STORAGE PLANT WORK UNDER WAY

Construction of $50,000 Addition Begun This Week By Ice Company

Construction of a new $50,000 addition to the Capital Ice & Storage plant at Trade and Cottage got under way last week upon the signing of a contract between Louis Lachmund and A. J. Anderson, contractor. The new building will cost close to $20,000 while a contract for insulation and machinery, to be awarded later, will bring the total to the full amount. The building is located due west of the Cherry City Flouring mills and is of concrete construction throughout. The extensions to the present plant will cover an area of 36 by 127 feet. When completed the new plant will increase its present storage capacity of a full 100 per cent. Half of the new structure will be two stories in height and half of it one story. In the new addition will be an ice room having a capacity for storage of 1200 tons of ice, sufficient to ice 250 cars. The daily ice capacity of the plant is 22 tons and the company will be able to build up the reserve from this to keep the plant stocked at all times.

There will be included a new cold storage room 25 by 60 feet and the big ice storage rooms will also enable the company to convert its present ice storage rooms into cold storage rooms, which will furnish nine cold storage rooms and increase the storage capacity in excess of 100 per cent. There will be an additional room 55 by 36 feet which can be used for barreling berries and other fruits.

In order to expedite the icing of cars, modern equipment including electric hoists, overhead conveyors and machinery of the latest most useful types will be installed. The property was purchased from the Oregon Electric Railroad company for a consideration of $10,000. The railroad originally acquired the location for the purpose of installing extensive yards and for the storing of passenger cars. When these plans were abandoned, the company disposed of the property having no other use for it.

Offices of the Capital Ice & Storage company will be located at Trade and Church with the completion of the new building.

NEW HOMES RECORD IS SET THIS YEAR

Early Estimates are Surpassed; Permits for 11 Months Total 273

Early estimates of the number of building permits that would be taken out in Salem during 1924 for new residences have been exceeded, according to the Chamber of Commerce bulletin, which predicts that at least 250 new homes would be started this year. For the first 11 months there were 275 permits issued. It was also estimated that the homes would have an aggregate cost of $1,000,000. According to figures given by Marten Poulsen, city recorder, the 273 permits are valued at $939,030. The building permits actually represent about three-fourths of the final cost of the dwelling.

Some idea as to the size of the city at present may be gained from information given by the Portland Electric Power company, which has electric connections with 5460 different homes in the city and 76 lodging houses and hotels, giving a total of 5536. There are 5142 homes receiving service from the Salem Water, Light & Power company; 4046 telephones and an additional 1075 telephones in the rural districts near Salem.

Here is the monthly record of permits issued for the building of homes and for improvements:

Month	No. of homes	Total for permits and improvements
January	20	$ 58,800
February	16	58,400
March	40	150,300
April	25	132,750
May	27	104,100
June	17	46,300
July	27	80,500
August	20	109,350
September	28	77,830
October	26	75,200
November	11	34,400
Dec. (3 days)	6	16,400
