BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Is your name written there?

On the list of the pioneer owners of the first linen mill in Salem? It will come to be an honor list that will go down in history.

If you are not a raspberry, and know raspberries, please help the Slogan man, and do it today. It is important that we grow more raspberries; especially black ones.

Salem will not get too many canneries, and none of them will get too large, as long as our farmers are willing to grow the fruit and vegetables.

Today at 1:30 p. m. the demonstration of pyrotol blasting powder will be made on the Chaner and McClain ranches a quarter of a mile west of the Salem Heights school house, on the Liberty road. Both oak and fir stumps will be blown. This movement for clearing more land and converting slacker acres into producing fields ought to be encouraged.

There are several more manufacturing concerns coming down the pike towards Salem. Watch the old town grow.

The city of Berlin will in the future endow every newborn babe with a savings bank and three gold marks. The three marks combine into the old German thaler of tradition, without which no self-respecting servant girl considers the acceptance of a new situation binding. However, a gift from the city, the Berliners are in doubt whether it is intended to encourage parenthood or to inculcate thrift.

More hardships for unhappy Russia. The commissioner of health rules against kissing, no matter what the occasion or provocation. Even handshaking is forbidden for the same reason, it is unhygienic. The rule against kissing will go hard with the peasants, who salute one another by kissing on the lips and three times on each cheek.

McDOWELL CONCERT MUCH APPRECIATED

his final group without interlude, Miss Dorothy Pearce completing the program with the picturesque "Minuet" of Mirovitch, and Korngold's "Brownies," the latter a pleasingly given extra.

It was Mr. Becker's playing of G. M. Charles A. Dawes' "Melody in A" and of his own "Ritornello," which according to titular suggestion has an intriguingly recurrent theme that called forth the audience's best response. Mr. Becker's closing encore was the vastly satisfying number, and one of which he expressed himself as being very fond, Grainger's "Irish Tune from County Derry."

Four concerts yet remain on the McDowell club program, culminating with the appearance of Royal De Mun on March 19. The next concert will be the Christmas "Messiah" on December 12.

will it be a stock selling scheme. A great deal of interest has been shown in the formation of this company, and many growers are seeking admission as an outlet for their fruit, including their berries. Alterations will commence at once, and installation of equipment will be completed in time for operating on the first fruits of next season. This new company will furnish employment for two hundred or more people in West Salem.

Soldier-Lecturer Will Appear Here December 4

The funds which will be raised by the appearance of Tom Skewhill, lecturer at the Salem Armory, December 4, will be used to pay the remainder of the debt on the statue, "Over the Top to Victory," which was dedicated here Armistice day.

Skewhill appeared here two years ago and was very well received and many people who heard him at that time are planning on hearing his lecture December 4.

The lecturer was a soldier in the World War and saw active service with the Australian Tropic. He was wounded and blinded for 18 months. He finally regained his sight.
