THE SALEM FLORAL society, meeting this evening at the Chamber of Commerce, will sponsor a program both attractive and applicable. Not only members but all interested in civic beautification and particularly those who are planning new homes or new yards, and who are just new in the city, are invited to be in attendance.

Of particular interest will be the talk, illustrated with actual shrubbery cuttings which Miss Edith Hazard will give on available foliage for the yard. Miss Hazard, who is a member of the park board, is exceedingly well informed along floral lines. Bringing specimens of her own shrubs, she will be able to make clear identity of many numerous varieties.

W. C. Franklin will speak, from the authority of experience, on tulip growing.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson will choose as her subject the inexhaustible field of the perennials which serve to beautify the home as nothing else does.

Special music of the evening will be by Mrs. Earl Pearcy.

Mrs. F. N. Toothacre has as her house-guest her sister, Mrs. Stella Keith of Hastings, Neb.

Mrs. E. C. Richards and Mrs. W. E. Kirk were hostesses at a tea meeting of the Willamette University faculty women's club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Richards. Marigolds and autumn-tinted dahlias were beautifully arranged throughout the rooms. Twenty-five members of the club were present for the afternoon. Mrs. George H. Alden poured. The hostesses were assisted by Miss Frances M. Richards.

The members of the order of Rebekahs will meet Monday evening at the IOOF hall for their regular social night and pot-luck supper. A short program will be a feature of the evening. The hostess-group includes: Mrs. Carrie Jennings, Miss Rachel Reeder, Miss Sarah Oliver, Miss Cora McNeil, and Mrs. McElroy.

Miss Viola Jennings is a guest this week at the Judge A. S. Bennett home at The Dalles.

Reverend R. L. Putnam, pastor of the Court Street Christian church, officiated at the ceremony at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning which united in marriage Miss Mayel Montgomery of Stayton, and Mr. Carl O. Logan of Scio. The service was read at the parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Logan left immediately for a motor trip to Oakland, Cal. Upon their return they will make their home near Scio.

The senior Standard Bearers of the First Methodist church will meet at 7:15 o'clock this evening at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lee, 1515 State street. Maxine Maxwell will have charge of an opening period of games after which will come the program and business meeting with the election of officers. During the evening Mrs. B. L. Steeves and Mrs. Lee will report in an interesting manner on the Bellingham branch meeting which they recently attended.

Vera Brady Shipman of Chicago who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brady the past 10 days left yesterday morning to spend some time in San Francisco. She will return to Salem the first of next week.

Mrs. David Eyre was hostess for her bridge club on Wednesday, opening the new season with a delightfully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. Seasonal flowers gave the decorative motif. Mrs. John J. Roberts and Mrs. Harry Hawkins were invited guests of the day.

The club members include: Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Lamport, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. John McNary, Mrs. Henry Meyers, Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mrs. George Rodgers, Mrs. J. Shelley Saurman, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. William Walton, and Mrs. David Eyre.

The two table bridge club which meets for enjoyable fortnightly meetings was entertained on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Allan Jones. Mrs. Frederick Deckebach was an invited guest of the afternoon. Mrs. W. L. Phillips won the afternoon prize.

The club members include Mrs. Earle Daue, Mrs. Merrill Ohling, Mrs. Wallace Bonesteel, Mrs. Merrill Ohling, Mrs. Lewis Griffith, Mrs. Lester Barr, Mrs. W. L. Phillips and Mrs. Allan Jones.

Delightful in every detail was the meeting of Chapter G of the PEO Sisterhood Thursday afternoon at which Mrs. W. H. Byrd was hostess, entertaining at her home. A group of especially invited guests met with the chapter for the program of the afternoon which was in the form of a clever one-act play, "Mechanical Jane."

with Mrs. W. W. Moore taking the title role and Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Selee the other parts.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and foliage, with refreshments served late in the afternoon at small tables.

Among the guests of the afternoon was Mrs. George W. Thompson who has the distinction of being the niece of Mrs. Alice Byrd Babb one of the founders of the PEO sisterhood. The other guests of the afternoon included: Miss Dolly Brown, Miss Reynolds, and Miss Ella Moody.

At the business meeting of the afternoon plans were made for the bazaar and tea which will be held on Thursday of next week at the home of Mrs. W. W. Moore.

Chapter members presented for the afternoon included: Mrs. W. B. Bart, Mrs. W. H. Byrd, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. Harwood Hall, Miss Alice Hollister, Mrs. E. J. Hoffman, Mrs. W. M. Hughes, Mrs. G. W. Laflair, Mrs. C. B. McCullough, Mrs. William McGilchrist, Mrs. W. W. Moore, Mrs. C. K. Logan, Mrs. A. C. Farr, Mrs. W. M. Smith, and Mrs. A. T. Woolpert.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newman entertained this week Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gallagher and children of Corvallis.

The many friends of Miss Nellie Taylor will call this afternoon at the First Congregational church to honor her on the occasion of her eighteenth birthday. The calling hours will be from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. McCormick celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary Wednesday evening with a dinner party. Covers were placed for eight. A delightful program added to the pleasure of the evening. The color scheme throughout was red and gold.

Capital Assembly of United Artisans are planning a Halloween dinner on Thursday, Oct. 30, for the patronage of the public. The delicious holiday courses will be served from 11 o'clock to 2 o'clock at McCormick hall. In the evening Capital Assembly will hold an invitational party.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Follis have as their house-guests for a number of days, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roadman of Eugene.

The Senior King's Heralds will meet this afternoon from 2 to 4:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lee. The hostesses for the meeting will be Miss Blanche Reece, Miss Frances Reid, Miss Virginia Hoyt, and Miss Fern Colwell. The invitations bear the announcement that a Chinese Bob and Betty will greet the guests at the door.

The afternoon will be devoted to the election of officers and to the making of plans for the year. Echoes from the Bellingham Branch meeting will be presented in an attractive manner.

Under the able direction of Comrade C. J. Lisle, Hal Hibbard camp No. 5, U. S. W. V., will entertain Saturday evening for Spanish War veterans and their families. After the program refreshments will be served.

With Dr. William Greene Hale, dean of the University of Oregon law school, the speaker of the hour, the American Association of University Women's club luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Marion hotel is one of the anticipated affairs of the week.

Preceding the luncheon delegates from branches of the organization throughout the state will meet in convention at the hotel at 10 o'clock. The meeting called by Mrs. A. W. Cooper, is for the express purpose of organizing in the association a state division.

SILVERTON PLAYS SILVER FALLS

SILVERTON, Ore., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Statesman)—Silverton and Newberg high school football teams will meet in what is expected to be a closely contested battle on the Silver Falls gridiron Friday.

Silverton has so far played two games the first of which was with Monmouth whom Silverton held to a scoreless tie, the second with Oregon city who defeated at the tune of 7 to 0.

Splendid Characterizations in Comedy "What Every Woman Knows" Wins the Plaudits of Full House at Waller Hall

By AUDRED BUNCH

With one man taking the roles of six diverse characters, and the space of one small stage changing from the humble book-lined cottage to the mob-filled committee rooms, the London residence, and again the country home of the Comtesse with never a curtain or sign of properties, the four-act comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," last night at Waller Hall was a distinct success. Professor Rahskopf's interpretations were delicious. The most exacting were satisfied. The house was full. The response was immediate.

Acknowledging a most gracious introduction by Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Professor Rahskopf opened the evening by doing away with all confusion in presenting immediately his characters one by one. He reviewed the setting clearly, and before the audience was aware of the quavering grizzled old Scotch father was before them; and David with all his blunt fire was answering. The personification of Maggie was so genuine in its simplicity that the feeling that a woman had really entered the room was unquestioned.

In abrupt contrast was the intriguing Comtesse and her no less intriguing niece Lady Sybil who but for Maggie's wit and practicality would have made the drama not a comedy but a sorrowful tragedy. Professor Rahskopf's success at affecting the charming, gesticulating villainess proved his versatility in a most diverting fashion.

John Shand, the hero, if a trying character, was a most interesting provoking one. The audience followed him carefully and were well-pleased when they found his blunt egoism was never going to let him falter.

A short interlude followed at the close of the second act, affording opportunity for a special musical number, a vocal duet by Miss Faye Sparks and Miss Josephine Bross, Miss Jean Hobson playing the accompaniment, Mendelsohn's "Autumn Song" was chosen.

Resuming the stage, Professor Rahskopf immediately led his audience into a new climax scene, proving his ability to follow each character perfectly through moments of all intensity, and telling them at last what every woman knows is that every man loves to think he makes his life "all by himself."

With considerable necessary cutting, and transitions that were explanatory and concise, the gathered company was at the end of two hours ready for the closing lines of a delightful comedy which had made possible a wonderfully satisfying evening. It only remained to see who of the two characters now left on the stage, John or Maggie, should last please the audience with their words. But for this, the interpreter of the drama himself took the privilege of telling what the audience had long before guessed. "What it is every woman knows."

The play last night was sponsored by the Salem Woman's club and marked the successful beginning of splendid, active season.

SPEAKING OF MILK THERE IS THE GOAT

The Kingwood Saanen Goat Ranch is Getting Better and Better Day By Day

The Slogan man had a lot to say about milk in The Statesman of Thursday. He did not forget milk goats; and that is another story to come later, in its regular time. But there is something timely right now about milk goats. E.

E. Woods, proprietor of the Kingwood Saanen Goat Ranch, over in the eastern edge of West Salem, swept the platter clean at the state fair; and he has recently sold a Saanen yearling doe for $125, and a three months old kid for $50, and he is about to sell a doe to go into Idaho, for $150, and up that will give a gallon of milk a day at maturity.

All But the Stumps
Mr. Woods, when he started on his West Salem ranch, had four acres of wild land all covered with brush. The goats have cleaned it all as slick as a whistle—excepting the stumps; and he is now waiting for them to eat the stumps. He has good buildings, and a going concern, with prospective sales of all he can spare and leave ample breeding stock.
