

COREY PROUD OF ECONOMY

Public Service Commission Only Department to Keep Under Allotment

Claims of being the only department of the state that has functioned successfully below the annual appropriation are made by the public service commission in a letter to Governor Pierce from H. H. Corey, chairman of the commission. The biennial appropriation for the last two years was $140,000, and of this amount only $67,559.82 was used in 1923 and $48,100.96 for the first nine months of this year, leaving an estimated balance of $15,000 to be returned to the state.

Notwithstanding the additional duties placed on the commission by the legislature, the commission will have operated during the biennial period of 1923-24 at a saving of $20,000 over the previous biennium, the letter states.

LADY EXPERT COMING TO HELP RUPTURED WOMEN

Demonstrates Rice Method Free to All

Mrs. F. E. Williams, representing William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., inventor of the famous Rice (Non-Surgical) Method for Rupture, will be at Marion Hotel, Salem, Ore., Saturday, Oct. 25, to demonstrate a new special corset attachment that holds any rupture no matter how large. Even if the abdomen is very fleshy, it holds any rupture with ease, comfort and security.

Every woman who has been compelled to wear an ordinary truss or abdominal support knows the going, cutting and chafing caused by narrow bands. The weight of the abdomen or pressure necessary in holding the rupture must be carried by the band around the back, and the pressure is sometimes very great, causing untold suffering. The special, broad supporting corset back distributes the pressure and takes away all cutting and chafing.

There are thousands of women who are in perfect misery because they cannot find anything that will hold their rupture and the abdomen at the same time. The appliances usually worn are hot, bulky, chafing and irritating. But this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support is light, flexible, durable and cool and fits the figure like a glove. It gives you a sense of absolute comfort and protection while at the same time greatly improving abdominal outlines.

It is common use are not adapted to women and often do great harm. Women, therefore, suffer more and are in greater danger from rupture than men, and all women, who have ruptures or who wear an abdominal support of any kind, should not fail to call and see this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support. No description or illustration can fully convey the remarkable utility of this splendid support. It must be seen; it must be put on to convince any woman that it was designed for her.

Mrs. Williams takes a large woman just as she is, all out of shape and unsightly, and by this remarkable Corset Back Support gives her a natural, neat, trim figure. She will also give full instructions on how to handle and care for any rupture, large or small. She will show how to hold any kind of rupture from the simple groin and femoral to the large and difficult Navel and after Operation Ruptures, without chafing or squeezing, also how to wear the corset correctly.

Don't let this great opportunity get away from you. Don't continue to suffer the burden of rupture and truss wearing when it is so entirely unnecessary. You call on this Lady Expert, is sure to prove one of the best things you ever did. She will be there only one day, then your opportunity will be gone. The fitting and demonstration are free. It doesn't cost you a penny to learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity to help it offer in your case. After demonstration you can purchase the Outfit required if you wish.

Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m. or 7 to 9 evenings. Just ask at the hotel desk for the Rice Representative and she will do the rest.

reduction in express rates, Mr. Corey states. Orders from the commission reducing rates on farm products, such as grain, grain products, onions, from 10 to 40 per cent, and by eliminating branch line differentials will make a saving to the farmer of thousands of dollars annually.

During 1923 and 1924 the commission has prosecuted a complaint written by Mr. Corey before the ICC requiring the construction of much needed railroads in central and southern Oregon, the successful outcome of which would result in such vast benefit to the state as to preclude its estimate in dollars and cents. As a direct result of the activities of the commission railroad construction has increased until today Oregon stands second in the United States to Texas only in the matter of new railroad construction.

Filberts to be Featured By The Northern Pacific R. R.

The growing of filberts in Oregon will be strongly featured by the Northern Pacific Railroad company in the coming publicity campaign which is in preparation to promote the northwest. This campaign will include lectures and pictures to be given throughout the east. In the preparation of the section on filberts George A. Dorris of Springfield, Ore., a pioneer in the filbert industry, contributed his experience. Twenty-three years ago Mr. Dorris planted 100 filbert trees on his farm in Springfield as an experiment. In the past twenty-three years these trees have given him eighteen full crops, with more than a half crop for the other two years. As a pioneer in this industry Mr. Dorris is reaping a rich reward for his foresightedness. The progress in this class of horticulture has been phenomenal and offers a splendid future. It is the firm belief of Mr. Dorris.

Prune Exchange Doing Good Business

Special meeting has been called by the North Pacific Cooperative Prune Exchange, Portland, Ore. of the directors of the exchange and directors of the different locals, to be held in Portland 10 a. m., October 27 to discuss a definite date for acceptance of prunes into this year's pool. It is probable November first will be set as the final date by different locals for accepting members for this year in order to avoid small lots coming in by late membership and holding up the closing of the pool a much longer time than would otherwise be necessary. An appropriation has been made by the Prune Exchange for a prize and assistance to the boys and girls bread making contest in the booth of the Exchange at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, Nov. 1 to 8. Orders for shipments of carton packed prunes will be taken by the girls at the booth.

NEW CAMPAIGN STARTS TODAY

(Continued from page 1) new building over the top with a good margin of safety. While a few faint-hearted may drop out of the ranks, and some will be forced to give up for business reasons over which they have no control, it is believed that the aggregate of enthusiasm and determination for the new campaign will be greater than that of the first. Nobody wants to admit that he's whipped, or that his city is a piker, and his friends are quitters, and their collective judgment will not stand loyally by such a splendid institution as the Salem "Y"; so the new "Y" army is preparing to say a sincere and heartfelt prayer for the boys it has saved and will continue to save in greater numbers when the great new building and equipment comes—and then spit on its myriad hands and wade through to the finish. It ought to be closed up within five days. It would be in one day if those who can help would come through right now and not wait to be coaxed and explained to. But it's sure to come, whether in one day or ten, or in all winter.

B. J. Kimber, of Hoquiam, Wash., to Succeed Edwin Socolofsky Here

Benjamin J. Kimber, an experienced man in religious work, has accepted the call to be secretary of the Marion county YMCA. The committee feels that it has made a very wise selection.

Mr. Kimber has always been interested in boys and in addition received a thorough training through the Presbyterian ministry. He is at present circulation manager of a newspaper at Hoquiam, Wash., and anybody knows that handling boys is one of the requisites of such a position. Mr. Kimber came down to Salem and spent two days here looking over the situation and conferring with the committee. When he left he said he hoped to accept the offer made, but would know in a few days. A dispatch received yesterday announced his acceptance.

Mr. Kimber will find the work in fine condition. He will go into it with enthusiasm and courage.

Fred Williams Reports on Political Conditions in Southern Oregon

Attorney Fred A. The contention on the part of the farmers is that the measure is generally unjust, and in many cases entirely unfounded, Mr. Williams says, and they are therefore talking and working for Kay.

PIONEER CLUB TO HAVE TRADE CLASS

Carpentry and Sheet Metal Work Offered By Central Congregational

A new idea in Pioneer club activities is being put into practice at the Central Congregational church on South Nineteenth, the congregation having approved of the plan of substituting manual training in the place of the regular play hour which is a part of the Pioneer program. This is the only club in the city to have such an opportunity.

This plan is made possible by the new church annex that was completed early in the spring. The necessary equipment and supplies are available to all of the boys of the community, and none are barred because of affiliation with other denominations, according to Rev. Harry Johnson, pastor of the church. Under the direction of C. C. Harris, the boys are given an opportunity to learn carpentry and sheet metal work. The classes are held every Monday night in the annex, which is developing into a community center. Albert Powell is the leader of the Central Congregational church Pioneer club.

These ever recurring elections. The labor party makes up for lack of money by the great enthusiasm and voluntary election work of its supporters but clearly would not be able to stand the strain of the yearly contests.

WATER SUPPLY LUPER'S TOPIC

Kiwanians Told of Possibilities of Clear Lake Project By Engineer

Interesting statistics on the Clear Lake water supply project were presented to the Kiwanis club Tuesday by Rhea Luper, state engineer. The estimated figure was that in 1950 the combined population of Salem, Albany, Corvallis, Eugene, Springfield, Lebanon, Independence, Junction City and Brownsville would be 153,000 and the evident need of a pure water supply was clearly presented.

By taking advantage of existing data, such as the United States geological survey maps, highway department profiles, forest service maps, and the data compiled by the several interested cities, the preliminary report of the project was made at a cost far below that originally contemplated.

Mr. Luper reported that to serve the cities in the upper Willamette valley, above and including Salem, would require a pipe line 125 miles long and varying in diameter from 32 to 46 inches. This line would deliver about 29,000,000 gallons daily, or a quantity to furnish 190 gallons daily per capita for the estimated population of 153,000 in the year 1950. A steel pipe would cost $7,200,000 approximately, and a wood stave creosoted pipe approximately $7,200,000. The assessed valuation of the cities considered is $34,600,000, while the present indebtedness is a little over $3,000,000. Under the most favorable circumstances the proposed system could not be expected to operate before 1928, at which time the population would likely be about 80,000.

A required per capita revenue of $13.20 per year would care for the annual operating expense of the steel system. In 1950 this per capita cost would be reduced to $6.90, or an average cost of a little more than $2.40 per month for a family of four persons. "The only basis we have for estimating the value of a water supply such as is contemplated in this project is by comparing the cost with our payments at the present time," Mr. Luper continued. "There is no comparison in the quality of the water supply. I want you to understand that I am not promoting this project. We found that many of the people in this locality were intensely interested and had hoped that the project would prove more nearly feasible at this time. We are glad to supply facts and estimates, but that is as far as we can go."

The diversion of Giallie, a tributary of the McKenzie river, is contemplated, because it offers many advantages over Clear Lake, although the project is still called that. This stream is about two miles long and is formed entirely by springs. The whole country in this vicinity forms a great natural filter, and the water is as clear as it is possible for water to be, and is absolutely free from possible contamination now or in the future. Measurements of the stream show the flow is 160 gallons per second foot, or 100,000,000 gallons per day.

In closing his address Mr. Luper said: "We are not confronted with such necessity as was Los Angeles, whose citizens paid $25,000,000 at a time when its population was slightly over 200,000, but we can be sure that we have pure supply of water available when it is wanted, in my opinion."

Words of appreciation and a standing salute was given N. D. Elliott, secretary of the club, for the splendid service given on the weekly bulletins.
