COMING SPEAKER IS LAUDED BY CRITICS

Dahn Gopal Mukerji, Native of India, Receives High Praise By All

That Salem is able to secure Dahn Gopal Mukerji, the distinguished Hindu, is due to a fortunate chain of events.

"You are to be congratulated," writes John T. Hotchkiss, former president of the Oregon Writers' league, and now with the J. K. Gill company, "upon being one of the three cities in the west to be favored with a lecture by this eminent intellectual. Mr. Mukerji is a very delightful story teller. I have read his 'Jungle Beasts and Men' and 'Karl the Elephant,' and would walk a mile to hear him talk."

"One is dazzled with the glamour of the east, fascinated with his revelation of the laws of underlying mystery and his understanding of animals and men. He is one of the most interesting writers I have run across in a blue moon."

Mr. Mukerji is quoted in the Atlantic Monthly as making this statement upon his return to India: "Sometimes I saw beautiful seventeenth century columns pulled down in order to widen the streets that two automobiles might go abreast."

"That sight brought vividly to my mind the real conflict in India today: the best of the eighteenth century at war with the best of the twentieth; modern progress slashing its way through the beauty and squalor of the Renaissance."

"The next thing I remember is my brother's face. I looked into his eyes and read there not a man, but a continent. India, India... my elder brother—the head of our house now that my mother and father are no more. No word can describe my meeting with him after all these years of exile."

"I am glad he is coming," says a Salem authority. He is one of three lecturers in the United States I would like most to hear."

Mr. Mukerji will appear at Walker Hall Saturday evening, October 25.
