluding a repetition of the frequently told story of state fund deposits in the Commonwealth bank at Boston when the president was governor of Massachusetts. "See then if you have not found the explanation of the strange silence that has emanated from the White House during the past year. Silence in the face of Teapot Dome exposures; silence in the face of criminality in the department of justice; silence—but hidden opposition.

JAPS NOW GO WEST, CLAIM

Loss of Interest By Nipponese in United States Is Indicated

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Japan has turned her face toward Russia and her back on the west, toward America, as a result of the Japanese exclusion act of congress members of the house of bishops and the national council of the Protestant Episcopal church were told today.

Their informant was Dr. Rudolph B. Tinsler, director of St. Luke's international hospital at Tokyo, who said he spoke from a knowledge of Far Eastern conditions and peoples, gained through a 20-years association. America and Americans held a warm place in the hearts of the Japanese up to the time of the exclusion—a position which was strengthened with the generous response of Americans to the call for aid which grew out of the earthquake of last year. But in the minds of all but a comparative few persons in Japan the exclusion act's passage utterly destroyed American prestige in the island empire, he declared.

Gilmore Dobie's Winning Streak Broken at Ithaca

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Cornell's string of 20 consecutive gridiron victories was broken today when Williams defeated the big red team 14 to 7. Misplays and fumbles by the Cornellians and a dazzling aerial attack by Williams were the principal factors in the Ithacans' downfall.

Republican Nominee Gives Speeches From Platform of His Train

WICHITA, Kans., Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press).—Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president, visited Kansas today, not asking "what's the matter with Kansas," but "where do you stand, people of Kansas."

Mr. Dawes asked this question in read platform speeches at Atchison and Emporia at a noon meeting in Topeka and at a night rally here in Wichita.
