

NEWS BRIEFS

Prunes May Rise—
The California prune and apricot growers' association is quoted as contemplating making an advance all along the line in their prune offerings. Of course this will be followed by an advance all along the line in Oregon prunes. The Oregon and California prunes are selling at practically the same prices now. The regular price seems to be steady and despite the small flurry in New York the old prices are prevailing. The prune market is billed to make an advance.
