THE COMING TO SALEM on Thursday, Feb. 12, of the Northwestern University Glee club from Evanston, Ill., will be a paramount event on the local musical calendar. It is through the efforts of Gus Anderson, the manager, and well known to a large group in Salem, that the club is to include Salem in their itinerary, probably the smallest of any town at which they will give concerts.

Thirty voices make up the personnel of the club. The gifted violin soloist is Miss Lucille Turner, and the leader, Mr. Rollin Pease, himself a concert and operatic singer of considerable standing.

Mrs. Homer Gouley is among those from Chehalem chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution planning to be in attendance this afternoon at the tea at McMinnville.

One of the loveliest affairs of early this week was the bridge luncheon at which Miss Zoe Stockton entertained for the pleasure of Mrs. Frank G. Myers. A bowl of pink sweet peas with maidenhair fern centered the table. In the rooms, ferns, roses, Scotch heather and pine and fir boughs were used. High score for the afternoon at cards was won by Mrs. Walter L. Spaulding.

The guests were Mrs. Frank G. Myers, Mrs. Henry A. Cornoyer, Mrs. Max Page, Mrs. Karl B. Kugel, Mrs. Sam Butler, Mrs. Walter Kirk, Mrs. Grant Bonell, Mrs. Walter L. Spaulding, Mrs. Leland S. Geer, Mrs. Tom Galloway, Mrs. Carl B. Webb and Mrs. Paul V. Johnson.

The engagement of Bernice Kirkwood of Salem to LaDoyt Davie, also of Salem, has been announced at the Sigma Kappa sorority house, Oregon Agricultural college. Miss Kirkwood was a member of the class of 1927 and a pledge to Sigma Kappa. She has not returned to school this year.

The annual Latin club "open house" at the Salem high school will be an event of Monday evening, February 2. A different plan is announced from that usually followed. The vocabulary contest will not be a part of the program since it was held orally early this week. The evening of "open house" will also be the occasion for the presentation of the Paul B. Wallace bronze plaque. Interesting on the evening's program will be the illustrated lecture which Professor Dunn of the University of Oregon will give.

One of the most anticipated of the features will be the play "The Knave of Hearts," which is being presented under the direction of Miss Dorothy Nicholson.

The cast of the play is as follows: The King, Winston Williams; The Queen, Marcia Feustman; The Knave, Kenneth Allen; The Chancellor, Thomas Childs; Herald, William Verbeck; Dwight Adams; Cooks, Gaynelle Beckett, Leah Fanning.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

The women of the legislature will be the invited guests for the regular January social meeting of the Salem Woman's club this afternoon at the club house, on North Cottage street, off Center. The program, with Seymour Jones the speaker, will open at 2:30 o'clock.

The social committee for the afternoon includes Mrs. John L. Rand, Mrs. W. E. Crews, Mrs. W. B. Hurt, Mrs. Frederic Lampert, Mrs. E. E. Elliott, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Roberts, Mrs. E. E. Bragg, Mrs. Earl Peary, Mrs. Walter Page, Mrs. Paul Hendricks and Mrs. Carey Martin.

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Evangelical church held a very profitable meeting on Wednesday. Mrs. G. L. Lowell and others gave interesting reviews of their study book. The society is closing a most creditable year.

Visitors in Portland Wednesday were Mrs. Henry Meyers and her house guest, Mrs. F. N. Jordan of Seattle.

Over 80 invitations were issued for the reception given last evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts by the members of the Cecilia Music club.

In the receiving line were Miss Lena Belle Tartar, adviser of the club; Miss Lorraine Pierce, Miss Rovena Eyre, Miss Faye Wassam and Miss Virginia Doreas.

The reception room throughout was charming with its yellow candles and yellow blossoms. The table followed the same color scheme. Pouring the first hour, were Miss Beryl Holt and Mrs. Brazier Small. During the second hour Miss Ada Ross and Miss Mary Eyre presided at the urns.

A delightful program was given during the evening, including vocal solos by Miss Helen Marcus, Miss Josephine Albert and Miss Maude Gwynn; piano solos by Miss Mary Cupper, and a reading by Miss Florence Power.

The many Salem friends of Delbert Moore will be interested in the news of his marriage in Walla Walla on December 29 to Miss Nita Marie Lamb, a student at Washington State college. Mr. Moore, who was especially prominent in musical affairs on the Willamette university campus during his freshman year, is a student now at the University of Oregon where he is taking both music and commercial work. He will graduate next year.

Today is the last day of a special opportunity for Salem parents who desire for their children the best in filmdom to see "Jamestown," the second in the "Chronicles of America," and another endorsed film, "Captain January." Both are showing, under the auspices of the American Association of University Women at the Liberty theater. Such creditable films have been brought to town through the consistent work of the better films committee, which includes Mrs. A. M. Chapman, Mrs. George Hug and Mrs. J. Ray Pemberton. At the January meeting the local association voted to join the National Moving Picture league which vouches highly for the quality of the two pictures shown.

Enthusiastically endorsing the entire project are the following clubs and organizations: Salem Woman's club, Salem Heights Women's club, the Etakta club, the War Mothers, chapter G and chapter AB of the PEO Sisterhood, the business and professional woman's club, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Lincoln and McKinley Parent-Teacher association, the YWCA, the Republican Women's Study club, the Kiwanis club, the Rotary club and the Highland P-TA.

Mrs. Ida M. Babcock and Mrs. Rose W. Babcock spent an interesting part of the week in Portland as guests of Mrs. C. A. Maulding. They also had the pleasure of attending a number of affairs given by the Mount Hood chapter of the Eastern Star.

And yet those by whose advice great men become great seldom amount to anything.

Editorials of the People

A Just Grievance

Editor Statesman:

I am sending one dollar for our dog license today. Now, I don't begrudge the dollar we pay on our little fox terrier for I believe the dog tax a very sensible tax and that it will help do away with undesirable dogs, but my grievance is the old-leather straps they compel us to make our dogs wear.

Now why aren't our country dogs entitled to as much respect as the city dogs which have nice neat little brass or aluminum plates with the license numbers engraved on them and the name of the city where the dogs belong? We could have RFD 1, box 62, or whatever our route number is, on our tag and could then attach it to the collar. In this way the dog owners could choose their own dog collars, and I know it wouldn't cost the country a penny more to furnish these little plates than all the leather they are now sending out.

Now I hope I have a few sympathizers among the dog-lovers of Marion county. If so, let's hear from you and see that our country dogs get a square deal.

MRS. W. D. HURT,
Route 1, Box 62,
Sublimity, Ore.

E. F. Smith Tells Why a Man Should Carry Life Insurance
By Charles Wiper.

Because it is the one way in which a man may create an estate whereby in case of his death, his dependent ones and loved ones will be assured the necessities of life and his children given an education which fits them for their rightful place in the social and business world thus adding to the advancement of society rather than retarding it.

It is one of the most constant forms of savings being semi-compulsory in its nature thereby placing a premium upon thrift.

It is an agreement among men by means of which they so distribute the misfortunes of life and the certainties of death among themselves in such proportions that the full force of misfortune and some of the worst phases of death are taken away from the individual and shared by the mass.

Life insurance companies are the biggest, strongest and best governed financial institutions in the world. Their money being invested in the highest type of securities such as government, state, county, municipal, school, railroad bonds, high class real estate and various other investments thereby creating a fund which in turn is released by these institutions in the way of building, improvement, management and operation thus giving employment to our man power, life to our business and perpetuating our industries.

It establishes credit which is today to the man of affairs a most important factor in his business career.

It protects a man against the loss of his earning power in case he becomes incapacitated through unavoidable misfortune, adding a feeling of security and thereby creating a salutary mental condition which increases his efficiency.

It gives man the greatest advantage of the law of average because of the millions of men interested in, and the length of time of the investment.

Life insurance creates ready cash with which to pay off obligations in case of death thereby sold to Mr. Corbett Tate of Call County. The building is well ventilated, well heated and well lighted. A notable feature is an arrangement by which the pupils wraps can be dried.
