

$1 Butter! Not a Chance

Here is Direct Answer to the Margarine Billboard Ads
Just now there is a very active effort being made by the interests which are back of the sale of margarine, whether of animal or vegetable oil base, to throw dust in the eyes of the uninformed general public in an effort to prevent Referendum No. 16 from going onto the statute books of the State of Washington, and a similar campaign in Oregon on No. 306 for this state.

Creameries in the two states which refuse to sell nut margarine, or the animal fat margarine, and which are putting up their money and efforts in the support of the law which prohibits the use of the flavor of dairy products in margarine manufacture should have the whole-hearted support of the consumer, the merchant and the dairyman.

There is not an independent creamery in either Washington or Oregon that could not make and sell substitutes if they were more interested in the mere production of dollars and cents for themselves than they are in putting out of a pure dairy food product which keeps faith with the consumer in its claims of food value.

They could also make a greater profit out of this commodity than they can ever realize from the sale of butter.

The reason they do not sell it is because they know that it does not contain the food value necessary to protect and promote the health of our children. They also know it is a great detriment to the encouragement and development of the dairy industry in the states of Washington and Oregon.

$1 Butter! Not a Chance
Do not be fooled about $1 per pound butter if the margarine interests are made to sell their products on their own merits. This is all you do when you vote for Referendum No. 16 and 306.

Billboard advertising has been broadcasted over both states making such an unprovable claim, to catch the votes of the uninformed. Margarine is prohibited in the Dominion of Canada and butter is 20 per cent cheaper there than in the United States.

The idea that Washington and Oregon butter could be raised to the level of $1 per pound is almost so foolish as not to require refutation.

In the first place, at some season or other of the year, according to Department of Agriculture statistics, 36 out of the 48 states in the Union become exporters of butter. If there were anything like a higher market for the states of Washington and Oregon, this surplus butter would naturally flow in this direction until the prices were brought down to a common level and shipments halted.

Anything so universally produced as butter cannot become such a monopoly. For example, with an open market price in the neighborhood of 44 cents on butter for the San Francisco and Los Angeles markets during the month of September, there were shipments of butter made from more than 12 states for those two markets.

If our butter should rise in price, the very same interests which tell the consumer to look out for dollar butter would be shipping butter into the states of Washington and Oregon from all parts of the civilized world.

Our butter markets are not controlled by the sale of margarine but by the price of butter plus freight from all parts of the world. Your best interests require active support of Referendum No. 16 in Washington and No. 306 in Oregon.

AN APPRECIATION
By VERA BRADY SHUPMAN
A month ago a little city child walked into the third grade of the Salem Heights schoolhouse with her grandfathers. She was a stranger and they took her into their hearts. She was greeted everywhere by pleasant faces. They have been interested from time to time, when her mother took her out of school that she might visit some place of interest.

Friday evening, that little girl gave a recitation on the Halloween program of the Salem Heights community club house.

Perhaps she didn't speak it very well but little children seldom speak well before strange faces, but it was the spirit of the west, of the community and of the people who look out for visitors which has prompted this article. Mrs. Zosel placed my little girl on the program with the children who are permanent resident. She made my little girl one of the community rather than a visitor.

This little girl, Mary Jule, and I are leaving again next Sunday for the big city in the middle west. My work in Chicago draws me back. But I feel that the Salem Heights community spirit has meant a great deal to this little eight year old daughter of mine whom I put in school during the month's visit with my father.

The program Friday night at the community hall was like any school program. There were the same grade songs, the same recitations and a few chosen solos. Playlets, show plays followed a cafeteria supper with the best pumpkin pie you ever tasted. The money was raised to pay for hot lunches for the school children during the winter months. But it meant that this Halloween there were no gates torn off, no property destroyed—for all the children were busy at the school entertainment at the hall. A capering old witch, a cider vendor who might do credit to Barnum, friendly folk and youthful orchestra made the whole crowd feel perfectly at home.

It will remain for a long time in the memory of the little girl and longer still with her mother. I take this opportunity to thank Mr. Van Orsdal the principal and the teachers Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Zosel for my little girl's happy month with the Salem Heights school of Oregon.

Three Men are Facing Prosecution for Acts
Roger A. Gogg, self confessed stick-up man, and Gilbert R. Thorpe, who was arrested last Saturday for robbing a gas meter at the Commercial hotel, were released to E. T. Nix, detective from the Tacoma police department, and two other officers last night, where he will face a series of robbery charges. Thorpe will be taken to Chehalis where he will be held on an auto theft charge. David Peratravich, a student from the Chomawa Indian school, was returned to authorities there yesterday after he had attempted to pass a check for $198.50 on the Opera House pharmacy. The student ordered various first aid dressings and bandages on the pretext that his mother had been injured in an accident in Polk county. Harry Wels, proprietor of the store, became suspicious and sent a message to the police station. The check offered by Peratravich had been signed by three others.
David is an Alaskan Indian.

Blessed is that man or woman who can get pleasure out of a duty.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE
W. H. Trindle
Salem, Oregon
The death of Judge Geo. G. Bingham makes it necessary that a judge be elected for Dept. No. 2 of the Circuit Court of Linn and Marion counties. It is one of the most important offices to be filled at this election. The name of no candidate could appear upon the ballot, as the death of Judge Bingham occurred at a date too late to permit it being printed. It is necessary that the name of the candidate be written in at the proper blank.
The name of W. H. Trindle of Salem is submitted as a candidate for that position. During the term of office of Judge Bingham, Dept. No. 2 was served with an unusually efficient man. We believe that W. H. Trindle will make a worthy successor. He has had twenty-four years' experience as a successful lawyer. He is qualified personally, morally and otherwise to fill this important position.
To vote for Circuit Judge for Marion and Linn counties it is necessary that you write in the name of your choice at the proper place on the election ballot. It is also necessary that you place a cross in front of the name so written in. If the principles represented by Mr. Trindle express your idea of a Circuit Judge be sure that your ballot when completed appears as follows:
FOR JUDGE OF CIRCUIT COURT
—Third Judicial District, Linn and Marion Counties. Vote for One—by writing in name.
X W. H. TRINDLE
This will be found on the ballot between Nos. 73 and 74.

HEADS OF 3 OREGON COLLEGES FOR CAL
Leaders of Willamette, Albany and Linfield Support Coolidge
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Belief that the international policy of the administration should be continued has prompted nineteen college presidents to endorse the Coolidge-Dawes ticket. The testimonial, signed by the educators and made public here, urged also the election of a Congress that will support the president on both domestic and foreign problems. The testimonial says in part:
"We favor the election of Calvin Coolidge and of a congress that will support him for the following, among other reasons:
"We believe that under his leadership not only will the principles of our government be applied in a wise and progressive spirit to the solution of the problems now confronting the Nation, but also that the growth of bureaucracy will be checked, the efficiency of the national government increased, the burden of taxation steadily and equitably reduced and the largest measure of opportunity given for just and honorable private enterprise and private initiative.
"We believe that the great international policies inaugurated by the treaties of the Washington conference, which have laid the foundations and given the assurance of permanent peace, and by the Dawes plan, which has begun the stabilization of Europe, should be continued under the guidance of President Coolidge, who, while safeguarding the honor and independence of the American Nation, has demonstrated an earnest devotion to the cause of justice and peace and the settlement by pacific methods of international disputes."

Our beautiful gymnasium has a canvas covering at last. We can now use the gymnasium for student body meetings and as a lunch room at noon. We are indebted to Mr. Giese of the Giese-Powers Furniture company for it. He took it upon himself to order, deliver and pay for it. We thank Mr. Giese for this public spirited, cooperative act and assure him it is appreciated. The student body is making plans to raise money to repay Mr. Giese. The Junior Citizenship League, an organization of our civic students, held its election of officers last week. The results are as follows: Floyd Albin, president; Minnie Heseaman, vice president; Doris Clark, secretary; Eloise White, treasurer; Rose Folger, reporter; Robert Judson, health officer.

306 Misrepresented

By Oleo Interests

The voters of Oregon are being advised through the press and otherwise that the proposed Oleomargarine measure Prohibits the sale of so-called substitutes. That is not so

The measure simply prohibits the use of milk products in their manufacture

If they had been fair to the voter they would have said, if you Prohibit us from using 2 1-2 to 3 per cent skim milk in the manufacture of oleomargarine, our product is unsaleable as a butter substitute.

OR

Prohibit us from using just a little skim milk in order to make cocoanut oil smell and taste like butter so as to fool the public, our counterfeit is exposed and our trade ruined.

OR

Prohibit us from using a little skim milk and you make it impossible for us to sell 8 cents worth of foreign oil to the unsuspecting public for 30 cents.

Honest competition welcome

If cocoanut oil will make a good edible product fit to take the place of butter, nothing in the dairy measure will prevent its sale. The laws of this country protect almost every other industry and product, why not the dairy industry and its product. A Federal law was recently passed against filled milk. Filled milk was milk from which the butterfat was taken and replaced by vegetable oil from the Orient. This is practically the case of butter vs. substitutes.

Why play the game of the Big Interests against your own welfare

If any voter is foolish enough to fall for the Dollar Butter Argument His case is hopeless

The laws of supply and demand governs every product. If the demand for butter in Oregon is greater than its supply, other states will quickly furnish the deficiency. If other states cannot do so, the unoccupied acres of Oregon will quickly respond to the call, and dairies will spring up on all sides to add to our prosperity and welfare.

Therefore, Voter, do not cut off your nose to spite your face, but

Vote 306 Yes
