

REGISTRATION THROUGH STATE HAS INCREASE

Figures Prior to General Election on November 4 Give 371,169 Against 333,055 in 1922

ONLY ONE COUNTY HAS DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY

Maker Bourbons Lead By Four, According to Report of Sam Kozer

The 36 Oregon counties have a total registration prior to the general election on November 4 of 371,169, according to figures made public yesterday by Sam A. Kozer, secretary of state. This is $3,114 more than were registered prior to the election of November 2, 1922 but only 6700 more than were registered prior to the regular election in 1920.

In the general election two years ago a total of 241,267 votes were cast by the 333,055 registered voters. In 1920 247,899 of the 364,469 registered voters visited the polls. Republicans outnumbered Democrats nearly three to one, the statement shows, with 254,014 registered for this party affiliation against 99,586 democrats and 17,559 classed under miscellaneous, which includes prohibition, non-partisan, independent and socialist.

Outside of Multnomah county, with a prior registration of 126,974, Marion county is easily second, with a total of 23,795, the statement shows. Of this number 17,655 are Republicans, 4989 are Democrats and 1161 are listed as miscellaneous. The registration shows a gain of more than 2000 voters over the total registration prior to the general election in 1922, when a total of 21,938 were registered.

Lane county is third in number.

LINN COUNTY BACKS JUDGE M'MAHON

Unanimous Endorsement Is Given By Central Committee on Saturday

Unanimous endorsement of L. McMahan for circuit judge is given by the Linn county republican central committee Saturday. Mr. McMahan was appointed judge of the circuit court by Governor Pierce and immediately announced his candidacy for the position.

The meeting was well-attended and enthusiastic according to Paul F. Burris, chairman of the Marion county central committee, who presented the matter to the Linn county committee.

C. P. Bishop Back Home; Trip Made By Stages

C. P. Bishop was brought to Salem last night by Mrs. C. P. Bishop and Herbert Bady, who motored to North Bend Friday. Mr. Bishop was injured in an automobile accident while on an excursion to the beach, and suffered severe bruises when the auto in which he was riding, bumped along over the rough ground. An examination did not disclose any broken bones.

The trip from North Bend was made in easy stages and Mr. Bishop slept a good part of the time. A stop was made at Roseburg for a few hours to give him time to rest. It will be several weeks before Mr. Bishop can be down town although he is able to be up in this room at his home on Court street.

A CHALLENGE TO LOYAL SALEMITES

The campaign for the new building for Salem's Y. M. C. A. is drawing to a close, Monday night, after an all day canvass of the city by districts, the campaign organization will hold its final meeting. A hundred men and more have made great sacrifices of time and have turned in a magnificent record of service.

Also there has been a wonderful response. Over 2000 pledges for a total of more than $165,000 have been secured. It is doubtful whether there has ever been in Salem more general, or more sacrificial, giving than has been evidenced in this effort. It proves that the Association is well grounded in the confidence and affections of the people.

Yet the campaign has fallen short. It has fallen short, and this whole great enterprise is threatened with failure, and the institution with disaster. It has fallen short; not because the objective was too high, for it will be impossible to build adequately for less; not because of any fault in the organization, for it is generally conceded that a better or more determined body of men and women never have been brought together for any cause in Salem; certainly not for lack of sacrificial giving on the part of the general public, for they have given generously, and then given again.

This constitutes the most challenging opportunity for philanthropy that has ever been presented in Salem. These gifts are all conditional—

Not one of them is binding until the goal is reached. A pledge, or a combination of pledges, covering the last $25,000, is therefore not merely that amount of money to be devoted to a worthy undertaking, but it releases and puts to work seven times its own face value. The psychological moment is here for a great act of generosity that will thrill the community, and save a great cause.

Where is there a more attractive field for benevolence? This is not a venture in an uncharted wilderness. The Y. M. C. A. has proven itself in a thousand cities and during three generations. No candid observer can question its right to the fullest confidence of the most exacting. It has an appeal in a remarkable degree to the youth of our youth. In every land it is recognized as one of the great necessary agencies of a complex civilization.

Here is a call upon those men and women of Salem who are in position to do so, to save this undertaking. Tomorrow is the last day—make it a red letter day in Salem's history by making the gift or gifts that will put this project over the top with a goodly margin.

You have the promise, on the greatest of all authorities, that such a gift will not impoverish, but will enrich.

GOP CARAVAN COMING HERE

Distinguished Visitors Will Arrive Thursday Noon; Stay for Lunch

Chairman Paul T. Burris has received from State Chairman I. L. Patterson a letter detailing the Coolidge-Dawes caravan which is touring the country. This caravan has the official sanction of the republican national committee. It left Plymouth, Vt., President Coolidge's birthplace, Sept. 9. Its final destination is San Francisco.

Along with the party is Hon. W. A. Jeffers, director of the caravan. Mr. Jeffers is a former Nebraska congressman and nominated Dawes at the Cleveland convention. John P. Cowans is caravan manager. The trip has been a notable one so far and at every point along the line of travel has been met by an escort of 50 to 300 automobiles from the next town. In most places bands have been furnished. This means the caravan tour has had practically an unbroken line of escorts.

The caravan will leave Albany shortly after 11 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, Oct. 30 and will arrive in Salem promptly at noon for lunch. The party will leave Salem early in the afternoon, making short stops at Gervais, Woodburn, Aurora, Canby and Oregon City. They will arrive in Portland about 5 o'clock. Chairman Burris will have charge of all the arrangements in this county. The visiting party consists of eight automobiles and includes 14 people.

WHITMAN PRESIDENT IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Dr. S. B. L. Penrose, Threatened With Blindness in His Right Eye

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 25.—Dr. Stephen B. L. Penrose, president of Whitman college, Walla Walla, is a patient at a hospital here, where he arrived last night for treatment for his right eye, which, according to Mrs. Penrose has become afflicted with a disorder similar to that which caused him to lose the sight of his left eye several years ago.

It was said at the hospital that he would be confined to his room for several weeks.

Portlander Killed By Delivery Truck

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 25.—Arthur Amos, 36, of Linton, was killed instantly today when a delivery truck on which he was riding skidded and went over a 25 foot embankment on the Cornelius Pass road, about one mile off the Lower Columbia highway.

SHENANDOAH ARRIVES NJ

Trip From Coast to Coast Completed By Giant United States Airship

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 25.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah came to earth at its home station here just at midnight after a journey of 9,000 miles across the country and back which had taken 18 and a half days.

ABOARD USS SHENANDOAH, BY RADIO TO FORT HAYES, COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 25.—A new era in the history of lighter than air navigation was written tonight when the big navy airship Shenandoah hovered gracefully over its home hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., completing its remarkable record breaking nine thousand mile cruise.

Not only were the world's records of achievement broken but a greater thrill came to the country from the fact that the first American built rigid airship had made the first voyage across the United States and returned. The test of ship and men, a test as severe as any ship ever faced, has been successfully met. The Shenandoah cast off from the mooring mast at Lakehurst and started its long cruise at 10 a. m., October 7. At 11 o'clock tonight 445 hours had passed since the start. In that time the Shenandoah had been flying with its engines running for 257 hours and 38 minutes and moored to a mast for 187 hours and 32 minutes. The latter includes five days, or 120 hours that the ship was being repaired.

No Gas Lost None of the precious helium was lost by difficulties during the voyage. All that escaped was valued to permit landing, or set free by automatic safety valves under the expansion of the high altitudes.

For every minute through the entire cruise, the ship was able to maintain constant radio communication with the land, frequently with stations several thousand miles distant. Weather reports, official messages, instructions as to mooring hours and thousands of words of press messages were sent and received. New discoveries in the possibilities of radio communication from high altitudes were made.

All of the radio equipment carried on board was manufactured at the Bellevue experiment laboratory, Washington, many of the technicalities of which never had been tried out before and their success was evident.

Fans Tune In As remarkable as the effectiveness of the radio apparatus was the promptness with which communication was established in almost every part of the United States. Thousands of radio amateurs picked up the ship's messages and relayed them to their destinations.

The actual flying time between cities deducting the time taken in locating the mooring masts through the fogs was 235 hours and 11 minutes. The fastest express trains be-

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE DIES SUDDENLY

Henry O. Wallace Passes at Washington Naval Hospital After Being Unconscious Many Hours

RECENT OPERATION IS GIVEN AS CAUSE

End Comes Unexpectedly Despite Efforts of Skillful Physicians

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Henry O. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, died at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the naval hospital of toxemia poisoning which developed after an operation performed last week in an effort to relieve sciatica. He was in his 59th year. Death came peacefully after long hours of unconsciousness and after medical science was unable to longer check the ravages of the disease. At the bedside were Mrs. Wallace and their daughter Miss Ruth. Other members of the family were in the city.

The death of the secretary, although expected throughout the day, came as a shock to official Washington and to his many friends both in the city and the country. After the operation, Mr. Wallace began to improve and it was thought that he was convalescing rapidly.

End Is Sudden

As late as Thursday night, the secretary's condition was not considered alarming and at that time Mr. Wallace instructed Dr. Boone that the agricultural department might issue a denial of a recurring report that he expected to resign his cabinet post about the first of the year. The report has persisted for some time and several friends were prepared for such a step because of the secretary's health. His condition after the operation became serious Friday as infection developed and the poison began spreading through the secretary's system, despite every effort of physicians, his condition steadily grew worse.

Mr. Wallace lapsed into unconsciousness in the early hours of today when as the morning wore away physicians, although still clinging to a feeble hope that a change for the better might occur, announced that his constitution was weakening rapidly.

Hope Given Up

Shortly before noon it was said his condition "could hardly be more unfavorable" and it was feared that it was only a question as to how long his heart action could hold out. Several times in the afternoon it was thought that he was dying but, each time the secretary retained his hold on the thin thread of life until he passed peacefully away.

In the hospital comforting Mrs. Wallace and her daughter throughout the day was Mrs. Weeks, wife of the secretary of war, and J. C. Davis, director of the railroad administration, and Mrs. Davis, close friends of the family.

As soon as Mrs. Wallace returned to her home from the hospital, President and Mrs. Coolidge called upon her to offer their condolences.

Navy Day Will Be Staged on Monday

Navy day, which will be celebrated Monday, will have a two-fold purpose—the observance of the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt and the emphasis to the people of the value of the navy in time of war and as a preventive of war.

The birthday of Roosevelt is chosen for the observance of Navy day because as president he did more to build up the navy and to put the United States on an equal footing with Great Britain as a naval power than anyone else.

Judge Wallace McCamant of Portland is state chairman of the Navy league of the United States, which is sponsoring the day.

HUGE GOLD SHIPMENT

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 25.—Memories of the days of the Klondike rush were revived today when a shipment of $575,000 in gold bullion, brought here on the steamship, Victoria, from Nome, Alaska mines was deposited in a Seattle bank vault today. The shipment represented a season's output by mines in the Nome district.

SEATTLE WILL PLAY AGAINST SAINTS TODAY

Game Scheduled in Spite of Prediction of Rain Sent Out By Weatherman

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—Although rain was predicted for tomorrow by the local United States weather bureau the Seattle Indians, champions of the Pacific coast league, and the St. Paul Saints, winners of the American association pennant and victors over the Baltimore Orioles of the International league, expected to play the first of a series of games to determine the championship of the minor baseball leagues. The initial contest, scheduled for today, was postponed because of rain.

300 TEACHERS MEET IN CITY

H. F. Durham, Salem, Named President of Branch of State Association

H. F. Durham, principal of the J. L. Parrish junior high school of Salem, was elected president of the Marion county branch of the Oregon State Teachers' association, which met in session at the Salem high school auditorium Saturday. John Rodman, principal of Scotts Mills high school, was elected vice president, and Miss Rosella Richardson, of the Central Howell school, Silverton, secretary treasurer.

Over 300 teachers from Marion county were in attendance, the largest response ever secured here for a meeting at which the attendance was not compelled. Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, was very pleased with the showing made.

The morning session was taken up principally by addresses. Considerable attention was given to the topic of sanitation, particularly in the one room schools. Miss Cane and Dr. E. E. Fischer gave the principal address in the forenoon.

Prof. U. G. Dabach, of the Oregon Agricultural college, was the main speaker of the afternoon, on directing of the child's career. He drew from his own personal experiences as a teacher. The executive committee of the Marion county branch of the teachers' association was selected and is as follows: T. O. Davis, Jefferson; Mr. Coffey, Silverton, and Lois Miller, Hubbard. The officers of the association are ex-officio of this committee.

The association also went on record as favoring the bill which is to come before the legislature soon concerning the prohibition of advertising of tobacco and cigarettes on billboards. Miss C. Spencer was given a good send off for her candidacy to the office of president of the Oregon State Teachers' association. Marion county launched her last year and they are back of her in full strength for this year's campaign.

Delegates to the state meeting of the association were selected and are E. F. Fagon, Woodburn; Lee Byer, Woodburn; Mrs. L. Clark, Salem; R. Snyder, Gervais; V. Cone, Liberty; H. Reed, Silverton; H. De Loney, Gervais, and Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson.

Peak of Homecoming Festivities Reached by Crowd Last Night

Willamette's second annual Homecoming reached a grand climax in Bearcat Stadium staged at the stadium at the fair grounds at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Strips of tickets obtained at the gates admitted spectators to the various side shows.

Here was a futuristic booth; a futuristic artist displayed her paintings; one of the moonlight but no moon. When people get sufficiently advanced she explains, "they will require no moon in order to see moonlight."

Next was Santa Claus at the North Pole distributing snowballs. Here, under the sea in "Davy Jones Locker" an alumni of '20 greets a man of class of '18. Together they view the corpses, the sea animals and the plunder in "Davy Jones' Locker."

There the devil relates to one his sins and sentences him for a term at shoveling coal. In an oriental booth Elsie Hop Lee presented a real Chinese dance. Can that cannibal king be foot-

COMMANDER OF CHINESE ARMY ALL PREPARED

General Wu Pei-Fu Remains at Field Headquarters, Is Latest Information Given Out

HAS NOT FLED, AS REPORTED YESTERDAY

Italians Land Forces to Protect Interests in City of Tientsin

TIENTSIN, Oct. 25.—(By The Associated Press)—Wu Pei-Fu, deposed commander of the Chinese national armies, was still at Chingwantao, his field headquarters in the war with Manchuria today, according to reports from reliable sources received here late tonight.

(Yesterday, current reports said Wu had fled to Shanghai). The police commissioner of Tientsin tonight informed the Italian consul that he had received word that 5,000 troops were coming here from Peking to protect the city.

Ninety of 130 men aboard an Italian gunboat were landed today to protect the Italian concession. Italian ex-service men also, were warned to stand by in case an emergency should arise. A portion of 26th division, commanded by a brother of President Tsao Kun, came up from Tangku, on the coast, this morning, on an assignment to keep the Tientsin-Pukow railway line open.

Reports were received that four trainloads of Shantung province troops were en route here. Local Chinese are panicky, and today were pouring into foreign concessions by the dozens, carrying all of their belongings.

BOB MENTIONS INCOME TAXES

La Follette Also Issues Long Statement in Support of Walsh

AIKEN, Md., Oct. 25.—On his arrival here today for a week-end rest, Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president issued a statement in which he declared that "the information regarding taxes paid by income tax payers which has already been published in the newspapers is a complete justification of the long fight that has been made by the progressives to open tax returns to public inspection."

Mr. La Follette also made a statement by him to Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat, Montana, advocating reelection of the "prosecutor" of the senate oil inquiry.

In his message to Senator Walsh, Mr. La Follette said:

Asks Reelection to State Office

I. H. VAN WINKLE

I. H. Van Winkle, present attorney general of the state of Oregon, is just completing his first elective term of office, and has been nominated for reelection on the republican ticket. He was born on a farm in Linn county, Oregon, in 1870. He received his education in the public schools of the state and at Willamette university. For a number of years he has been a trustee of Willamette and dean of its college of law.

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS MATURE

162nd Infantry Band to Be Feature of Salem Celebration

Added features of the Armistice Day celebration are disclosing themselves each day, although they are not fully worked out by the committee in charge. The latest attraction concerns the announcement of the participation of the crack regimental band of the 162nd Infantry, which is now in Portland. General George A. White has arranged to have the band of 60 and 70 pieces to be here with the drum corps, to take part in the general county celebration at which time the Salem War Mothers are dedicating a statue, "Over The Top to Victory" commemorating the soldier dead of Marion county. With the other bands which have been secured, the parade promises to be of considerable interest.

Every civic organization in Marion county has been extended an invitation to participate in the parade. Invitations have been mailed to civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations and a hearty response is expected. In fact, the parade committee from the American legion and the War mothers are desirous that as many organizations as possible enter the parade.

The marchers will form at Marion square at 1:30 o'clock from whence they will march south on Commercial to State, east on State to the Marion county court house, circle the grounds and group themselves in mass formation, facing the stand which will be erected for the occasion.

The main feature of the celebration will be the dedication of the monument. Definite plans for this event are being worked out in full, but a general program is announced. Definite arrangements for the main speaker are not completed, but it is probable that W. F. Gilbert, who was regimental chaplain of the 162nd regiment during the World war will speak. Dr. Gilbert is now in the east, but is expected to return to the coast.

A complete program will be furnished by the committees soon. There will be other speakers, however, among them Thomas B. Kay, whose efforts in making the erection of the statue possible, Mayor John B. Giesy, George Griffith, representing the American legion, and others.

A relative of every man who is commemorated by the statue will be given a place of honor on the stand.

WEDDING RIDE FATAL

ONTARIO, Cal., Oct. 25.—Three women and one man, all Mexicans, believed to have been members of a wedding party en route from Ontario to Riverside, were instantly killed today when their automobile was struck by a passenger train at a grade crossing nine miles east of here.

Two other men in the party were seriously injured.

DAWES ASSAILS THIRD PARTY IN NY ADDRESS

Men Claiming to Speak of Rule of People are Speaking of Rule of the Mob, Is Assertion

BOURBONS GET ONLY A BRIEF MENTION

Small Votes Polled in Previous Elections Deplored By Republican

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles G. Dawes, speaking tonight in New York for the first time since the beginning of the campaign, scored the La Follette independent movement, assailed the democrats and denounced "cowardly, trimming politicians" in his own party.

The La Follette candidacy bore the brunt of the assault. Mr. Dawes describing it as an "attack leveled at the constitution, which, if successful means destruction of our form of government."

He also attacked its leaders, asserted that "We are hearing much about the rule of the people from the men who are speaking really of the rule of the mob."

Democrats Hit The attention given by the republican nominee to the democratic opposition was only in passing and consisted in a reference to what he termed that party's attempt to stand up in the battle with one radical and one conservative candidate.

"In a way, I respect those men who are fighting this form of government," he said with reference to the La Follette group. "They have courage and I respect their courage. But we have not had anybody on my side for the last four years—at least not many—that have been standing up and fighting."

Lack of political courage, Mr. Dawes asserted, had resulted in the polling of a small vote in past elections.

Refers to Wisconsin "That is the reason why up in Wisconsin for four years you have only had about 33 to 40 per cent of the registered vote cast and through large sections of our country the same thing pertains," he added. "Why? What inducement is there for American citizens to come out and vote when on one side is a man in earnest, courageous, fighting for something that a citizen does not believe in; and on the other side is a cowardly, trimming politician, preaching that by legislation you can get high beef on the hoof and low beef on the table, high railroad wages and low railroad rates and all that sort of inconsistent stuff and clap-trap, trying to please everybody; putting vote getting above principle—a pretty poor choice."

"That is one reason why the people have not been to the polls as they should have been. But now you have a fight." The issue in this "fight," Mr. Dawes told his audience, was raised when the La Follette group adopted a platform declaring for submission of "a constitutional amendment, providing that congress may by reenacting a statute, make it effective over a judicial veto."

In other words, at one blow, he added, "it is proposed to destroy the balance of power which exists in this government between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government and make the executive and judicial subordinate to congress."

Export Apple Deal to End About Thanksgiving

That the export apple deal being engineered by Young & Wells will be completed by Thanksgiving was the statement made yesterday by L. W. Wells, junior member of the firm. The rain is delaying shipments at present, but there are between 7,000 and 8,000 boxes of apples to be packed out of here and an equal amount from outside plants.

Whether or not the remaining apples can be gotten out of the orchards due to the rains remains to be seen and some of the early export shipments may be delayed past the first of the month.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 25.—Tacoma police stated tonight that they believed the youth who was killed Friday afternoon at Sumner, when his body was mangled beneath a freight train, to be Charles Hahn, 15, of Portland, Ore.
