HOW TO CONQUER AN ENEMY:—When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him. Proverbs 16:7. O Lord, Thou hast revealed Thyself and taught us to rest in Thee, for Thou hast compassed us about with songs of deliverance.

NEW LEADERSHIP FOR SOUTH

"From various states in the South comes the demand that Democratic leaders change their attitude on the tariff. It is asserted that conditions have changed so much in the last half century that the South is just as much interested in a protective tariff as is the North, and business men in that section want their leaders to get on the right side of the 'America First' issue.

"It must be perfectly obvious that the South cannot expect its present leaders to change on this fundamental principle of Democratic faith. To do so would be to admit that they have been wrong all these years. What the South must do is retire the men who have proven to be unwise leaders and put in their places men who believe in protection as a matter of economic principle and not as a matter of party expediency.

The two paragraphs above are taken from an eastern newspaper—

And they are reprinted with a good deal of satisfaction, because they indicate a belief on the part of the writer of the quoted words that there is a prospect for the tariff being taken out of politics and being regarded as "a matter of economic principle and not as a matter of party expediency."

A consummation of the hope of the realization of which the writer of the matter in this corner of The Statesman from day to day has so often expressed.

The tariff is not a political question in any other country but the United States. It is regarded as a business matter in every other country. It should never have been treated as a political question in the United States. It was an accident that it was so treated in the first place, and it has been a mistaken idea through all the years.

There is an approach to the realization of the hope of having the tariff taken out of politics in this country in the paragraphs of the present tariff law giving a semblance at least of provisions for elastic tariff duties.

But that is not enough. And the administration of these provisions has not yet been put into good working order. Nothing will be enough but the absolute divorce of the tariff from politics.

And perhaps the writer in the exchange quoted is correct; that this cannot be expected short of the retirement of the old leaders of the South from national councils. They cumber the national welfare. They gum up the wheels of progress.

There is a prospect of the early launching of a proposition for the building of a sugar mill in Salem. It is to be presumed that one of the first requirements will be the signing up of the required number of acres of beets to be grown by the farmers of this section; likely not less than 5000 acres. There are some leading business concerns in Salem that will gladly lend assistance to such an effort.

Tomorrow's Statesman will be the annual edition, covering very completely the advantages of this section and this city.

A GOOD YEAR

The report of the Salem chamber of commerce, published yesterday, shows the great activity of the business interests of the city. Our future is so bright, so intriguing, that we are apt to minimize the greatness of the year closing today.

the policy of the past year and we will see a steady acceleration of progress. It is a well known fact that success begets success. It is with considerable pride that Salem looks upon the past year. Business was good, new industries were planned and some established, and there is an ambition in every citizen's heart to do better.

good times, rapid growth, and business and industrial expansion. No state is quite so favored with magnificent natural resources as Oregon. Our beautiful valleys, our stupendous water power, our unequalled forests, our matchless climate, our mountain streams, our waterways, our wonderfully fertile soil all conspire to make Oregon great and to make Salem the gem in the crown of our great state.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

CHAPTER 347

THE INVITATION JERRY TIGER BROUGHT MADGE.

My mother-in-law would have been amply revenged for my apparently nonchalant reception of her news could she have seen me after she had swept offensively out of the room. I locked the door behind her and threw myself face downward on the bed to do battle with the raging, primitive jealousy which had leapt up within me at the sight of the photograph of Claire Foster, with its bizarre inscription to Dicky.

A STRONG MAN GONE

In the death of C. S. Jackson, Oregon has lost a state builder, a man of vision, and a man who had a sincere desire to serve the people. He made the Oregon Journal a great paper. He did more than that; he made an organization so strong that it is carrying on the Journal in the same lines which he followed.

RESTORED BEER

British Columbia has restored beer. This was done by subterfuge. Province-wide prohibition was changed to the dispensary system. Then beer by the glass was voted upon and failed, but the legislature construed this vote to mean local option, and the places that voted for beer by the glass got it.

NOT RIGHT

A Chicago lecturer declares the curse of the times is intolerance. He is wrong. If anything we are too tolerant. There is mighty little intolerance in the world. We are swinging away to liberalism to an extent that is alarming and the future is more apt to be tinged with too much tolerance.

THE FRENCH DEBT

The French are again fussing about their debts but making no preparation to pay them. France has had six years to adjust our claims and has not made a single step to do it. She has not paid a cent of interest or shown any disposition to even recognize her obligation to the United States.

me. "Me and Paw got a dandy mess of scallops last night, and Maw says if you all will come down she'll fry a lot." "We'll be right over," I promised, for we have learned that one of Mrs. Ticer's invitations is not to be treated lightly. She is the best cook in the surrounding country, and her treatment, of any kind of a sea food Dicky declares to be the highest form of art.

Pimply Skin and Impure Blood Due to a Torpid Liver. Blood carries body's poisons, which quickly disfigure the complexion. The liver is the body's wonderful purifier. All of our blood passes through the liver every 15 minutes for purification.

Doctors know that a good complexion comes only from within the body. Blood impurities cannot be rubbed away with creams or ointments. Science also knows that the liver—the body's complexion maker—cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will act directly on the liver. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxins will be removed. Your liver will be regulated. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clear. Pimples will pass away, leaving the complexion clear and soft.

These genuine ox gall tablets are prepared only under the name "Dioxol." If any tablet is offered you under another name, refuse it. Accept only Dioxol in the original, genuine package.—Adv.
