THE FULL HEART

Alone on the shore in the pause of the night-time
I stand and hear the long wind blow light;
I view the constellations, quietly, quietly burning;
I hear the wave fall in the hush of the night.

Long after I am dead, ended this bitter journey,
Many another whose heart holds no light
Shall your solemn sweetness hush, awe, and comfort,
O my companions, Wind, Waters, Stars, and Night.

—ROBERT NICHOLS.

RICCARDO MARTIN, TENOR

The Civic Music club of Salem will present Riccardo Martin as the second of a series of four programs given this year. Mr. Martin is scheduled to sing at the Grand theatre Tuesday evening, November 18. With him is associated Hubert Carlin, pianist accompanist who will contribute two groups of piano solos.

Mr. Martin is one of the foremost tenors of the day. In years he has been a leading figure with the Chicago Opera company, and in addition he has won world fame as a concert artist.

The approaching concert is a real musical opportunity for Salem folk. Mr. Martin is the first great artist to appear in Salem this season, and, as far as announced, is the only tenor to sing here this year.

given yesterday afternoon at the charming new home of Mrs. Claudius Thayer on North Capitol street. The successful affair was sponsored by the American Association of University Women in the immediate interest of the scholarship loan fund.

The throngs of maids and matrons calling during the afternoon were given free access to the beautiful rooms of the new home, both upstairs and downstairs, each attractive with bowls of blossoms.

The musical program of the afternoon included vocal numbers by Miss Josephine Bross, Miss Lena Belle Tartar and Mrs. Ruth Emory Riddle. Piano selections were given by Miss Genevieve Findley, Miss Louise Findley and Miss Eugenia Savage. Three delightful violin selections were given by Miss Margaret Kester, Miss Louise Townsend accompanying.

A profusion of yellow chrysanthemums centered the lovely tea-table. Candles were used in harmonizing tones, in crystal holders. Presiding at the tea-table during the successive hours were Mrs. N. P. Cooper, Mrs. Merwin, Mrs. R. J. Hendricks and Mrs. C. P. Bishop.

op. Mrs. Kenneth Legge, Miss Merle McKeivey, Miss Dorothy Nicholson, Miss Hazel Paden, Miss Harriet Peat, Miss Marjorie Min-ton, Miss Ola Clark and Miss Le-lia Johnson assisted in the dining room.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE

High quality does not necessarily mean that one must pay high prices. Truly enough the better grade of merchandise costs more money on the start but the fact that a certain line of merchandise is of superior material and workmanship does not mean that a merchant is justified in charging more than it is actually worth.

We would like to have you come in and leisurely look over our line of dining room furniture—the individuality, the look of refinement will at once show its prominence. Then look at the price tags and you will be surprised; your idea that you can not afford good furniture will be a thing of the past for the difference in price is so small that it is really surprising.
