The Round-up club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Patton, 833 Court street.

The largest of the week's affairs will be the Illihee Country club dance Thanksgiving eve at the club house. The personnel of the club includes 200 members, who with their guests will make a gay throng for the formal occasion.

Fred Thilsson is chairman of the committee on arrangements. His assistants are Dr. W. H. Lytle, Bryman Boise and Carl Gabrielson.

A fellowship supper of the First and Central Congregational churches will be held tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Central Congregational church.

The supper will be served in pot-luck style. Guests who will be honored are Dr. Jerome C. Holmes of Kobe, Japan, and Mrs. Ranney of San Francisco.

A recent guest at the Rev. F. W. Launer home was Mr. B. W. McCormick of Beuna Vista, Earlier in the week Mrs. Launer was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Barkley Newman in Albany.

The Friendly Five Hundred club met Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. Lunsford on Fairmount Hill. Special guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. E. Niles. Pink and lavender chrysanthemums were used in the rooms.

Mrs. P. M. Gregory won the high score of the evening; second prize going to Mrs. Niles, and consolation to Mr. P. M. Gregory.

The hostess served refreshments following the playing.

The club members include Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Grabenhorst, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Budlong, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Lunsford.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Creech and daughter, Julia, Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Luper, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bragg spent yesterday on the OAC campus.

Miss Nan Putnam, Miss Ruth Hjertaa and Miss Alice Putnam are in Corvallis for Homecoming week-end.

The members of the Willing Workers Class of the First Christian church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John O. Humphreys.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums made the room attractive. The afternoon was spent in making Christmas decorations for the church.

About twenty women were present. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Townsend.

Miss Helen Frey who has announced her engagement to H. A. Moomaw will be remembered as a former Salem High school student. The announcement was made at the Lambda Phi Delta house in Corvallis.

Miss Frey is a sophomore in home economics and Mr. Moomaw a post-graduate student in vocational education.

Mrs. Frank Zinn will introduce the evening service today at the First Congregational church with an organ recital to include the following numbers:

"The Bells of Aberdeen" I. H. Stewart
"Sextette" from "Lucia"
"Arr. by J. Lewis Browne
"Melody" by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, vice-president elect.
"Lovely Appear Over the Mountain" from "The Redemption," by Gounod.

The coming of Lena Belle Tartar to Corvallis is heralded with pleasure by local people who have heard her sing. Miss Tartar will appear in concert at the Baptist church on the evening of Friday, Dec. 5, bringing her own accompanist, and other entertainers to round out an exceptional program.

Miss Tartar, a graduate of the O. A. C. School of Music, leader in Salem musical circles and a student last summer of Yeatman Griffith, eminent New York musician, presents a program of song that is distinctly a Tartar offering. Her numbers will be understandable both to those who know music and those who do not. She will appear in both old and new airs, popular numbers from Dvorak, Chadwick and McDowell, and will sing "Ye Gods of Night" from the famous operatic aria, Divinites du Styx. A number of lighter songs will be included in her repertoire.

Corvallis music lovers who have heard Miss Tartar in her former appearances here appreciate the fact that she possesses a contralto voice of unusual beauty and sweetness not inferior to many of the popular singers of the west. She has a charming personality that endears her to her audience and sings to please those who attend her concerts, responding whole-heartedly to the applause. Her own popularity assures her an audience that will tax the seating capacity of the Baptist church.

Miss Tartar is claimed by Corvallis. She is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. N. L. Tartar of this city and sister of Dr. N. L. Tartar. Her appearance here is being sponsored by women of the Christian church.—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

As delightful a review as one often sees is this clipping from the Christian Science Monitor about the Marionettes, Tony Sarg's famous and formidable puppets as they appeared in Boston. But the best part is that these same puppets are coming to Salem, coming on Saturday, Dec. 6, under the auspices of the Salem Woman's club.

There is to be a matinee and there is to be an evening performance when adults and children will be equally charmed and amazed. This is the clipping:

'Tis a breath-taking combination, like finding the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, or like being at Nantucket and meeting a man who knew Tony Sarg. It's thrilling, that's what it is. And it's also a melodrama in eight exciting scenes by the puppets and one happy sigh by the audience that two hours should pass as joyfully and as swiftly as two minutes.

Of course, it is too realistically exciting for the very wee ones to watch, but the big children loved it. When one dignified lady screamed because the nutmeats almost discovered an absurdly small and naive Jim Hawkins in the apple barrel, we felt this to be reward enough for the patience and efforts necessitated by this miniature and elaborate production of "Treasure Island."

Putting ecstasy aside for common sense, we believe that last night's performance was as fine as anything we have seen done by Tony Sarg's marionettes, who are in this case managed by Charles E. Searle. The "Rose and the Ring," and "Don Quixote," for instance, are painstakingly wrought, but there we have, with no thought of derogation, the land of

MILLER'S SUBWAY STORE CORRECTION

—Through an error in printing The Subway's advertising quoted blankets in bargain square for next Thursday. As this store remains closed all day on that date—the blanket sale will be in effect Friday, Nov. 28th. Shoes offered for Friday will be on sale Saturday as an outgrowth of this error.

While we are as yet new in Salem we are a permanent member of Salem's business circle. In other words, we do not intend to come here for the Christmas rush then leave, but will remain here to merit your further patronage.

make-believe portayed with a touch of faerie which, while it charms, does not convince. With "Treasure Island," however, we see the puppeteers striving for the effect of a reality to which plays for mere entertainment do not pretend to attain, the reality of an acting which is art because it accurately portrays the experiences of life.

That the endeavor was successful was proven by the intensity with which the audience followed the story through many beautiful scenes from the hatchings of the plot at the Ben Bow Inn to its culmination in the cave of the quaintly bewhiskered Gen. Gunn. Naturally both watchers and actors were one from the start, for surely the book itself is an integral part of one's childhood; its being played by the marionettes brought back all the delightful tension of actually expecting, with Billy Bones, to see those faces in the fog and then stoutly affirming with a palpitating Jim, that there wasn't anyone there at all.

A group of decorative foreign pottery is on display at Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Gilbert's studio—potteries of quaint colors and designs. One marvels at the beauty of the Spanish pieces, made as they are in the unloveliest surroundings by the peasants of the country. The Danish type is of interest, too, but more so is the Jubbio-Moresque, the Maloiche, and the Deruta. The Maloiche, of course, is made in that famous factory, Cantagalli, whose whimsical meaning is the growing room of an older factory still is that of the Deruta ware, founded as it was back in the 14th century. Still another Italian pottery is the Capri group, the decorated pieces varying in design from "grapes, lemons, oranges, large roses, and small flowers"—and the Spanish ring design.

More people are probably familiar with the quaint Quimper potteries.

WRINKLES DISAPPEAR IN LESS THAN 15 MINUTES!

What if you could look in your mirror and see your wrinkles, crowfeet, age-lines and fishlines literally melt away while you looked? You would scarcely believe your own eyes. Yet it is within your power to witness such a "miracle" this very day. You need only mix a spoonful of powdered tartroot with a spoonful of lemon juice, smooth this soothing creamy lotion over your face—and watch the hated lines and age vanish like magic! See your face become years younger in appearance! Even quite old faces are very materially rejuvenated.

Tartroot is not a cosmetic, not a make-up—it is to be washed off entirely after it has done its work. It is decidedly beneficial to the complexion. It is difficult to believe so simple a thing can accomplish such marvelous results, in just a few minutes, but the experiment is most convincing. An original package of powdered tartroot from your druggist brings the cost down to about 3 cents a treatment.—Adv.

Mrs. B. E. Herrick went to Portland yesterday for the funeral of her brother whose death occurred Thursday.

Last Sunday over 40 relatives and friends of Laura Gale, formerly a resident of Salem, now of Los Angeles, gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hofman on South Commercial street. After a delicious dinner the honor guest, who is to be married to Mr. William Gruwell of Los Angeles about Thanksgiving time, was surprised with a miscellaneous shower. She received many beautiful and useful gifts. Mrs. Gale leaves for Los Angeles tomorrow.

The welcome to the honor guest was in the form of the following poem: An Oregon winter is with us again. They say we are given to showers of rain, and sometimes a rainstorm may turn into hail— But this time we are giving a shower for—a Gale.

Far-off in the southland a stranger awaits, 'Tis hard to explain all the tricks of the fates. The name is not Gruel, we're trying to spell, But 'tis very near like it—they say it's Gruwell.

Just what is the difference I'd like you to tell Between plain gru-el—and fancy Gruwell? But the name doesn't matter; we're hoping that he Will be just the right one for our Laura G.

And whether the showers be rain or be hail, That she'll never be sorry she lost off the Gale.

These gifts, our dear Laura, we offer to you, Because of your marriage about to ensue.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorrell, who left Salem by automobile on October 1 for a visit with California friends, returned home yesterday. Instead of returning by automobile they returned by steamer, coming on the S. S. Admiral Fliske. A pleasant trip was enjoyed.

Miss Mildred Spang is one of the week-end visitors on the OAC campus. She is the guest of Miss Margaret Smith at Waide Hall. Miss Spang is an employe in the department of education at the state house.
