THE WOMEN'S Republican Study club will sponsor a reception this afternoon honoring a distinguished woman visitor in the city, Miss Eleanor Barker of Indianapolis, Ind., an enrolled member of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee in the fall campaign.

Calling hours for the reception are from 2 to 4 at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bishop, 765 Court street.

All interested women are invited to attend and meet the guest of honor who is a speaker of national reputation. A practicing attorney in Indianapolis, she is a graduate of Western College, Oxford, Ohio, and of the Indiana Law school. While she has never been an aspirant or candidate for political office, she has always been an active worker in the interests of legislation beneficial to women and children.

A member of the state board of the franchise league of Indiana, she was also during the war a field representative of the Indiana food administration. Miss Barker was also state chairman of the committee on women and children in industry for the state council of defense, which with the cooperation of the department of labor, Washington, made the first survey of women and children in industry ever made in the state of Indiana.

Mrs. Loren W. Wann and daughters, Dorothy and Frances, of Hooper, Wash., were visitors last week at the home of Mr. Wann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Wann of South Nineteenth street.

Over 50 members of the Berean class of the First Presbyterian church met in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon for the most delightful of programs. Vine maple was used everywhere in the beautifully decorated rooms with French marigolds lending the brighter Hallowe'en tones, and black cats and bats the novelty motif.

At the beginning of the afternoon the gathered company was divided into five families, including the Cat, the Owl, the Ghost, the Jack-o'-lantern, and the Moon groups, with each member of each family impersonating in a clever characterization. Later each family was presented in an original, competitive stunt with a bowl of milk—going to the "Cat" family.

Mrs. Cat in clever introductions and suitable responses from the various members of her family, was most ingenious.

An automobile race to Mrs. Park's Sunday school class afforded another mirth-making series of stunts after which delicious Hallowe'en refreshments of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, and coffee were served.

Various committees contributed to make the day a happy success. Mrs. W. N. Savage was chairman of the committee in general charge, her assistants including Mrs. Francis Guthrie, Mrs. Bertha Junk Darby, Mrs. Clay Taylor, and Mrs. W. E. Hansen.

Mrs. Nobel and Miss Lucille Chase had charge of the clever Hallowe'en program, and Mrs. Ling and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr. of the beautiful decorative arrangements.

Mrs. C. A. Park is the teacher of the class.

Yellow chrysanthemums charmingly centered the luncheon table on Monday when Mrs. W. Connel Dyer entertained for the pleasure of her bridge club. Mrs. Compton, the house guest of Mrs. Keith Powell of Woodburn, met with the club for the delightful affair.

Club members present included Mrs. R. M. Hofer, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Ercel Kay, Mrs. Hugh McCammon, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., Mrs. Keith Powell, Mrs. Curtis Cross, and the hostess, Mrs. Dyer.

A Hallowe'en fete running into a literal riot of fun and color was that given by the members of the Willing Workers class of the First Christian church on Wednesday evening. A company of 75 were present for the games and the special features, the latter including thrilling ghost stories by Lola Cook Bellinger and by Mrs. John Humphreys.

An ominous owl in the crescent of an artificial moon, with black cats, and banks of orange marigolds, formed the decorative background for the affair. Refreshments of pumpkin pie and cider were served.

The hostesses of the evening were: Mrs. Bert Macy, Mrs. Richard Peters, Mrs. Earl Wood, and Mrs. E. H. Dickinson.

Mrs. E. D. Taylor, 1795 Fairgrounds road, after three weeks convalescence at the Deaconess hospital following a major operation was able on Wednesday to return to her home.

The members of the Golden Hour club will entertain Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Pemberton, 1455 South Commercial street, with a Hallowe'en party with the husbands as guests.
