EUGENE, Oct. 18. — The Shenandoah, at 12:35 o'clock this morning passed over the Siuslaw river in western Lane county and was five miles inland at the time, according to word received by Long Distance to the Morning Register at 12:57 a. m., from its Florence correspondent.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 18. — The local Western Union office, in touch with the Marshfield radio station said at 12:45 o'clock this morning that the Shenandoah had decided to quit the coast route and was to swing inland over Eugene and Salem, proceeding up the Willamette valley to Portland, thence north to Camp Lewis. Time was not given in the first report. Efforts are now being made by the local office, through the Marshfield station, to get the latest decision from the Shenandoah.

"In view of the international arms conference, called by President Harding as a means of preserving world peace, we feel that it should be appropriate to name the new ship in President Harding's honor inasmuch as it is to be renamed," the telegram said.

BRITISH FIGHT GETS HOTTER

Parliamentary Elections Will Occur in Less Than Two Weeks' Time

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—With the parliamentary elections only 12 days away and the campaign at its hottest, nobody would venture today to predict the result for it is generally acknowledged that anything may happen.

The government party still professes complete confidence in the outcome of the balloting but it was asserted that the hearts of most of the labor candidates are less buoyant than when the campaign opened. Outside the ranks of labor few persons are to be found who believe that labor will come back with a majority in the lower house.

In fact, the impression is growing that, as in the last parliament, the conservatives again will have the strongest personnel. Should that happen the government of Ramsay MacDonald, should it again come into power would be quickly defeated by a combined vote of the conservatives and liberals and a conservative ministry would be formed. But it is considered inconceivable that the liberal party will not claim a price for its electoral sacrifices in the withdrawing candidates for the benefit of conservative constituents in the triangular fights, and that this price will be the inclusion of some of the liberal ministers in a government which thereby would become a coalition ministry.

Until the nominations are completed tomorrow, the exact situation will not be known, but up to the present the decision of the triangular contests has been effected almost entirely at the expense of the labor party, while the withdrawal of candidates has consisted very largely of liberals. As the list stands tonight there will be about 210 triangular contests as against 263 last year.

In nearly 50 constituencies where the laborites last year won on a minority vote, owing to triangular fights, there will be in the coming elections straight fights between labor and anti-labor candidates and it seems almost sure that in many of these contests labor will be defeated, assuming that there will not be a tremendous landslide in favor of labor.

Premier MacDonald's absolute defiance of the liberal party naturally cuts off any possible chance of accommodation between the labor and the liberal parties, such as happened between the conservatives and the liberals and the outcome is that it is the conservative party at least that will benefit by such avoidance of triangular contests as have been arranged. The candidates already nominated are reckoned roughly as:

Conservatives, 540; laborites 490, and liberals 340. And in political circles it would cause no surprise to see this position stereotyped in the election results.

REPUBLICAN TESTIMONY IS GIVEN OUT

Chairman William M. Butler of G. O. P. National Committee Tells About Campaign Funds of Party

LA FOLLETTE CHARGES VIGOROUSLY DENIED

No Intention Is Held to Expend Large Sums in Doubtful States

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(By the A. P.)—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, informed the special campaign fund investigating committee of the senate today that it is the "hope" and "expectation" of his organization to raise a total of $3,000,000 for the national campaign presidential, senatorial and congressional.

At the same time Mr. Butler denied charges of Senator Robert M. La Follette, the independent presidential candidate, that his committee would mobilize a large mass of funds in certain states during the last weeks of the campaign. His denial was in reply to questions by Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

"We have no such intention and have no such preparations," Mr. Butler said. "We have no ability to do it. We have no funds for purposes of that kind. There is no intention of doing anything of the sort. I want very much to conduct this campaign in such a way that when I get through it will be something to be proud of."

Estimate Increased Under a grueling examination by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, regarding the budget plans of his committee, Mr. Butler testified that originally he had estimated $2,500,000 as the amount that would be required for the national presidential campaign. This sum was increased by $500,000 he added, after it had been decided to take care of the senatorial and congressional campaigns as well.

Calling attention that evidence before the committee was that the republican organization already had collected approximately $1,700,000, Senator Caraway asked if it was expected to collect an additional $1,300,000.

"Yes," Mr. Butler replied. "What are your plans for collecting it?" asked the senator.

"Nothing, except the solicitations which are going on all over the country among our friends for funds," was the reply.

Pressed by the Arkansas senator, Mr. Butler said the collection of funds was under the direction of the national treasurer, William V. Hodges.

"I have talked with the treasurer and I know what the general plan is," Mr. Butler added.

"Would you mind telling us what that general plan is," pursued Senator Caraway.

"Why, the plan is simply to be in communication with our friends all over the country," Mr. Butler replied, "for them to send in their subscriptions. That is all. We have had committees appointed in various places for that purpose, I presume."

NO MINISTER SHOULD LAUGH OR EVEN JOKE

Seventh Day Adventist Bishop Makes Statement in Address at Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 17.—Joviality and jesting must be foregone by ministers who would preach in Seventh Day Adventist churches, Bishop G. W. Wells of Nashville, Tenn., declared today in an address before delegates to the world conference of the sect being held here.

"Joking and jesting by ministers," he said, "crucify the Son of God anew and put Him to shame."

"A jovial, joking minister who stretches beyond his measure to win the praise loses his influence and brings ridicule from the unrepentant and foolish."

LESS THAN $50,000 SHORT NOW

THE PLEDGES for the $200,000 Y. M. C. A. building fund were less than $50,000 short last night. The workers will be at it again this forenoon, and they will make their final report at noon—

And if they are short then, they will lay plans to carry on—

For there is not a quitter among them; and they have full authority to draft any one in Salem who believes in his city or has a stake in its future.

That is the spirit. It is the Salem spirit. The task must be finished, and it will be finished.

RALLY BRINGS IDAHO AHEAD

Washington State College Is Defeated By Old Rival at Moscow

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 17.—A spectacular rally in the last quarter with Washington state college leading by three points, brought about a 19 to 3 victory for University of Idaho here this afternoon in one of the most hotly contested games in the football history of the two institutions.

The rally came about after the substitution of the diminutive Reggett for Stivers, Idaho veteran field general, at quarter, was no sooner in charge of play than he started a series of end runs which culminated, within a few minutes of the touchdown, and the game.

Previously in the final period after neither team had been able during three quarters to deliver a punch sufficient to send the all over, Marvin Hales, substituting at half for WSC, had sent his own team ahead with a 37 yard drop kick.

Reggett's scores were followed in quick succession, by means of continued end runs through the demoralized cougars, by touchdowns by Cameron and Vesser.

The summary:
Idaho (19) Position WSC (3)
Vesser lb Cady
Hansen lb Handson
Tapper lb Smith

Willamette Sanitarium Has Only a Small Fire

Late last night the whistling of the fire siren caused a number of Salem people to wonder if the Shenandoah was over Salem at that time. Investigation proved, however, that the whistle was blown on account of a fire at the Willamette sanitarium. It was easily extinguished by the fire department, and the damage is reported to have been slight.

Girl, Tarred and Feathered, Friend Who Was With Her, Woman Faces Prison for Attack

HUGHES GIVES SPEECH AT N. Y.

United States Secretary of State Delivers School Convocation

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Secretary of State Hughes delivering at a convocation of the University of the State of New York an address which he introduced as non-political, spoke tonight in favor of retaining the original constitutional balances established between the supreme court and congress and between the president and congress.

"The constitution of the United States is not a fetish," he said. "Impartial consideration of existing conditions should either heighten our respect for the institutions which proved the missives to be adaptable to unforeseen and unimaginable conditions or should aid us in securing advisable modifications. Mere panegyric or mere impatience with whatever exists are of little value."

He said the charge of usurpation of power made against the supreme court has "been in the judgment of most persons competent to judge, disproved."

It was not a question whether the United States subscribed to the doctrine of judicial review for the constitution provided that. The question, said Mr. Hughes, was whether the nation should abandon that doctrine.

"Where could the authority to pass upon constitutional limitations be lodged," he asked. "Not with the executive for that would be to make him supreme over congress. Not with the congress for that would enable congress to escape all the limitations of its powers and would make it supreme over the states. Not with the states, for that would enable the states to override all federal authority."

M'COY FAKING, IS STATEMENT

Two Alienists Report That Former Prizefighter Is Feigning Insanity

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Kid McCoy, former pugilist, held here under indictment for the murder of Mrs. Theresa W. Mors last August, is "malingering and feigning insanity," according to a report made to the district attorney's office late today by two alienists who examined the prisoner.

Both medical men who examined McCoy today, Doctors Paul Bowers and Victor Parkin, had examined him once before, shortly after his arrest when his antics in the jail led the police to believe that the ex-pugilist was "off his head."

At that time the alienists declared him sane, despite his playful operations with bits of cardboard and tissue paper. This time, after watching McCoy write letters to "Theresa" and listening to him croon songs of "Theresa," the physicians expressed the unqualified opinion that it was all make-believe.

RE-ORGANIZED YMCA CAMPAIGN IS SUGGESTED

Though Fund Short $50,000 of Goal, No Let Up Is Contemplated By General Committee

PROPOSED CHANGE TO BE DISCUSSED TODAY

End of Drive in Sight and Ultimate Success Is Held to Be Assured

Because there is only $149,503 on the slate, instead of the required $200,000 the YMCA building campaign is still on. That much was reported at the Friday get-together dinner. Practically the whole canvassing army was in the field Friday afternoon and many of them will be out again this morning, even though it is Saturday. There may be a wonderful list to turn in today, for the last of the present organized campaign.

The present organization may be greatly changed after today. Plans will be announced for carrying on the campaign, in whatever way the general committee deems most promising. The subscriptions to date are near enough to make the end seem possible without too long a wait, and the effort will go on with redoubled vigor now that success is so certain.

Friday's dinner was the most tense of the whole campaign. It came to a climax when Chairman Livesley arose to thank the army for loyal support. "Men, I thank you"—and he could go no further. He sat down and cried—good, honest, manly tears that were not of fear or humiliation, but of swelling pride in the many friends he has made and the courage they have put into this campaign that is so near to his heart. There was not a dry eye in the house.

"I never heard another speech as good as that," said Director Booth. And he never will hear a better.

Notes Make Sacrifice

The reports showed a number of fine, sacrificial gifts from people whose hearts are right. One woman who does day's work away from home, brought in $5 that represented hunger and cold, wet and muddy walks to save carfare. Two little tots Gordon and Estela Black, brought in their joint bank, which they robbed of everything but one penny kept "for seed," and they scrawled their names on a pledge card so that they, too, might have a place on the honor roll. A Chinaman out at Chemawa put in $15. "Sure, me likes help!" he said, though there isn't a chance in a thousand that he will ever go inside the new "Y." A man from Shaw asked to be allowed to pay $25 for the good of society.

Students Increase Pledge

One man who didn't really know the "Y" and so failed to realize the pleasure of supporting it, offered $25 for the Salvation Army—which the solicitors took, to turn over to the Army. The traveling agent for the Great Northern railway gave $25 some weeks ago, and Friday he doubled his gift. The Parrish Junior High citizenship league gave another subscription of $50 through their spokesman, Rosalind Hull; and Ivan White, for the Hi-Y boys, gave in 10 more names worth $100 cash.

Newspapers Praised

Harry Markell of the Portland "Y," who has been loaned to Salem all through the campaign, was introduced to give a heartening talk.

"It's been a pleasure to work here," he said. "In the 40 such campaigns I have been with I never seen a campaign where the newspapers gave such uniformly splendid service; where the men worked as faithfully, or where the women gave them such wonderful support. Fully 40 per cent of this campaign is due to the dinners and the encouragement given by the women of Salem."

Mr. Markell closed with a graphic story of a Yale-Cornell football game, where the cheering crowds carried the two teams alternately to advantage, but when Cornell finally won through sheer nerve of cheering on the sidelines.

Reports Are Offered

The day's pledges numbered 315, for $8,953.50. John Farrar's team had the largest amount of cash, $1115; Rich Reimann had the largest number of subscribers.
