Threat Letter Found in Automobile May Open New Line of Inquiry

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 13.—Federal agents investigating the possibility that a bomb wrecked the Grand Rapids main post-office late yesterday afternoon taking a toll of three lives and injuring 13 persons tonight that they had in their possession a threatening letter that might lead to some tangible clue.

The letter was found by Ensign Harold McDonald of the United States naval reserve force in his automobile a short time before the explosion. At noon today a man's leg bone was removed from the wreckage. Another check up failed to give any clue. It was thought that perhaps some one might have been behind the pieces.

Ho, hum. If you can't get a chuckle out of this stuff you can go listen to the radio politicians and laugh out loud.

Cash Register Firm to Establish Branch Here

The National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio, is sending two families to Salem when they open up a branch office here soon. An additional office is to be opened in another part of the state at the same time. In all there will be three main offices in Oregon, and the one in Salem will insure efficient cash register service to all local merchants. That item in itself is a great boon.

A. C. Sample, a local man, will be in charge of the Salem office and it is his plan to give the local merchants up-to-the-minute service on cash registers. With the opening of the office here two families will be added to Salem and the same number of families will be brought to the other Oregon branch, which has not been named.

And by the time we thought up a new costume for a masque ball we decided to go as a nervous wreck.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST
A third call—
For the Y building—
It is to be hoped that it will be the last, and that it will be snappy.

There is about $20,000 yet to go. That looks like a good deal; but it is not much when you consider that it will make binding the other pledges, and assure the new building.

Looks like a cigarette tax in Oregon. The man who was behind the repeal of the income tax is behind this. A cent a package will make up $500,000 a year, and relieve the property taxpayers of that much. The only people to complain would be the consumers, and their voice would not be loud.

BOMB WRECK CLUES HELD

It seems, as a result of the quizzing, that the republican campaign fund was much smaller than usual, but it was sufficient for the purpose.

Wheeler, who also ran, says that the people of the United States voted to help themselves. Now, hasn't that just fierce!

Scientist now declares that Norsemen visited America in the year 1010. Which only shows that it is possible to visit a place without discovering it.

A 200-volume of the World War will shortly be published under the direction of the Carnegie Peace Endowment. We know not at which to wonder more; the industry of the compilers who wrote it or the endurance of the reader who plows through the first 199 volumes.

The blind man who had his dog lead him most of the way over hills and country roads for 18 miles in order to vote for Calvin Coolidge is the type of patriot who can be relied upon to keep the home fires burning. And yet there are thousands who would not vote unless they were coaxed into a limousine for a trip of three or four city blocks to the nearest polling place.

Salem man wants to know what became of that message of congratulation which Eugene Debs was to send to La Follette.

"A state can be no better than the citizens of which it is composed."—John Mosley.
