

COMMERCIAL BASKETBALL SERIES WILL CONTINUE TONIGHT

CORN SHOW TO HALT PROGRAM

No Games Thursday; Hauser, Legion, Druggists and Union Oil Play

The Commercial Basketball league will start two games tonight at the Army when the Hauser Bros. quintet and the American Legion five vie for honors. Both teams are evenly matched and a well played game is expected. Games this year have given Hauser Bros. and the Legion team very good practice.

The second game of the evening will be between Central Pharmacy and the Union oil teams. This is the first appearance of the Druggists, but that does not mean they have nothing to offer. They have been working together for several days and will most likely surprise the Union Oil. However, they have Ross to help them out and he is considered one of the best players in the league.

The game for Thursday has been cancelled on account of the big Marion county corn show and industrial exhibit.

A meeting of the Commercial basketball league board will be held at the Spa this week. The captains and members of the board are to arrange a list of players, revise the schedule, and to transact other matters of business. The meeting was called by Coach Bonnell.

FORMER MAYORS TELL OF ADMINISTRATIONS

During the two years in office Mayor J. B. Giesy, who will serve again for the next two years, 119 blocks of pavement were laid and already 42 blocks have been lined up for next year. In 1923 a total of 14,315 feet of new sewer was laid, with $13,077 this year, and the men are still at work. The fire department has been improved by the addition of a pumper, service car and ladder truck; the police department enlarged from 1 chief, 6 men and one matron to 1 chief, 16 men and 1 matron; a charter amendment was passed making the chief of police appointive by the council; street flusher purchased and many walks installed.

Mayor Giesy has for his objects in his second term an adequate permanent bridge program; legislation promoting zoning; opening of Seventeenth street to the fairgrounds; a community house for the auto camp; improvement of the Kay tract for a city park and to start the machinery necessary to bring pure mountain water to the city.

A. N. Moores was given an opportunity to give a few "inside dope" incidents on the mayors, devoting most of his time to Judge D'Arcy and Mr. Bishop. A letter was read by Mr. Gahlsdorf from W. M. Ramsey, who was mayor in 1887, now located in McMinnville. Trying a case in court prevented his being present, he said. Mr. Ramsey left Salem for Pendleton in 1888.

Demarest Evangelistic Party Is Coming to Eugene

Definite agreement has been reached between the Demarest evangelistic party and the towns of Eugene and Newburg for union revival there to be held in these places by the above named evangelists during the early part of the year 1925, according to advice given by Rev. C. G. Wrenn, western representative of the Demarests.

The agreement with the Newburg churches for a union revival in a two-manual seating 250 from April 5th to May 10th, 1925, was just completed last week, although the matter had been opened before the party left Oregon last summer. In Eugene the meeting is to be held in the state armory from February 22nd to March 22nd, 1925.

Several other Oregon towns are bidding for the balance of the time that the Demarests will spend in Oregon on their 1925 western trip which will last from January to July of that year. Many Salem people, learning of these tentative plans have already expressed their intention of attending as many of the meetings in nearby Oregon towns as possible. The Demarests have a host of the warmest kind of friends in Salem and surrounding communities.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Demarest, the evangelists, are celebrating the recent arrival of a husky baby boy, David Livingstone Demarest, whom the father emphatically declares to be the finest boy that ever saw the light of day. The Demarests are also busy with some writing and the arrangement of a new songbook.

FARMERS IN NEED OF ORGANIZATION

The agriculture department based on comments on the commission-ers, "that the president had a thorough knowledge of the agricultural situation and was sincere in his efforts that something should be done to bring about better conditions in agriculture and a better balance between agriculture and other industries."

Proposed legislation expected to come under the commission's study, it was believed, includes the McNary-Haugen export corporation bill, the Norris Sinclair bill and the Capper-Williams and Curtis Aswell measures—all other awaiting consideration at the coming short session of congress or in the course of completion in committees.

Consideration of these and any other measures that may be proposed later is expected to be given with the hope of correlating or eliminating objectionable features and arriving at a plan which will suit all interested parties. Present farm laws will be gone over, it was said, for the purpose of determining whether they are being properly enforced or are grouped under the proper department or bureau and whether it would be advisable to transfer responsibility for their administration.

Education Needed. Education of the farmer which President Coolidge has said must be conducted along scientific lines if he is to meet the conventions of the future when a natural increase of population and the inevitable tendency to industrialization will place the United States among the nations producing a deficit rather than a surplus of agricultural staples, also will be thoroughly discussed by the commission.

Robert D. Carey of Careyhurst, Wyo., presided over the meeting as chairman and all were in attendance except Charles S. Barrett, chairman of the national board of farm organizations, who is in Oklahoma attending the annual meeting of the farmers' union.

Champion Aileen Riggin Makes Golf Part of Her Training While Preparing for Swimming Events

This photograph was taken while Miss Riggin was in Florida getting into condition for aquatic meets at Ormond Beach and Tampa. Johnny Farrell, who will spend the winter as professional at Tampa, is shown instructing the American champion and Olympic swimmer and diver in the fine points of the ancient Scottish game. Miss Helen Meany, former national diving champion, is holding the flag while Aileen drops a putt.

The second meeting of the commission will be held tomorrow morning when its organization will be completed and work begun on the assemblage of data for consideration.

Give away your weapons and men will say you part with things you can not use yourself.

Twelve Players to Compete in 33 Games; Season Ends on January 8

The progressive handball tournament of the Salem YMCA starts today with 12 players competing for honors and is scheduled to end January 8. In this manner 33 games will be played and 17 evenings will be required to run off the teams.

The winner of the game will not receive the final honors, perhaps, for the points won by the individual players will be considered when the awards are given. The player having the highest number of points will be deemed the victor.

Players competing in the progressive tournament are as follows: Paul Wallace, Robert Paulus, D. X. Beechler, William Hamilton, Curley Poulsen, George Paulus, William Hertzog, Dave Eyre, John Roberts, Walter Winslow, Fred Agunson, and Harry Compton. Mr. Gregg has refereed many local games in and near Salem, and it is expected that his services will be in even greater demand this year since he has been admitted to the association.

EAST IS HELD IN ICE STORM

The woman, known to her companion, James Letora, as Julia, died of exposure after the high wind had caused her to lose her balance and fall into the East river as she attempted to board Letora's craft. Letora broke his leg in rescuing her. He dragged her ashore and then had to crawl half a mile to get help. The woman was dead when he returned with a policeman and an ambulance.

Five men were rescued at sea from an open motor boat found by the coast guard cutter Seminole.

The heavy winds this afternoon whipped the Greek liner Edison from the grip of a dozen tugs which pulling the 11,000 ton boat to a north river pier and flung her on the mudflats of the upper harbor. It was thought she would be floated before the night was out. Her crew of 200 was reported to be in no danger.

The White Star liner Adriatic made port today, the season's first ice-covered boat to arrive, four hours overdue. Her captain reported heavy gales which carried a member of the crew overboard to his death and smashed four life boats.

OAC-OREGON GAME TO BREAK RECORD

Demand for Seats Great; Believe Crowd Will Surpass Any in Oregon

CORVALLIS, Or., Nov. 17.—With every seat in the main west grand stand sold out a week in advance and reservations in the big new south unit of the stadium selling rapidly, Carl Lodell, graduate manager of athletics of Oregon agricultural college today predicts that all records for football crowds in Oregon will be broken at the annual homecoming game here Saturday when the Aggies and the University of Oregon mix for the state championship. With the new covered double deck bleachers completed, 20,000 persons may be seated in comfort regardless of the weather.

The Aggies were never more confident of victory over their traditional rivals, but they are far from under rating the strength of the Oregon team. By dint of their victory last year the Aggies hold the state championship.

Coach Schissler will probably depend much on the kicking ability of his team to bring victory. Tebb leads the coast punters so far this year, while Chulmerick is good for three points inside the 30 yard line and has won two games already by his accuracy in converting after a touchdown.

The game Saturday will begin at 1:30 in order to avoid a dark fourth quarter and allow the team to leave on the early train for Nebraska where the Aggies play Thanksgiving.

LEGION MEN TOLD ABOUT MASSACRES

Rev. Fereshtian Relates Personal Experiences in Armenia When Boy

An unusual departure from the regular run of American Legion meets was featured at Capital Post No. 9 last night when Rev. Martin Fereshtian, pastor of the Unitarian church, spoke and special music was furnished by the Willamette university band, which gave a short concert.

Rev. Fereshtian, or "Parson" as he is known to the ex-service men and members of the Lions club, told of his experience in Armenia about a quarter of a century ago. If the former soldiers thought they had a hard time of it six years ago they were forced to change their minds, for the speaker presented conditions and the massacres from the standpoint of one who had experienced them and in a vivid manner. To have an outside speaker at the regular meetings was unusual, but was greatly enjoyed, the speaker interspersing his address with bits of humor.

Additional nominations were placed, Frank Durbin being nominated for member of the executive committee and Frank Judd as historian. The nominations have been closed, with Clifford Brown unopposed for commander for the coming year. The election will be held the first meeting in December.

Refreshments of a substantial nature were served at the close of the program.

The past should lie behind us like a museum, open for inspection.
