were among those from Salem who had the pleasure of seeing "Mittie" Thursday night at the Heilig in Portland.

Caroling under the brilliant midnight stars has been the delightful manner in which the Christmas season has been proclaimed on the Willamette university campus during the last nights before the holidays. Thursday night Christmas serenades were given to ukelele accompaniment by two of the fraternities, the Alpha Psi Delta and the Sigma Tau, while Lausanne hall girls serenaded on the preceding night. The various houses are visited with song ranging from the hushed strains of "Silent Night, Holy Night," to the jubilant proclamation, "Joy to the World, the Lord Has Come." It is more or less customary for the singing group to disclose their identity in the end by the strains of their own song.

The pledging of 22 girls was the surprise feature of a most enjoyable Christmas party of the Sigma Phi Delta sorority Thursday evening at Chemawa. The beautiful decorations were entirely in the Christmas motif and the program included not only a special program of Christmas numbers, but also the singing afterward of Christmas carols. The pledge service and the exchange of gifts made the evening one that will be long remembered.

Each guest received a surprise gift from the great Indian grab-basket.

The following 22 girls were pledged to the honorary sorority of the school which was first organized in 1917 and in which 300 of the most eligible girls in the school have been members: Miss Anna Fagerston, Miss Alvira Montgomery, Miss Josephine Nelson, Miss Lydia Davis, Miss Agnes Peratrovich, Miss Josephine Summers, Miss Mabel Bremner, Miss Helen Peratrovich, Miss Martha Orsen, Miss Anna Moon, Miss Agnes Williams, Miss Lila Crofoot, Miss Pauline Kamkoff, Miss Marie Andrews, Miss Agnes Orr, Miss Evelyn Whitebear, Miss Theresa Williams, Miss Laura Rose, Miss Minnie Cox, Miss Nora Lande, Miss Edna Audette and Miss Eva Bean.

Those with full membership in the sorority and who were the hostesses for the Christmas party were Miss Anna Peratrovich, Miss Flora Dexter, Miss Harriet Hill, Miss Grace Johnson, Miss Grace Peterson, Miss Ferol Porter, Miss Ida Ehalt, Miss Anna Neguson, Miss Martha Tisler, Miss Cecil Smith, Miss Edna Crofoot, Miss Emily Johnson, Miss Emily Ivenoff, Miss Hazel Boyd, Miss Eleanor Houk and Mrs. Rose Downie, a charter member of the sorority who is now on the faculty.

This was the first affair of the Washington, Dec. 19.—(Special)—Miss Barbara Stanfield, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert Nelson Stanfield from Oregon, was formally presented to society Thursday at a tea given by her parents at Rauscher's.

Miss Stanfield wore a frock of powder blue georgette crepe made on simple straight lines without trimming except for draperies on the side falling below the hem. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and blue lilies.

Leading cabinet members, heads of foreign missions and the socially elite at the capital called to pay their respects to the beautiful Oregon girl, who is already one of the most popular debutantes in Washington, and the only one from the senate.

President and Mrs. Coolidge sent flowers to Miss Stanfield.

This is her first winter in Washington, having returned recently from Europe, where she studied music and foreign languages. Following her season in society, she will return to her study of the violin.

The PNG club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Zeisendorf. The members bought Christmas presents to be sent to the children at the IOOF home in Portland. After the business meeting dainty refreshments were served the guests.

An interesting program has been arranged for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Auburn school house under the direction of the community Sunday school.

Marcus; Miss Lucille Moore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore, and Miss Catherine Hartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hartley.

The arts, music and literary program of the Salem Arts league Wednesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce was attended by a large and appreciative gathering of members and friends of the cultural movement in this city. Mrs. Monroe Gilbert made an earnest plea for permanent quarters for the movement. Announcement was made that Mr. George C. Will plans to erect a modern building next year on the old Fashion stables corner and will devote one story entirely to music and art studios, providing there is sufficient demand. He would have a central auditorium for recitals and art gallery combined, and that kind of a plan will be worked out in connection with the Arts league. The announcement came as a very agreeable surprise. The music program for the evening included the following: "Berceuse," by Godard, and "Peasant Dance," by Schelleueller; cello by Professor Sites, with Ruth Bedford at the Steinway.

"Ave Marie," by Bach-Gounod, and "Christmas Song," solos by Mrs. Martin Fereshetian, Mrs. Myrtle Gilbert accompanying on the piano.

"Gavotte," from Bach, piano solo by Mrs. Gilbert.

International song program: "No Blade of Grass Can Flourish," (German) by Wilhelm Friedman Bach, eldest son of the great composer. "Si Tra l'Ocepi," aria from opera Berenice, by Handel, (Italian). "Aria de l'Eremitte," from the Hermit from opera Elaine, by Benberg. (French). "Sweet Little Woman of Mine," by Bartlett. (English). Each of these songs was sung in the language in which it was written, by Prof. J. R. Sites, his first public appearance as a singer in this city.

"To the Rising Sun," by Torjussen, modern piano solo by Ruth Bedford, the talented young accompanist who presided at the piano for the international program by Professor Sites.

All the musical numbers were of the highest order and gave great enjoyment to the art congregation and were richly rewarded by appreciative applause.

Literary prizes were announced on each of the two paintings exhibited, the Madonna and Cape Perpetua, $10 and $5 for first and second prize poems on each of the pictures, same to be sent to The Lariat on or before April 1, 1925.

The Original Cuddly Baby

Genuine Madame Hendren DOLLS

When "Madame Hendren" created the soft, cuddly LYF-LYK doll in 1917, she put into real form the dream which girls in all ages of the world had been dreaming—the dream for a doll which would be to them something higher, better and dearer than a mere toy. She had realized girlhood's yearning for a playmate responsive to the maternal instinct which nature has implanted in the heart of the youngest girls as soon as they are able to toddle about.

It is a "Super Doll," to all intents and purposes a baby to its little possessor.

Stuffed with cotton, it has a soft, baby-like feel, and when taken up in the arms it nods its head and wobbles its arms and legs exactly the same way as any normal baby does.
