HOLIDAY SPECIAL FOR WU STUDENTS

Train Will Leave From Near Campus at 2 o'clock Friday Afternoon

For the first time in recent years Willamette university students are to have a special train to Portland, according to announcements from the city ticket office of the Southern Pacific company. With the special service students living in eastern Washington and Oregon and those living farther west are able to make direct connections with the trains.

The special train will leave December 19 at 2 o'clock from Trade and Winter, which is near Lausanne hall. Consequently the students are able to board the train directly from the campus.

Willamette university faculty is cooperating with the local officials in an endeavor to get the special train to Portland. It will enable over 150 students to spend several hours additional time at their homes.

According to the announcement made from the chapel platform, students will be released from classes in the early afternoon.

Much interest was shown by the student body concerning the announcements. Tickets are being sold at the city ticket office of the Southern Pacific company.

Irwin Williamson, who was arrested for driving an auto while intoxicated, forfeited his bail of $25. Fred Eckloff forfeited $10 and H. Hoberling $5. Emery I. Meeks was brought into court by Officer Hickman, where Police Judge Martin Tolson fined him $5 for speeding.

PERSONALS—Lester Blue is spending the holiday with relatives at Silverton. J. L. King, who has been on detached service in Salem, left for San Diego yesterday morning. He will report there for active service.

James Wallace, representative of the Chicago, Northwestern Railway company, was a Salem visitor yesterday.

Albert Gille was a Portland visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. William Brown has returned from Portland where she has been visiting.

H. C. Patty was a business visitor in Salem from Amity yesterday.

William Pollman, of Baker, was a visitor at the governor's office yesterday.

John Goss, Marshfield attorney, was a Salem visitor yesterday.

James Crawford, former chief deputy in the offices of the state treasurer, was in Salem attending to legal matters before the supreme court yesterday.

J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of education, returned to his office Tuesday after being ill for nearly a week.

Arthur Clark, Corvallis attorney, was in Salem on business before the supreme court yesterday.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

That's something—

Funds enough for 1000 students at Chemawa—

But that is not enough. It does not provide against the proposed great injustice to the Alaskan students. Have you wired or written the Oregon delegation, or any member of it? This is tremendously important.

Blackberries, Slogan subject tomorrow. Do you realize what a great thing is our Evergreen blackberry industry? Literally millions in it. If you can help the Slogan editor prove this, do so today.

Clarence Blakeley says a man's name on his tombstone is not as important as his address.

He also remarks that nothing seems quite so tiresome as an argument in which nobody gets mad.

The Bits or Breakfast and Slogan man is going to find out all about this artichoke sugar business, and spill the beans. We have got to have a sugar factory; beet or artichoke, or some other old thing. It is like carrying coals to Newcastle for us to send away good money for sugar, when we have hundreds of thousands of idle or slacker acres on any one of which we can grow about a half a ton of the makings of our own sugar.

Why, the state of Oregon could afford to put up a sugar factory to supply its own institutions. It would pay, in the long run, or the short run, either.

Accidents Few—In contrast to the busy day of Monday the police received only four reports of automobile accidents yesterday. On the previous day 21 reports were filed. In consequence of the slippery pavements there is a tendency to be less speeding.

DIED—BRIETZKE—At the residence, 1310 North Winter street, December 15, Mrs. Augustine Brietzke, age 77 years, mother of Miss Anna and W. G. Brietzke of Salem. August of Sacramento, Carl of N. Carolina, J. E. of Monitor, Rev. H. of Michigan, Alfred of Long Beach, Cal., Mrs. George Allen of Corvallis and Mrs. H. N. Hodge of Hayward, Cal. Also survived by a number of grandchildren, one brother J. Kurthof San Antonio, Tex., two sisters, Mrs. Jeltz and Mrs. J. Ivan of Baumgartner, Germany. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 12:30 Saturday with special services following at St. John's Lutheran church. W. Grows officiating. Interment in the cemetery two and half miles east of Mt. Angel. Rigdon's mortuary in charge.

PERSONALS—Lester Blue is spending the holiday with relatives at Silverton. J. L. King, who has been on detached service in Salem, left for San Diego yesterday morning. He will report there for active service.

MARINE RECRUITING UNDER WAY IN CITY

Two Non-Commissioned Officers Here for Short Time; Seek Soldier

Two representatives of the United States Marine Corps, Sergeant W. I. Conway and J. Markowitz, are in Salem on recruiting service for three days. In the meanwhile they are to investigate the past conduct of Sergeant O'Malley, who was here for a short period of time.

O'Malley, as he was known here, was given an undesirable discharge from the marines September 2. He disregarded, however, the orders given him by his commanding officer, and retained the title of recruiting officer here, according to the report of the two marines.

It is expected that the quota of the marines will be filled soon and anyone desiring to enter that branch of the service is requested to get in touch with the two representatives. The standard of enlistment for the corps is increasing and the applicants have to undergo a very severe mental and physical examination. According to announcement the recruiting service will be discontinued soon.

Orchards Will Escape Damage Declares Brown—The recent cold wave will not injure orchards, declares Frank V. Brown, although it unusual conditions occur damage might result. The declaration was made by the fruit grower following extensive investigations and study of reports of federal experts.

"The tests show that the bark of the tree and the skin of the dormant buds does not crack from the low temperature alone. It takes a peculiar combination of circumstances," declares Brown. When the starch of the tree juice is converted into sugar, followed by a subsequent lowering of the temperature within a period of three hours is damage likely to result. Only when the sugar freezes before it is converted back into starch does damage occur.
