Sure as apples, some of the farmers wanting to grow flax for the state are going to speak too late. Again, fair warning.

It is a very easy matter to find fault with the administration of a state institution; and to get sympathizers, too, especially here In Salem, where there are many ex-employes. But the fact is that the state institutions are uniformly well conducted now. And this is as true of the penitentiary as of the rest of them. A man officially connected, who has seen a good deal of the institutions, told the Bits for Breakfast man yesterday that he has not seen the state institutions in better shape than now in all the years they have run. And this man paid one of his very highest compliments to the institution for the feeble minded.

Dr. Walter H. Brown, who is to have charge of the five-year program on child health and welfare work in Marion county, is making a good impression here. It is a wonderful distinction that Marion county has been given in being selected for this demonstration work, and there must be no holdple in showing their appreciation, and in telling Dr. Brown and his workers about it.

There is a lot of inquiry about mint; a mint boom. Good thing. But be sure that you have the right kind of mint land before you go into mint growing on too large order to be sure of good profits. That would make fint growclimate, and to a lack of lime in ing here better than a gold mine.

Red Nose Said by Doctor to Be Caused by Silk Stockings

PARIS, Jan. 28 .- The fear of a red nose is alleged to have caused ers over well cut shoes and heavy woolen stockings to replace the flimsy silk creations as ankle protectors.

The following paragraph, printed in one of the leading styles cold weather over the signature of one of the most renowned doctors of Paris, is said by the trade to have been responsible for the unprecedent run on gaiters and woolen stockings. It read: "It is really wise to dress warmly, for it keeps the circulation right and helps save one from a red nose and that pinched, blue look'about the mouth which is so very unbecoming."
