Thanksgiving Day REMEMBER YOUR BLESSINGS.—Bless the Lord O my soul: and all that is within me, bless His holy name.

RAISE MORE BLACK RASPBERRIES

As has been stated and repeated many times in The Statesman, the Salem district has what amounts to a franchise on black raspberries, because they persist here, and they run out every where else—even in the great Puyallup and Sumner berry district in western Washington.

And the same thing is true for the Salem district of all the cane fruits; of the red raspberries, loganberries, Evergreen and other blackberries, and all the rest. They all persist year after year.

And no one knows the reason why. This is the testimony of the Oregon Agricultural college experts.

The fact of our virtual franchise on black raspberries was first told through the columns of The Statesman five years ago; the information coming from Hon. W. R. Paulhamus of Puyallup, the outstanding figure of the berry industry of the state of Washington.

The growers of western Washington had experimented and tried in all possible ways to make their black raspberry vines keep on keeping on; but they were not successful, and they could not find the reason why.

The Salem district ought to produce more raspberries; more Cuthbert Reds as well as Munger and Plum Farmer and other blacks; Mr. Paulhamus recommends the Munger. Some of our up to date growers prefer the Plum Farmer.

The canners and packers need raspberries to fill out their "lines;" they will need more of them as their canning operations increase, as they are sure to increase. The reasons why our growers should produce more raspberries are well told in several of the articles on the Slogan pages of this morning's paper.

It is not likely that the growing of raspberries will be overdone here. There are good reasons for small plantings as against large ones; mainly connected with the probable scarcity of labor, with so many fruit and other farm crops to harvest in the raspberry picking season, which is a rather long one for well cultivated and favorably located plantings.

Black raspberries have more market outlets than most berries. They are needed by the canneries, by the barrel trade and the fresh trade; and they are a good berry in the dried state. Especially are they needed in jelly and jam manufacturing and in preserving; and there is certain to be development here in the latter lines. Must be. Ought to be. To say nothing of a revival of the dehydration process, which will not remain dormant very long, because it has a real place to fill in the preservation of food; in supplying a dearth in any one place or season from an abundance in any other one season or place.

THANKSGIVING DAY

In his first Thanksgiving proclamation, last year, President Coolidge conceded our capacity for the extension of the gospel of good will. He said: "We will prepare ourselves for the part we must have in a world which forever needs the full measure of service. We have been a most favored people. We ought to be a most generous people. We have been a most blessed people. We ought to be a most thankful people."

THANKSGIVING

It is fitting that one day in the year should be given to public thanksgiving and praise for the success that has attended America. Very fittingly we observe one day in the year as memorial day for our dead. Today is the day of rejoicing, of satisfaction openly expressed. America has had a wonderful year. It has had its ups and downs, but it has made most substantial progress. A year ago now there was much business distress in the country. The reaction has been drastic and dramatic. Prices are better, people are faring better and the future is more rosy.

Interests have felt the invigorating effects of better business conditions. The entire population is more cheerful, more enthusiastic and more determined than it has been for years.

It is great to be in America. It is great to feel the pulsing, throbbing sensation of American inspirational life. It is great just to live in this country.

As for Oregon, the state favored by nature, we have had another great year—our greatest year in fact. We have been better advertised. Despite the dry weather we have raised so many varieties of crops that there is abundance for all, and Oregon has the most hopeful outlook it has ever had—the coming year promises new industries, new enterprises of various kinds which will bring Oregon still further to the front, and give us the population we should have.

And Salem? Never has Salem had so much for which to give thanks. It has had a great year since last Thanksgiving and standing on the threshold of another year it has every reason to congratulate itself and feel that all is well with the world. Salem has made the most progress the past year it has ever made. The progress has been substantial and healthy. There is nothing hectic about this city. It is going to continue to grow. It is going to continue to be a wonderful residential and business city. Those so fortunate to live in Salem can give thanks to God for the privilege.

There were more subscribers to the Miles spinning mill company stock yesterday. How many more could not be learned at the hour of the writing of this paragraph. But it is all going to be taken. Then some of you will be sorry you did not speak up quickly. If you would like to be a pioneer owner of the first linen mill in Salem, which may grow into a great institution covering acres and employing thousands of people; likely will, in time. That is the history of such institutions in the older countries. The first owners become millionaires, and their honored names are passed on to posterity.

Salem is building one new home every working day now. Erected 256 the first ten months of the present year. Will be building a couple a day, including Sundays, before very long.

There is a rumor that a sugar factory for Salem will be seen coming down the pike before long. Our people must grab it. That would be a sweet morsel to begin the 1925 building activities with.

NEWS BRIEFS

Building Permit.—A building permit was issued Wednesday to H. H. Harms to erect a one and one-half story dwelling at 1910 North Summer at an estimated cost of $3800.

Cole "8" Stolen.—No clues have been found by the police concerning the theft and wrecking of a Cole "8" automobile stolen from C. Wisdom, a resident of the Laurel hotel. The car was stolen from the vicinity of Hicks and Lee streets and wrecked on the Jefferson road nine miles south of Salem.

Last Day File.—The last day in which school clerks may file their budgets and census returns for their respective districts with the assessor and county clerk is Saturday. Many of the reports have not been turned in and unless they are not reported in by Saturday some of the school funds may go unused.

Goal Nearly Reached.—A total of $56,000 has been secured by solicitors for the new Presbyterian church building campaign. They are, consequently, very optimistic and it is expected that the goal of $75,000 will soon be reached. Twenty-five members of the soliciting committee were present when plans were discussed for bringing the total up to $125,000 during a series of drives, which are to terminate Thanksgiving day of each year. The next report of the workers will be made December 3.

Nurse Undergoes Operation.—Miss Gertrude Stephens, a student nurse at the Salem hospital underwent an operation yesterday and is progressing as well as could be expected.

Willamette Closed.—Doors of Willamette university closed at noon today for the Thanksgiving holidays. Instruction will be resumed next Monday. Great numbers of Willamette students left today for their various homes. Those who remain in Salem over the week-end will be entertained at a "Jolly-up" to be held Friday evening. Richard Briggs is in charge of the entertainment.

Barbers Visit Eugene.—With 20 charter members, Barbers local No. 873, was installed in Eugene this week. The organization was perfected by T. M. Newberry and P. W. Hubbard of the Salem local. The new local will meet the third Tuesday of the month.

Revival Meetings.—Are in progress at South Salem Friends church each night this week at 7:30. You are invited to come. The pastors are in charge. Good interest is being shown.

Salem Boy Wins.—L. J. Cummings of Salem is the crack shot for the cavalry in the inter-unit rifle shoot among the members of the ROTC at Oregon Agricultural college. He shot the best target from a prone position, making 50 out of a possible 50.

Chamber of Commerce Open.—The Salem Chamber of Commerce will remain open during Thanksgiving day as usual and will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.

Prepare to Move.—Preliminary work for the occupancy of the senate and house of representative departments of the state house is well under way, the partitions in these two chambers being removed Wednesday. Under orders of Sam A. Koser, secretary of state, the present quarters must be vacated by December 1 in order that everything may be in readiness for the legislature, which convenes shortly after the first of the year.

YMCA Open Today.—The Salem YMCA will be open during part of Thanksgiving day. In the morning the doors will be open for general and regular activities from 7 to 10 o'clock and from 4 to 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Radio Licenses.—Examinations for all grades of amateur radio licenses will be held in the civil service rooms of the post office building Friday morning, November 28, at 8:30 o'clock. H. D. Hayes, radio inspector for this district, with headquarters in Seattle, will supervise the examinations and expects a large number of the local enthusiasts to be present.

Holiday Travel Fair.—The holiday traffic on the passenger lines running to and from Salem carry the usual number of people who travel to nearby points for Thanksgiving vacation. There is not an unusual large number of tickets sold by the public service companies.

Police Court Activities.—O. Rawles, B. H. Maples, and Mr. Wagenblast forfeited bail money which they had given to the police here and J. R. Lamb paid a $5 fine when he appeared before the judge. The case against J. Poulin for speeding was dismissed.

Licenses Issued.—Those receiving marriage licenses from the county clerk Wednesday were: C. A. Kistow, 22, a salesman, and Louise E. Grochow, 21, of 170 North Twenty-fourth; Giles Wagner, 24, of Stayton, and Blanch Lough, 17, of Mehama; Frederick H. Lawton, 33, a construction engineer of San Francisco, and Marie M. Ketcheson, Salem; Dewey R. Alton, 27, a mechanic living in Silverton, and Ruth Anderson, 22, 1253 North Eighteenth.

Legion Postpones Meeting.—Because of the annual Cherrian show falling on the regular meeting night of the American Legion next Monday the meeting has been postponed until Dec. 8, according to word being sent out by Carl D. Gabrielson, commander.

Episcopal Services.—Thanksgiving services will be held at St. Paul's church (Episcopal) at 10 a. m. today. The vested choir will sing the service, which will be the Holy Eucharist, by Harker. The anthem will be "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod. The hour has been set early so that more time may be given to those who desire to be at home or elsewhere earlier in the day. All invited to this service.

Legion Postpones Meeting.—Because of the annual Cherrian show falling on the regular meeting night of the American Legion next Monday the meeting has been postponed until Dec. 8, according to word being sent out by Carl D. Gabrielson, commander.

Caravan to Come Here.—A Shrine delegation will form a caravan at Eugene early Saturday morning for a pilgrimage to the big Portland Shrine association to be held Saturday night. The caravan will stop at Corvallis where Shriners will join the group and from whence they will journey to Salem. Here they will have luncheon. Arrangements have been made for about 50 persons at the Gray Belle for luncheon, which will be served at 1 o'clock. At Salem the caravan will be increased in number by several Salem nobles, who are planning on attending the big ceremonial. Other Shriners from Lebanon, Harrisburg and Junction City are expected in the caravan.

Many Newspapers Reached.—All newspapers in the 48 states of the United States of America are being reached by letters which have been sent out by Col. E. Hofer, president of the Oregon Humane society. Colonel Hofer is personally directing a campaign for the enactment of a law which will make it a criminal act to carry dogs on the running boards of automobiles without proper guards. It is hoped that a similar law will be passed in every state of the union, making it a crime to transport dogs in automobiles without carriers provided for them.

K. O. Club Banquets.—The K. O. club of the Salem high school banqueted at the Spa Tuesday night with 35 members and their friends being present.

Many Co-Eds Leave.—About 50 co-eds of Willamette university have left for their homes or visit with friends over the Thanksgiving holiday. About 30 girls remained in Salem and many of them have been invited to the homes of Salem people for Thanksgiving dinner.

Leaves for Hearing.—W. P. Ellis, attorney, and Hal F. Wiggins, rate expert, will represent the public service commission of Oregon in the Ogden grain rate case which opens before an investigator of the interstate commerce commission in Ogden, Utah, Dec. 1. The Oregon representatives will be concerned mainly with protecting the interests of Oregon in the Columbia basin rate situation. Rates from the middle western territory to the coast are involved in the hearing.

Sees Big Game.—Wayne Elgus, former student of Salem high school, just returned from San Francisco where he witnessed the University of California and Stanford university game. While there he visited with many ex-Salem residents and reports having a fine time.

Radio Inspector Here.—H. D. Hayes, radio inspector of Seattle, will conduct examinations for all grades of operators in the civil service rooms at the Salem postoffice at 8:30 a. m. Friday, Nov. 28. Anyone desiring additional information may telephone 1474J.

Episcopal Services.—Thanksgiving services will be held at St. Paul's church (Episcopal) at 10 a. m. today. The vested choir will sing the service, which will be the Holy Eucharist, by Harker.
