ENGLAND ASKS FULL APOLOGY FROM EGYPT

Death of British Official in Cairo Demands Reparation, High Commissioner States in Note

SLAYERS MUST RECEIVE PUNISHMENT FOR CRIME

Great Britain Requires Compensation of 500,000 Pounds From Egypt

CARIO, Nov. 22.—(By Associated Press.)—Only waiting until the body of Major General Lee Stack, the sirdar who was assassinated yesterday, had been committed to the grave, Lord Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt, this afternoon called upon Premier Zagloul Pasha and presented a note from the British government demanding complete satisfaction for the sirdar's assassination, the crime being a culmination of a large number of anti-British outrages committed in Cairo during the past three years.

The note which calls for a reply within 24 hours, demanded a full apology from the Egyptian government, punishment of the criminals without respect to position, compensation of 500,000 pounds, and several other demands which, while not modifying the political relations between Egypt and Great Britain will tend to consolidate and guarantee the rights and privileges Great Britain claims in her relations with that country particularly her refusal to make any concession to Egyptian claims to control of the government of Sudan.

There is no apprehension that the Egyptian government will attempt to withhold the satisfaction England demands, but there are ample forces, both naval and military, within 24 hours' sail of Egypt should they become necessary. It is believed the first effect of the British note may be the definite resignation of Premier Zagloul.

FURNACE CASE TO BE SOLVED

County Prosecutor Reviews Problems; Alienist Present at Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Administration that the death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, 50, whose body practically cremated was found by her husband, Rev. C. V. Sheatsley in the furnace of their home in the exclusive Bexley district Monday, still presents a baffling mystery, was made today by County Prosecutor John R. King. He expressed confidence, however, that the case eventually will be solved.

The admission was made following a conference at which Mr. King reviewed the case with those who are working with him in the attempt to establish definitely how Mrs. Sheatsley came to her death and how her body came to be in the furnace. Dr. R. C. Stabell, an alienist, was present at the conference. It was the first time Mr. King had consulted an alienist in connection with the case. The prosecutor said no significance could be attached to his presence and that he merely wants an alienist to be familiar with details of the case.

Back Yard Horticulture

(This is the first article of a series to be run each Sunday during the whole planting season, giving valuable information and hints for Salem home owners and others.)

The Planting Seasons
There is a proper time to plant each variety of plant used in the home landscape and flower gardens. Frequently the amateur gardener allows this most favorable time to slip by and as a result either loses a year's time or else plants at a season unfavorable to best results. Our first article will deal with the proper season for planting.

Most of the plants which produce early spring flowers should be planted in October and nearly November. The season unfavorable to plants iris, peony, tulips, narcissus, crocus, hyacinths and lilies the better.

No garden is complete without a selection of iris and peonies. One has a wonderful range of colors and shapes and varieties in November. The plants are planted from plants peonies two to three inches deep where drainage is good. Plant iris shallow so that the crowns are just covered. As a general rule plant bulbs two and a half times as deep as the bulb itself is long.

RIVAL SLAIN BY HUSBAND

California Showman Killed in Office; Slayer Surrenders to Police

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Jealousy caused Zane R. Southern, 27 year old chauffeur, to kill Rudolf E. Mack, 56 years old, manager of the Golden State Vaudeville exchange, in Mack's office here today. While Southern's wife, a stenographer employed by Mack, and five men were in the actors' employment agency, manager's office, Southern entered and fired three bullets into Mack's body.

Southern commanded the witnesses to line up with their faces toward the wall. He then ran from the room, down three flights of stairs and out to the street intersection where he announced to the traffic officer on duty that he had slain a man.

"I just killed the man who wrecked my home," Southern said, according to the officer as he handed over a revolver.

Mrs. Southern, an attractive blonde 19 years old, told detectives she had met Mack while a cafe entertainer. He offered her a job in his office and she accepted it. She said she has not been living with her husband.

Cans Would Reach Half Across Ocean Is Estimate for Pack Here in 1925

Ambitious Reporter Wears Out His Pencil Then Bets Marion County Students That His Figures are Correct

The pack of the canneries of Marion county for 1925 will probably show about 900,000 cases. Let's take it at 900,000.

It takes 1000 cases to fill a freight car. The railroads men estimate 80 cars to the mile. Then here is a question for Marion county school pupils: How long a train would that make? The reporter says about 11 and a fourth miles; from Salem's suburbs to the suburbs of Woodburn. Is that right?

Then taking the "quart size" cans, 24 cans to the case, this would make over 20,000,000 cans. Let's take 20,000,000 in round numbers. These cans are a little more than three-quarters inches tall. Let's take four and three-quarters. The reporter says these cans, end for end, would reach 1499 miles—about half way across the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Is the reporter right?

Then the cases are sixteen and a half inches the long way. The reporter says the cases turned end to end would make a line that would reach 234 and a third miles. Is the reporter right?

Then the cases are twelve and a fourth by nine and a half by sixteen and a half inches in size. How many cubic feet would the 900,000 cases make? The reporter says 999,900 cubic feet. Is that correct?

That many cubic feet would make a pile of cans how large? The reporter says they would make a pile of cases more than six times as big as the Masonic temple building in Salem. Is the reporter correct?

Perhaps there are other ways to visualize and illustrate the immensity of the Marion county pack in tin cans, fruit and vegetables for the markets of the world. Do the public school pupils school pupils know of some other ways?

Will the teachers please ask them?

Remember, too, that Marion county fruits and vegetables go to market in numerous other ways. They go fresh. They go in the dried form. They go in barrels; many car loads of them. They go in the form of jellies and jams and vinegars, and in bottles.

The above questions are submitted with the idea of having the boys and girls of Marion county form ideas of what a great country they have as their heritage, with its possibilities only so far hinted at its land fairly fairly scratched; its potential wealth only touched around the edges.

DETROIT, Nov. 22.—A Michigan central football special train of nine coaches and Pullmans returning from Ann Arbor to Detroit with 300 persons who had attended the Michigan-Iowa football game, went into a ditch near Spring Wells, a suburb, at 7 o'clock tonight. So far as known no one was injured, although all coaches left the track, three turning over on their sides.

MAN HELD BY POLICE SAYS HE IS BANDIT

Gives Name of Ray Dautremont; States He Participated in Siskiyou Robbery and Murders

OFFICERS HOLD MAN FOR OREGON POLICE

Authorities Doubt Man's Statements; Reward Totaling $14,400 Offered

MCALESTER, Okla., Nov. 22.—A man giving his name as Ray Dautremont and who police said confessed to having participated with two of his brothers in the holdup of a Southern Pacific train at Siskiyou, Ore., on October 11, 1923, in which three trainmen were killed, was arrested here today and is being held for Oregon authorities. The man's arrest resulted from his alleged attempt to cash a worthless check. He is said to be wanted for similar offenses in Little Rock, Ark.; Arkansas City, Kansas, and several other cities. His aliases, police say, include J. W. Porter, R. Smith and J. B. McAlester. While his fingerprints were being taken in connection with the check charge, the man, police said, expressed fear that his identity as Dautremont would be discovered and made a clean breast of his connection with the train robbery. He wanted local officers to get the reward offered for his arrest, he said.

Rewards aggregating $14,400 are on the heads of the three Dautremont brothers, Ray, Roy and Hugh who are alleged to have engineered the holdup. The man under arrest here is better known as "Nick," police said.

Doubt Story
Police said tonight that they gave little credence to Dautremont's story of his connection with the robbery but said that he would be held until some word had been received from the Oregon authorities whom they have wired for confirmation of his story.

Police chief McCully said that a photograph of the Roy Dautremont wanted in connection with the affair did not resemble the man held here enough that positive identification could be made.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS THIS YEAR'S EXHIBIT

Fully 10,000 Persons See Corn Show and Industrial Exhibit; More Room Needed Next Year

PUBLIC AUDITORIUM URGED BY OFFICIALS

Building of This Kind Here Offers Only Solution It Is Believed

What was undoubtedly the finest exposition of its kind ever held in Salem came to a close last night when the Armory doors swung shut on the second annual Marion County Corn Show and Industrial Exhibit. Fully 10,000 people had attended during the three days of the exhibition, and throughout the whole time there was a packed house.

When the doors opened Thursday afternoon there was a big crowd on hand, and during the evening the same thing could be said of the people in attendance. It was true of Friday afternoon and evening Saturday when during the afternoon and evening 5,000 people crowded the Armory.

Caps are Distributed.
The Buttercup Ice Cream company gave away during Saturday afternoon and evening about 5,000 brightly colored paper caps, and their stock was exhausted during the early part of the evening.

It is becoming a problem of what to do with the growing corn had to be shown down this year. 500 people attended the exhibition when it was held in the club rooms of the Salem Chamber of Commerce with only two communities showing. During the exposition of 1923 when the industrial exhibits were added to the show about 5,000 people attended. At this time, four communities exhibited their wares at the Armory.

Auditorium Needed
The climax came, however, during the 1924 exposition when 10,000 people crowded the aisles of the exhibit. With the rapid development and increasing interest in the exposition it is a difficult problem to secure sufficient space for the community and industrial exhibits. The only solution to the problem is the construction of a public auditorium.

Several industrial applications has to be turned down this year on account of the lack of space at the Armory and those who were able to place an exhibit were well pleased with the showing. Every one is satisfied with the results obtained and several have made reservations for the coming year.

More Next Year
Every community that exhibited this year expects to be on hand for the 1925 exposition. In addition to this number four or five communities have asked for space.

In commenting upon the excellency of the Marion county corn show and industrial exhibit, Professor C. L. Long, member of the extension department of O. A. C., stated that Marion county had one of the most favorable corn shows and the people were not appreciative of the fact until they had viewed other expositions of this kind and saw the exhibits.
